Media Services

CREDENTIALS: Requests for working press credentials at Carolina home games should be made in writing on company letterhead to Rick Brewer in the Carolina Sports Information Office. Brewer's mailing address is P.O. Box 2126, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27514.

Because of the demand for credentials, media agencies which cover Carolina and the visiting school on a regular basis will receive top priority. Other credentials will be issued on the basis of circulation and the availability of space. Tickets will be mailed if at all possible. Otherwise, they will be left at Will Call which is at Gate Six (6), directly behind the press box. Will Call opens two hours prior to kickoff.

Requests are screened with care to insure a working press box. Children, spouses, dates and pets are not allowed in compliance with the working code of the Football Writers Association of America.

PRESS BOX SERVICES: Programs, flip cards, statistics and notes will be provided before each game. A play-by-play will be distributed at the conclusion of each quarter. Halftime statistics will also be available. Complete team and individual statistics, a scoring summary and coaches' quotes will be provided after the game.

A meal will be served before each game and at halftime behind the main working press area. Soft drinks and coffee will be available throughout the game.

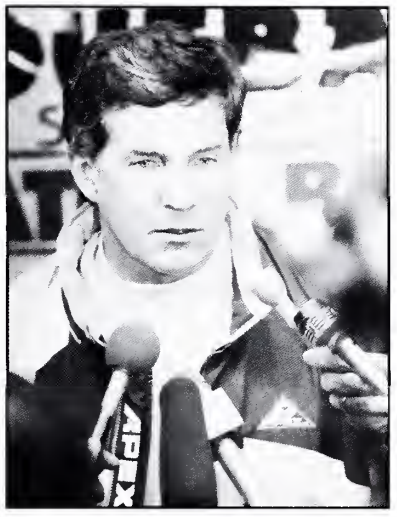
SIDELINE POLICY: Photographers will not be allowed on the sidelines without an armband. Armbands can be picked up up in the press box prior to each game. Each photographer must pick up his or her own armband. Under NCAA and Atlantic Coast Conference guidelines, photographers are not allowed between the 25-yard lines and must remain outside the restraining lines surrounding the field. Credential holders not working will be asked to leave the sidelines.

PARKING: Press parking at Kenan Stadium is available on an extremely limited basis. Requests for parking passes should be made in advance to Rick Brewer. The parking lot is located on the corner of Gravely Drive and Manning Drive.

POSTGAME INTERVIEWS: Coach Mack Brown will meet with the media following each game after a brief cooling-off period. At Kenan Stadium these postgame press conferences will be in the second-floor auditorium of the Student-Athlete Development Center adjacent to the locker room.

The Tar Heel locker room is closed. Members of the media wishing to interview players may do so in the team's weight room following Brown's press conference. This is the large room directly across from the locker room on the ground floor of the Development Center. (On ground level on the side of the field opposite from the press box). Student assistants from the Sports Information Office will walk through the press box and take player requests from the media midway through the fourth quarter.

Away game procedures will vary, depending on available facilities.



COACH MACK BROWN: Meets with the medio ofter every home gome in the upstoirs ouditorium in the Student Athlete Development Center. Medio members should occess thot room by the steps locoted next to the Corolina locker room, ocross the wolkwoy from the weight room.

PHONES: The Department of Athletics furnishes a number of telephones along press row for writers to transmit stories. Anyone desiring a private phone should contact Southern Bell. If you are calling from within the 919 area code dial "780-2800". However, if you are calling from outside the 919 area code, then you must dial "1-800-767-2355". Note: the on-campus building number for the press box at Kenan Stadium, which you will be asked for, is #519.

The Carolina Sports Information Office has one fax machine which will be available for filing. Writers should make a representative of the UNC Sports Information Office aware of their fax needs prior to the end of the game.

INTERVIEWS WITH COACH BROWN: Mack Brown will be available to the media at a press luncheon each Tuesday during the football season. Television tapes can be done at 11:30 a.m. with lunch being served at 12 noon. The press conference follows the meal at Kenan Fieldhouse. These may be taped for radio purposes and are broadcast live on WCHL Radio in Chapel Hill. Parking for the press conference is inside Gate Four (4) — directly behind the end zone at the opposite end of the field from the fieldhouse.

Interviews with Brown at other times during the week can be set up by contacting the Sports Information Office or Becky Medford, Coach Brown's secretary in the football office. Best way to reach the coach is to call between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., Monday through Thursday. Meetings are conducted during the morning, but he can return the call if he's not available. The number is (919) 966-2575.

PLAYER INTERVIEWS: All player interviews should be arranged through the Sports Information Office. Players have been instructed to conduct no interviews unless they have been set up in this manner. The interviews will generally be around lunchtime — after the player's classes and before practice. There will be at least one player available at Coach Brown's Tuesday press conference.

Requests for telephone interviews will be handled by players returning calls to the media. No home numbers for players will be given out and players have been told not to accept calls from anyone asking football-related questions.

Interviews are not allowed on the day preceding a game.

PRACTICE COVERAGE: Carolina practices are generally open to the media. Admission to practice can be obtained by contacting the Sports Information Office. Media practice passes will be handled there. Players are not available for interviews on the practice field, whether they are competing or not. Coach Brown will be available following the conclusion of each session.

Once the team goes into pads in the fall, photographers will be allowed to shoot only warmups, stretching drills and the first two periods of work (10 minutes).

Practices will be closed the weeks Carolina plays Duke, N.C. State and Wake Forest.

FAXBACK SERVICE: The Atlantic Coast Conference and its member institutions provide statistics, schedules, notes and releases on a fax-on-demand service. Each school places full postgame boxscores and play-by-play on the service and updates its football release by 5 p.m. Monday afternoon. This is a media information service. Phone numbers are not to be distributed to the general public. If you wish to use this service, please call the Sports Information Office or the ACC Service Bureau for further information.

SATELLITE FEED AND TELECONFERENCE: A seven-minute highlight clip of each Atlantic Coast Conference school is available weekly via satellite transmission. Coordinates and time of the transmission can be obtained by contacting the ACC Service Bureau in Greensboro (910) 854-8787.

All of the league's head coaches are also available each week to the media on a teleconference. Starting time is 11 a.m. every Wednesday. The teleconference feed is of broadcast quality. The phone number for the media to use in becoming a part of this teleconference can be obtained through the Carolina Sports Information Office or the ACC Service Bureau.

Previewing the 1994 Tar Heels

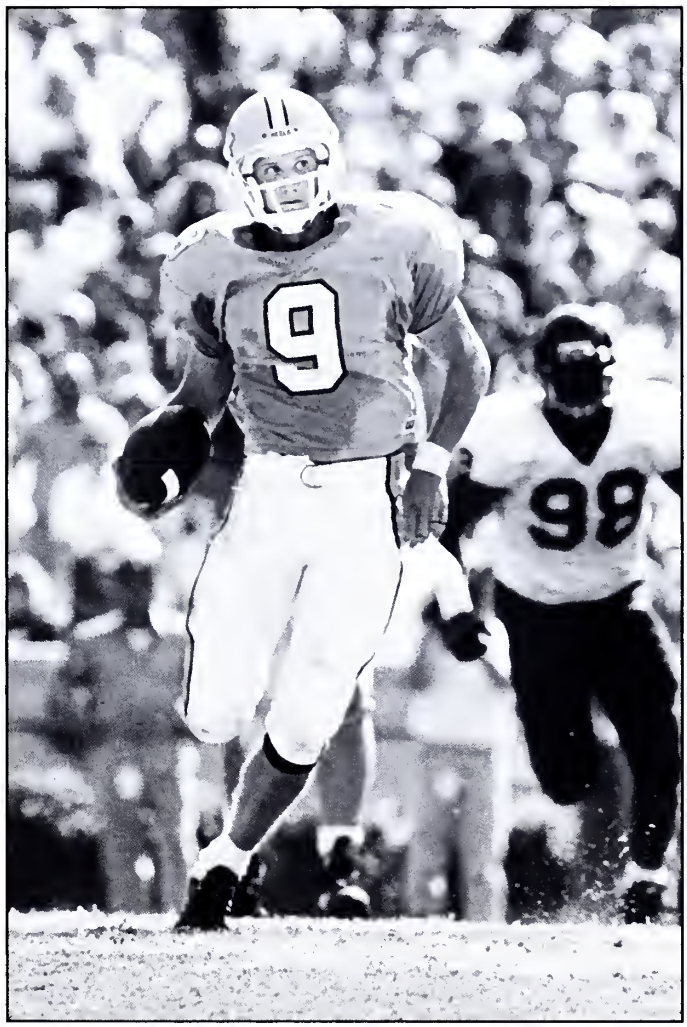
Despite the loss of 14 starters from last season's 10-3 Gator Bowl team, the University of North Carolina is in a position for another run at a postseason berth, an upper division finish in the Atlantic Coast Conference and a top 20 national showing.

Head Coach Mack Brown does return offensive starters at five positions and three more on defense to anchor a bid forthe Tar Heels' fifth consecutive winning campaign. Carolina is the only team in the increasingly competitive ACC to have an improved record in each of the last four seasons. Last year's 10-win season was just the fifth double-digit victory total in Tar Heel history. Over the last four seasons Brown's teams have won 32 games and tied one overall and posted a 21-5-1 record at Kenan Stadium.

The major challenges for this team are totally revamping the offensive line, replacing two record-setting wide receivers and reworking a defense which lost eight starters, including three players who were selected in the fourth round of the National Football League draft. Seven players on defense last year received first-, second- or third-team All-ACC honors and only two return.

Plenty of talented young players, several of whom have seen some action in the past, do return. Numerous quality recruiting seasons have put Carolina's program in a position in which it can withstand the loss of a large senior class like it encountered this past season.

"Obviously you are looking for talented, intelligent young people to step right in," says Brown. "Your teams are a lot better off early in the season if they have a lot of experience. The last couple of years on defense we have been really blessed because we have played a lot of people and gained a lot of experience. I feel like we have a talented group coming back and we have a lot of young people who have played some."



JASON STANICEK: Was named secand-team All-ACC last year when he set UNC recards far tatal affense, pass efficiency and pass completion percentage.

Chief among those departing players on offense are receivers Corey Holliday and Bucky Brooks, and four offensive line starters, tackles Ethan Albright and Curtis Parker and guards Shawn Hocker and Scott Falise.

Holliday's 155 catches and 2,447 yards receiving are school records and he caught passes in an ACC-record 45 consecutive games. Brooks, a second-round pick of the Buffalo Bills, was one of the top big-play threats in the league.

All four interior linemen started the last two years. Albright was a first-team All-ACC pick in 1993, Parker earned second-team all-league honors in each of the last two years and Hocker was a second-team pick last fall.

"When you lose two record-breaking receivers and most of your offensive line, you start out the season with a little different emphasis," says Brown. "That would be to lean on the experience of the quarterbacks, fullbacks and tailbacks. With Jason Stanicek and Mike Thomas, we're in good shape at quarterback. Plus we have two senior fullbacks in William Henderson and Malcolm Marshall and a pair of outstanding tailbacks, Curtis Johnson and Leon Johnson.

"Last year we took our quarterbacks, receivers and offensive linemen and let our young tailbacks grow up. This year we have to have our offensive backfield take the pressure off the young linemen and receivers until they mature."

Defensively, the Tar Heels are minus free safety Bracey Walker, cornerback Sean Crocker, defensive tackles Austin Robbins and Michael Payne, linebacker Rick Steinbacher, outside linebackers Bernardo Harris and Ray Jacobs and nose guard Troy Barnett.

Robbins, Walker and Crocker all went in the fourth round of the '94 NFL Draft, selected by the Los Angeles Raiders, Kansas City Chiefs and Bills, respectively. Walker became the first Tar Heel defensive back to earn major first-team All-America honors as he was a coaches' and writers' first-unit pick in 1993. He led the team with 100 tackles, blocked a school-record four punts and was named the national special teams player of the year by Sports Illustrated.

"It is not like we are depleted on defense," says Brown. "You want players in the lineup to be experienced, but you also want them to have had positive experiences. In our first days here at Carolina we were playing lots of young ones. They were sophomores but had to play too much as freshmen.

"Now our kids are a year older and without a lot of starting experience, but they are very talented guys who we feel will catch up more quickly than a young kid who had to play as a freshman and lost 10 ballgames."

Carolina returns 17 letterwinners on offense and another 17 on defense. Headlining those returnees are several players who should receive national recognition and a handful of athletes who should challenge for all-conference honors.

Senior co-captain Jason Stanicek (6-2, 195, Park Forest, Ill.) is one of the top veteran quarterbacks in college football. Last year he was a second-team All-ACC selection behind Heisman Trophy winner Charlie Ward of Florida State. Stanicek holds at least 10 career, season or single-game school records. He set Tar Heel single-season records last fall for total offense with 2,284 yards, for pass completion percentage at 64.1, and for pass efficiency with a rating of 145.79.

He needs just 890 yards in total offense to break Charlie Justice's school record of 4,883 yards, a mark once thought to be unapproachable. Only Amos Lawrence, with 4,426 yards, stands between Justice and Stanicek in Carolina history.

Defensive end Marcus Jones (6-6, 260, Jacksonville, N.C.) is receiving preseason All-America recognition from several organizations and should rate as one of the top defensive players in the ACC. Jones, a true junior, is immensely strong and quick for his size and continues to get better with every outing. Last year he was a second-team All-ACC choice, despite the fact he started just three times. He registered eight and one-half quarterback sacks, the most by a Tar Heel since current NFL star William Fuller had nine in 1981. The 76 yards in losses caused by those sacks were the most recorded since Lawrence Taylor dropped opponents for 127 yards in losses in 1980.

CURTIS JOHNSON: Was a first-team all-conference pick in 1993 as he rushed for 1,034 yards and 11 touchdowns.

Jones is a legitimate candidate for the Outland Trophy, given to the outstanding lineman in the country. Part of his ability to have a big year, however, may depend on how much progress is made by the other new starters on the defensive front. Jones could expect to see double- and triple-teamming which should open pass rush lanes for other Tar Heel players to step in and make big plays.

Stanicek and Jones may receive the majority of the early national attention, but by no means are they the only players worthy of such distinction.

The Tar Heels are fortunate to have two outstanding tailbacks in Curtis Johnson and Leon Johnson (not related). Curtis Johnson, a 5-10, 208-pound junior from Greensboro, N.C., was second in the league in rushing last year and received first-team All-ACC honors. He rushed for 1,034 yards, which included 168 yards against Maryland and 153 at N.C. State. He established a school record for the longest touchdown run in history with a 90-yard score against the Terps.

Leon Johnson, a 6-1, 210-pound sophomore from Morganton, N.C., was the runaway winner of ACC Rookie-of-the-Year honors and was a second-team all-conference choice last season. A first-team Freshman All-America, Johnson rushed for 1,012 yards, made 29 receptions for 233 yards and scored 16 touchdowns. He led the conference in scoring with 100 points, the 10th-highest total in ACC history and the most ever by a freshman. Against Duke, he ran for 142 yards, scored four touchdowns and added a two-point conversion. Those 26 points were the most ever by an ACC rookie in one game.

Senior tight end Greg DeLong (6-4, 245, Orefield, Pa.) is another standout on offense. Considered by many to be one of the finest professional prospects at his position, DeLong is recovering from a knee injury which he suffered last fall, but is expected to be ready to play when camp starts in August. He has steadily improved his pass-catching skills and is one of the top run-blockers in college football.

Defensively, the Tar Heels have a trio of standout linebackers and one of the most highly rated defensive backs in the country. Senior linebackers Kerry Mock, Mike Morton and Eddie Mason have an abundance of experience and talent. Mock (6-3, 230, Sr., Thomasville, N.C.) tied for the team lead in solo tackles last year with 53; Morton (6-3, 230, Sr., Kannapolis, N.C.) is a co-captain who has really developed into a polished tackler; Mason (6-0, 225, Sr., Siler City, N.C.) is the most unheralded of the group, but he is also the fastest linebacker on the team and one of the hardest hitters, as well.

Defensive back Jimmy Hitchcock is receiving significant preseason attention as one of the top players in the country. A 5-11, 190-pound co-captain, Hitchcock was named one of the top 30 players in the country by the National Football League's scouting bureau. A Concord, N.C. native, Hitchcock is a versatile defender who can play either cornerback or free safety. He is very solid in man-to-man coverage and has excellent speed and agility.

The Tar Heels hope punter Mike Thomas returns to the form which made him a first-team All-ACC choice in 1992 and landed him a spot on the Freshman All-America team that year. Thomas averaged more than 43 yards per kick and had 13 punts of 50-plus yards as a freshman, but several injuries limited his effectiveness last season. When healthy, Thomas, who has also shown several flashes of brilliance at quarterback, is a top threat to control field position.

LEON JOHNSON: Scored 16 touchdowns last year and totaled 100 points, the highest total ever by an ACC rookie.

The kicking game is one of the top areas of concern for the coaching staff, along with a new look secondary and the inexperience found in the offensive line and receivers.

"We need to kick off better," says Brown. "We need to be more consistent in the punting game and that means punts, punt coverage and returns. The top question mark on offense is finding a way to bring along the line and receivers first. Without the offensive line being productive we can not run or throw, so that is a critical need. Then we have to get our quarterbacks back on track and that means being good leaders.

"Defensively we have to get a good, consistent pass rush to help allow the secondary to mature. What I am very comfortable with is the players' attitude and chemistry as well as the higher level of talent and ability of the players in our program. Their desire to excel is a positive for us."

POSITIONAL ANALYSIS

One of the deepest and most talent-laden positions on the entire roster is at quarterback, where the Tar Heels have two veteran standouts in Jason Stanicek and Mike Thomas. In addition, Carolina returns junior walk-on Tucker Perry, who took the majority of snaps during the spring, and a trio of incoming freshmen.

Either Stanicek or Thomas has started at quarterback in each of the last 29 games, including Stanicek in the Gator Bowl and Thomas in the Peach Bowl two years ago. The two players have combined to complete 58 percent of their passes for more than 4,600 yards and 23 touchdowns. Both players are quality passers and are adept in engineering the option attack. Most importantly, both players know how to win. They have led the Tar Heels to a 22-7 record since late in the 1991 season when Stanicek took over for the final four games.

Stanicek is poised to set most of Carolina's career passing records. A second-team All-ACC selection in 1993 when he compiled a UNC-record 2,284 yards of total offense, Stanicek has an 18-6 record as a starter.

He completed 139 of 217 passes last year for 1,878 yards and 12 touchdowns. He averaged a school-record 190.3 yards per game of total offense and was the third-leading rusher on the team with 406 yards. Including a career-high 288 yards in one half against Maryland, he had three 200-yard passing games. Stanicek was named the Most Valuable Player of the Disneyland Pigskin Classic as he directed the Tar Heels to a 31-9 win over Southern California and he set UNC bowl game records against Alabama for completions (19) and passing yards (225).

Elected a co-captain by his teammates, Stanicek is second alltime at UNC in passing yards, third in completions, fifth in attempts and tied for seventh in touchdown passes. He needs 30 completions, 97 attempts, 380 yards and 15 touchdown throws to set new school records in those respective categories.

Thomas (6-2, 225, Jr., Hamlet, N.C.) set UNC freshman passing records in 1992 and went the distance at quarterback in Carolina's 21-17 win over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl. He suffered a torn chest muscle in the offseason prior to spring drills in 1993, however, and fought through that injury and other setbacks throughout last season.

Should Thomas return to to the form he showed when he led the Tar Heels to a wild, 31-28 win over Duke in the 1992 regular-season finale, then Carolina would be blessed with the nation's premiere one-two combinations at this position. Thomas blitzed the Blue Devils on that November 1992 afternoon for 299 yards and two touchdowns and set numerous single-game UNC records. He passed for a Tar Heel freshman high 831 yards in 1992.

Last year Thomas completed 20 of 37 passes for 336 yards. He tossed a 47-yard scoring pass to Brooks in the win over Maryland and came off the bench in the second half to secure a win at Tulane as he led two scoring drives. Bruised ribs suffered on the first series of the N.C. State game forced him to miss several contests.

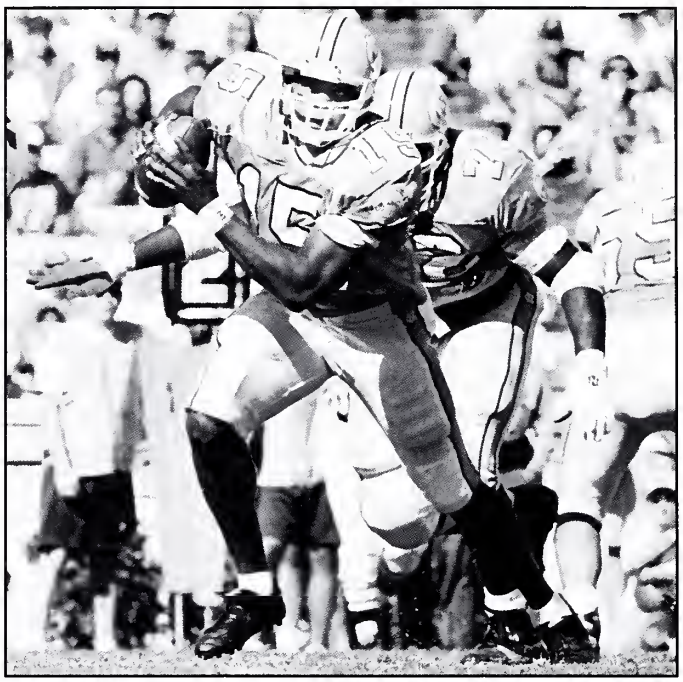
This past spring Thomas took advantage of an NCAA rule which allows a student-athlete to interrupt his studies. He sat out the semester, and missed spring drills, in order to resume his professional baseball career. Originally a member of the Baltimore Orioles organization, Thomas was a free agent signee with the San Diego Padres and played this summer in the California and Midwest Leagues.

Perry (6-2, 190, Jr., Coral Springs, Fla.) was one of the top surprises in the spring and should be in position to compete for a reserve role. Due to Thomas playing pro baseball and an abdominal muscle pull which limited Stanicek's playing time, Perry saw much of the action with the first unit late in the spring and he performed well.



MIKE THOMAS: Has thrown far mare than 1,200 yards in his callegiate career. He hapes ta return ta the farm which saw him establish UNC freshman passing recards in 1992.

Actually, quarterback is not the only position on offense blessed with two top-notch players. The Tar Heels do have two seniors at fullback with plenty of previous experience, two 1,000-yard tailbacks and two players who started games last year at tight end.

William Henderson (6-1, 245, Chester, Va.) and Malcolm Marshall (6-1, 240, Winston-Salem, N.C.) should see the abundance of playing time at fullback. Henderson, a co-captain, is the only Carolina fullback to rush for 100 yards or more in a game in the last decade. He had 101 yards against Maryland in 1991. That was his top season in terms of yardage as he rushed for 252 yards and averaged 5.6 yards per carry. He saw limited action in 1992 due to several nagging injuries, but bounced back a year ago to rush for 242 yards and score five regular-season touchdowns. He scored twice at N.C. State and also scored on a one-yard run in the Gator Bowl against Alabama.

Marshall rushed for 111 yards last year, but just as important, became a more consistent blocking back. He sprained an ankle against Florida State which knocked him out of action for two weeks and later bruised his shoulder which kept him out of the Duke game. If he can stay healthy and continue to improve in pass receiving and blocking, then he can be a nice addition to the Tar Heel offense.

Sophomores Chris Watson (5-11, 220, Clayton, N.C.) and Maurice McGregor (6-2, 240, Marietta, Ga.) should also get an opportunity to play and hold a promising future at this position.

Unquestionably the most exciting position in the Tar Heels' game plan is found at tailback, where UNC lines up two 1,000-yard rushers. Curtis Johnson rushed for 1,034 yards and 11 touchdowns and was named first-team all-conference. He averaged 6.0 yards per carry, the fourth-best figure among Carolina's NCAA-record 23 1,000-yard campaigns. The second-fastest sprinter in Tar Heel track and field history, Johnson has breakaway speed and has made great strides in running inside the tackles.

He rushed for 100 yards or better in four games and had highs of 168 yards against Maryland and 153 at N.C. State. His 90-yard scoring run against the Terrapins is the longest in school history and he is the only player in ACC history to have three career runs from scrimmage of 75 yards or more. He also had a 75-yard scoring run against Wake Forest last year and a 76-yard touchdown run at Clemson in 1992.

Leon Johnson was one of the top surprises in college football last season when he scored 16 touchdowns, rushed for 1,012 yards and was an easy pick as the ACC Rookie of the Year. He was the Tar Heels' leading rusher in the opening-game win over USC and got better and better as the season progressed. He had five 100-yard games and joined Lawrence as the only Tar Heel freshmen to ever top the 1,000-yard mark. In fact, he was only the fourth freshman in ACC history to have reached 1,000.

Johnson is elusive, quick and has great hands, evidenced by the fact he set a UNC record for receptions by a running back with 29. He should only continue to improve as he gets more experienced. He was primarily a high school quarterback and spent his red-shirt freshman year in 1992 at quarterback.

The Tar Heels also have a pair of red-shirt freshman tailbacks who show much promise. Mike Geter is a 5-11, 203-pound native of Arlington, Va., and Jonathan Linton is 6-2, 240 pounds from Catasauqua, Pa. Geter rushed for BYRON THOMAS: Shauld be ane af the faur new faces an the offensive line this year. Thamas averaged 25 plays per game last seasan as a reserve tackle.

1,648 yards and 21 touchdowns as a high school senior and is the nephew of former Notre Dame great Allen Pinkett. Linton had three 1,000-yard seasons as a prep and is a big, powerful back.

Carolina finds itself in a unique position at tight end with two more standout players in Greg DeLong and sophomore Freddie Jones. DeLong is a favorite among pro scouts and Jones could receive similar looks as his career develops. Both players, however, are coming off injuries and their return to the lineup is a key to the upcoming season.

DeLong is a powerful blocker who possesses soft hands, as well. He was off to a terrific start last year before his season came to end in the fifth week of the season. He tore an anterior cruciate ligament in his knee while making a reception at N.C. State. DeLong has averaged more than 16 yards per reception during his career, but has really made his presence felt with his dominant blocking ability. His tenacity has been a key component of Carolina having at least one 1,000-yard back in each of his first three seasons.

Jones replaced DeLong in the starting lineup and turned in a very credible performance for a young player. Jones made great strides in his blocking and contributed several big catches. He had a 50-yard catch-and-run against Alabama in the Gator Bowl and concluded the regular season with nine receptions for 80 yards. Along with DeLong, he forms what might be the best one-two tandem at tight end in all of college football. He suffered a shoulder injury early in the spring, but is expected to be back in the lineup this fall.

Backing up those two standouts is an emerging Marc Montoro. A sophomore, Montoro is working hard to get bigger so that he might offer more in the running game. Already considered a fine receiver, Montoro has one college reception, a three-yard touchdown grab at N.C. State last fall. Red-shirt freshman Shawn Crouthamel (6-6, 245, Steel City, Pa.) continues to add size and bulk and could see playing time in a reserve role.

Despite the loss of record-setters Corey Holliday and Bucky Brooks, the Tar Heels are not devoid of talent at wide receiver. Juniors Marcus Wall (5-10, 165, Fayetteville, N.C.) and Gray Bovender (6-1, 182, Winston-Salem, N.C.) are the leading candidates to start at flanker and split end, respectively. Wall made 22 receptions last year, including a 13-yard touchdown catch against Wake Forest. Wall is not only a fine receiver, he is also a hard-hitting and tenacious blocker. That is a must in the Tar Heels' groundgame, especially on option plays.

Bovender injured a knee in preseason 1992 and sat out that entire year. He returned to the active roster last fall and made three receptions for 48 yards. Bovender is a fine receiver who is deceptively quick and runs precise routes.

GREG DeLONG: Is regorded by mony professionol scouts os one of the top tight ends in the notion. DeLong was off to o fost stort in 1993 before an injury put him out of oction ot midseason.

A pair of red-shirt freshmen, Octavus Barnes and Toby Patton, are the top reserves and could challenge for significant playing time. Barnes (6-2, 189, Wilson, N.C.) has outstanding speed and catches the ball well. Patton (5-8, 145, Johnson City, Tenn.) is a speedster who, despite his size, has the ability to make big plays. Patton ran the sprints for the UNC track team in the spring and made it to the finals of the ACC Championship in the 100 meters.

Senior D.J. Williams, sophomore Darrin Ashford and red-shirt freshman Kris Moyer add to the depth at wide receiver. Williams is the only senior among the seven returning receivers.

The other major area of concern on offense is the interior line, where the Tar Heels must replace four starters, three of whom earned some all-conference honors last year. Holdover Pat Conneely, who started every game at center last year, will likely move to left guard. Conneely (6-5, 250, Jr., Pensacola, Fla.) is quick and agile and continues to get bigger and stronger. Conneely moved to guard in the spring when he suffered a hand injury.

Other probable starters heading into fall drills include left tackle Byron Thomas (6-4, 300, So., Oxford, N.C.), center Don Meredith (6-5, 280, Sr., Land O'Lakes, Fla.), right guard Scott Overbeck (6-3, 280, Jr., New Canaan, Conn.) and right tackle Roge Purgason (6-5, 285, Sr., Charlotte, N.C.).

Thomas saw the most action last year of this group as he averaged 25 plays a game as a backup to Curtis Parker. The latter three players are veterans who have seen some playing time in reserve roles, but will be called upon to be in the starting lineup for the first time in their careers.

Junior Russell Babb is another player who should challenge for plenty of playing time at either guard or tackle. Babb (6-4, 285, Wilson, N.C.) saw the most action of any reserve last year, but did not participate in spring drills due to shoulder surgery. How much rehabilitative progress he has made may say a lot about the look of the offensive line.

Gethers originally came to Carolina as a walk-on but earned a scholarship last year. Honeycutt played at nose guard last fall, but switched to offense in the spring.

Red-shirt freshmen Ryan Hoffman (6-4, 275, Orange Park, Fla.) and Mike Hobgood (6-3, 253, Durham, N.C.) could also move into contention for playing time.

Defensively the Tar Heels return just three starters, linebacker Kerry Mock, defensive back Jimmy Hitchcock and strong safety Sean Boyd, plus second-team All-ACC lineman Marcus Jones.

Jones is the showcase player on this defense. He is one of the best defensive ends in the country and a player to watch as the top defensive player in the ACC. Jones has great speed and mammoth strength and is adept at getting hits on the quarterback. Last year he made eight and one-half sacks for 76 yards, despite sharing playing time and making just three starts. He is the type of player who can force changes in a team's attack based on where he is lined up.

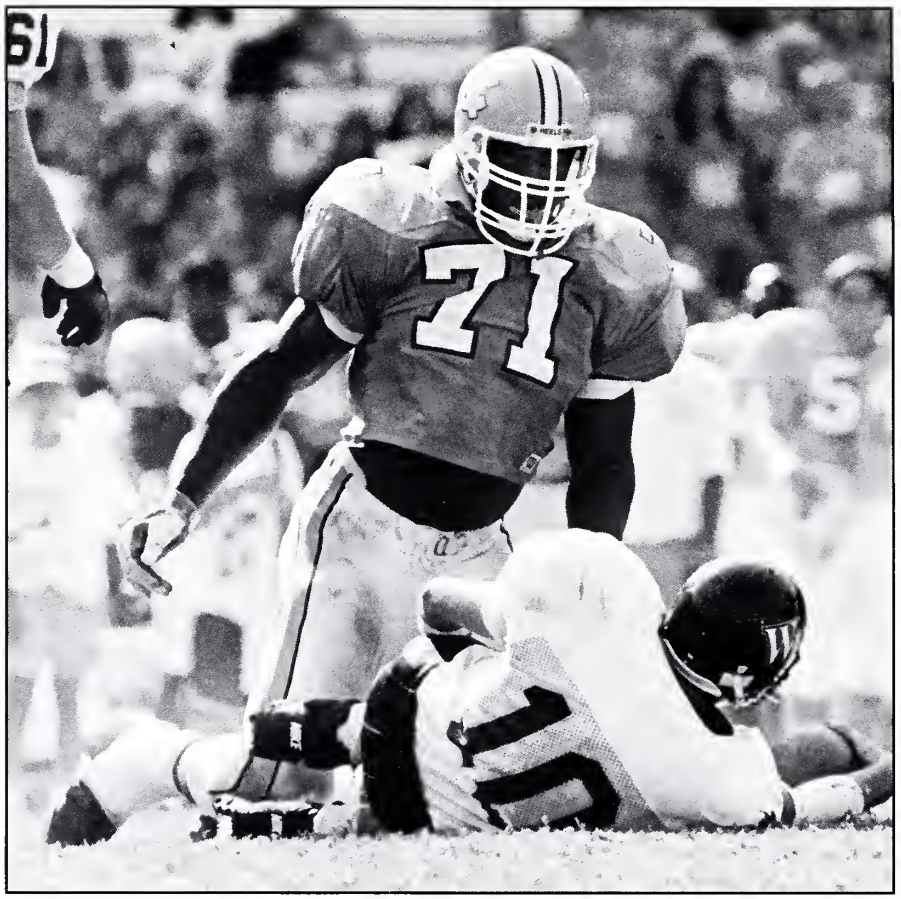
Jones should be joined up front by defensive tackles Greg Black and Riddick Parker and defensive end Oscar Sturgis.

Sturgis is a player with all-star capabilities. A 6-5, 260-pound senior from Hamlet, N.C., Sturgis is in just his second year on defense after spending two seasons at tight end. He backed up Ray Jacobs last season, but as he continues to learn the nuances of the position, could become a dominant pass rusher.

Black (6-4, 290, Jr., Gastonia, N.C.) has worked hard in the offseason and is in the best shape of his career. He has the size and strength to be a solid player and he will be asked to step up and become a major factor this season. Parker (6-3, 265, Sr., Murfreesboro, N.C.) has seen action in a reserve role and has made 55 career tackles. He has good speed for a down lineman and had a very consistent spring.

Senior John Bradley (6-0, 230, Wilmington, N.C.) and red-shirt freshman Greg Ellis (6-6, 245, Wendell, N.C.) are the top backups at defensive end. Sophomore Rick Terry (6-4, 285, Lexington, N.C.) and red-shirt freshman Nate Hobgood-Chittick (6-5, 252, Allentown, Pa.) head into camp as the top reserves at defensive tackle. Junior Doug Leonard (6-5, 235, Bethel Park, Pa.) sophomore Marcus Brinkley (6-4, 265, Spring Hope, N.C.), who played offensive guard last year, and sophomore Andre Purvis (6-5, 285, Jacksonville, N.C.) round out the returning linemen.

Clearly the most experience on defense is at linebacker, where the Tar Heels return three seniors and a very talented sophomore. The three veterans—Kerry Mock, Eddie Mason and Mike Morton—should provide the most stability on this side of the ball. Mock has made 15 career starts and is one of the most dependable, consistent players on the team. He will share playing time with Mason at strongside linebacker. Mason is one of the most agile linebackers on the squad and one of the top hitters. He had 72 tackles last fall and made big plays against Southern Cal, Clemson and Alabama.



MARCUS JONES: Wos o second-teom All-ACC choice lost yeor ond is considered by mony observers to be now omong the finest defensive linemen in the country.

Morton is one of the co-captains and a player who may be on the verge of stardom. Pro scouts love his mobility and speed and he has matured into the position after beginning his collegiate career at tight end. He had 78 hits last year in a reserve role and played his best football down the stretch. Against Alabama in the Gator Bowl, he made eight solo stops and 14 tackles overall.

Morton mans the weakside linebacker slot and is backed up by red-shirt freshman Kivuusama Mays (6-4, 240, Anniston, Ala.). Mays is inexperienced, but very talented and a player with great football instincts.

Sophomore James Hamilton (6-6, 220, Hamlet, N.C.) should start at rover linebacker. Hamilton made 30 tackles as a freshman and is considered one of the top pass rushers on the team. He will be backed up by red-shirt freshman Brian Simmons (6-4, 220, New Bern, N.C.). Simmons is very quick and reminds observers of former All-ACC linebacker Tommy Thigpen.

Most of the questions concerning the Tar Heel defense center on the secondary. Losses of All-America free safety Bracey Walker and second-team All-ACC cornerback Sean Crocker leave Carolina without the services of two very experienced and talented performers.

Senior Jimmy Hitchcock is considered by many to be among the top professional prospects in the college game this year. He could start at cornerback, where he played last year, or at free safety, where he backed up current Denver Bronco Rondell Jones in 1992.

Hitchcock shared the team lead in solo tackles last fall with 53 and has the ability to play tight man coverage. His exceptional athletic skills and ability to make adjustments make him one of the best defensive backs in the ACC. Heading into training camp he is listed as the starter at free safety, ahead of junior Eric Thomas (6-0, 200, Hamlet, N.C.).

Sean Boyd, who earned third-team All-ACC accolades, returns at strong safety. Boyd (6-3, 205, Jr., Gastonia, N.C.) tied for the team lead in interceptions last year with four and made all four against ACC opponents. Along with an extra year's experience should come a bit more consistent play and that will be a key for this secondary to have time to mature.

Sophomore Ronald Thomas (6-1, 180, Paterson, N.J.) backs up Boyd at strong safety. Thomas had a very good spring and showed vast improvement. Thomas made 17 tackles last year and worked hard in the winter conditioning program to get bigger and stronger. He seems to have matured physically and gained some added confidence, as well.

Should Hitchcock stay at free safety, then the cornerback slots will be wide open. Senior Tim Smith and red-shirt freshman Omar Brown will vie for starting honors at the strongside corner, while junior Fuzzy Lee and red-shirt freshman Terry Billups are the candidates for the weakside corner slot.

Smith (5-10, 186, LaGrange, N.C.) has been a good special teams performer and played in some nickel/dime packages. Brown (5-11, 190, York, Pa.) is a talented, but inexperienced first-year player who has shown outstanding potential.

Lee (5-11, 190, Clinton, N.C.) is a very athletic player who had 20 tackles last year, including a season-high five against Duke. He has a slight edge heading into preseason camp over Billups (5-10, 165, Orlando, Fla.) for the starting job. Billups is a young player who shows a promising future as he breaks well on the ball and has a good feel for coverages.

Red-shirt freshmen Clay Eddie (6-1, 187, Monroe, N.C.) and Jamez Griffin (6-2, 205, Fayetteville, N.C.) will also make a run for playing time at free safety and strong safety, respectively.

The kicking game is one of the areas where Brown would like to see the most improvement from a year ago. The Tar Heels do return Tripp Pignetti, who handled virtually all the placements last year, and punters Thomas and Jay Boaz.

OSCAR STURGIS: Cauld develap inta ane af the fiercest pass rushers in the Atlantic Caast Conference.

Pignetti made 12 of 15 field goal attempts and 50 of 52 extra point tries. He set an ACC record for most consecutive successful extra points tries in one season with 43 and finished the year with 86 points. That was the third-highest total in the ACC behind Leon Johnson and Florida State kicker Scott Bentley. Pignetti's total was the second-highest by a kicker in Tar Heel history.

Pignetti (5-10, 215, Sr., Charlotte, N.C.) should see a challenge, however, from transfer Chris Welch, a 6-0, 170-pound junior from Greensboro, N.C. Welch originally went to Wake Forest to play soccer, but had his freshman season cut short by a leg injury. Welch made 14 of 19 field goal tries over the last three spring scrimmages and showed long-range potential.

An equally important battle will take place in terms of handling kickoffs. That is an area where Brown says his team must get better play. Last year the task fell to three different players and a consistent deep threat was never found. Brown wants to settle on a dependable kickoff man by the start of the season.

The Tar Heels have two talented punters in Thomas and Boaz. Thomas has the leg strength to be rated as one of the top performers in all of football. As a freshman he averaged 43.1 yards per punt and had 13 kicks in excess of 50 yards. Last year, however, his mechanics were altered by a muscle injury and his consistency suffered. When he was forced out of the lineup at mid-season with bruised ribs, Boaz came on and punted quite well. The Pilot Mountain, N.C. native averaged 43 yards on 10 kicks.

Wall set UNC records in kickoff returns last year as he returned 31 kicks for 734 yards, an average of 23.7 yards per return. That was the third-highest average in the ACC. He had a career-best, 91-yard return in the win over Duke. Wall's career average of 22.1 yards per runback is the eighth-best mark at Carolina.

Departed senior Steven Jerry handled punt returns last year. Brown must find a player to step in and give the Tar Heels a threat. Wall, Leon Johnson and Patton are the leading candidates to take over that role. Carolina was fifth in the ACC in net punt return average in 1993 and Brown would like to improve on that finish.

MIKE MORTON: Made 78 tackles during the regular seasan last year and then added a team-high 14 hits in the Gatar Bawl against Alabama.

Introducing the 1994 Tar Heels

13 • KEVIN ADDIS

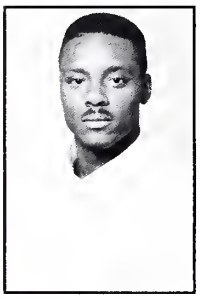
Strong Safety • 6-2, 200, Jr. • Union, S.C.

Hopes to return to the active roster this fall after a season-ending knee injury a year ago...If healthy, he should battle for playing time at strong safety...Injured an anterior cruciate ligament in the seventh week of the season on a special teams play against Wake Forest...Made 12 tackles last year, including a season-high four at N.C. State...Played 30 snaps against Ohio University last fall...Was unable to participate in spring drills due to the injury.

1992 — Played as a backup at free safety behind Rondell Jones...Made 17 tackles...Recorded a season-high five tackles at Clemson. 1991 — Was red-shirted...Came to UNC as a quarterback prospect but moved to the secondary in the preseason... High School — Quarterbacked Union High to a 14-1 record and the class 4-A, Division II state title as a senior...Completed 124 of 248 passes for 2,210 yards and 22 touchdowns...Started for South Carolina in the Shrine Bowl...Greenville News and Associated Press all-state selection...Set every school passing record...Coached by Shell Dula...Also lettered in basketball, golf and track. Personal — Majoring in communication studies...Born Kevin Ray Addis on Feb. 24, 1973.

17 • DARRIN ASHFORD

Wide Receiver • 5-11, 178, So. • Richton, Ill.



Enters preseason as the number three flanker...A player with good speed and agility who simply needs to gain experience and mature...Saw action in two games last year but did not have a reception...Saw limited action against Georgia Tech and Clemson...Was red-shirted in 1992.

High School — Member of Tom Lemmings All-America Team as a senior at Rich East High with 36 catches for over 800 yards...Made 74 receptions and 17 touchdown catches in his last two years...All-conference and all-area both seasons and all-state as a senior...His average of over 20 yards per catch was the highest in school history...As a junior he played with current Carolina quarterback Jason Stanicek...Three-year starter for Coach Bob Lombardi...Also won four letters in track...Personal — Majoring in studio art...Born Darrin Randell Ashford on Oct. 4, 1974.

33 • WILLIAM HENDERSON

Fullback • 6-1, 245, Sr. • Chester, Va.
Co-Captain

Selected by the players as a co-captain for the 1994 season...Very experienced player who has overcome a major knee injury and several other nagging injuries to become a key contributor...Fine ballcarrier who has improved his blocking skills each season...Will again be counted upon to provide some offensive production out of the fullback position...Understands his role very well...Has made some big runs over his first three years...Gives the offense a lot of stability...Look for him to be one of the real emotional leaders of this team...Has rushed for 499 career yards and scored seven regular-season touchdowns.

1993 — Split playing time and starting honors at fullback with Malcolm Marshall...Was the fourth-leading ballcarrier on the team...Rushed 51 times for 242 yards, an average of 4.7 yards per carry...Was third on the team with five touchdown runs...Lost yardage just one time and that was for just one yard...Really developed into a much-more polished blocker which helped UNC's two 1,000-yard tailbacks...Was the fifth-leading scorer on the team with 30 points...Had a season-high 46 yards on six attempts at N.C. State...Also had 40 yards on eight carries vs. USC and 41 on 10 carries vs. UTEP...Scored on an eight-yard run in the win over Southern Cal...Rushed for a pair of touchdowns in the big win at N.C. State...Set up his first TD with an 18-yard power run to the one-yard line and then tied the game at 7-7 from a yard out...In the fourth quarter he tacked on UNC's final points with a 18-yard run...Also had touchdown runs vs. Ohio U. and UTEP...Made four starts in 1993 and averaged 44 plays a game...Scored on a one-yard run against Alabama in the Gator Bowl...TD came in the second quarter and gave Carolina a 7-3 lead.

1992 — Missed only one game, but carried just twice for five yards...Played 83 snaps during the regular season with his most extensive action coming against Florida State and Virginia...Had one rush for two yards vs. Army and another for three yards vs. Virginia...Injuries limited his availability much of the season.

1991 — Co-recipient of the Jeffrey Cowell Memorial Award as the Tar Heels' Most Outstanding First-Year Player...Started six games at fullback and finished as the third-leading rusher and the sixth-leading receiver on the team...Carried the ball 45 times for 252 yards and caught 11 passes for another 87 yards...It was the most yards rushing in a season by a Carolina fullback since James Thompson totaled 375 in 1987...Averaged 5.6 yards per carry, the highest average on the team...Made his first start in the fourth week of the season against William & Mary and responded with 53 yards on eight carries...Was outstanding against Maryland as he rushed for 101 yards on 10 carries...Had a season-best 57-yard run in the first quarter...That run and a 16-yard run up the middle late in the first half both set up UNC touchdowns...It was the first 100-yard game by a Carolina fullback since Eddie Colson had 119 vs. Wake Forest in 1983...Scored both his touchdowns in the season finale vs. Duke...The first was a three-yard run in the third quarter and the second was a nine-yard, fourth-quarter score.

1990 — Was red-shirted as he rehabilitated a knee injury...High School — Suffered a knee injury prior to his senior year of high school and sat out the year...Was injured in the first scrimmage of his senior

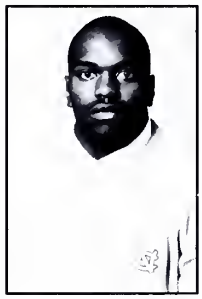
32 • CURTIS JOHNSON

Tailback • 5-10, 208, Jr. • Greensboro, N.C.



One of Carolina's two returning 1,000-yard running backs...Very durable and dependable runner...Had one of the top sophomore seasons in Tar Heel history...Built very solidly and has an explosive set of legs...Has breakaway speed...Improved his inside running ability but still can get better in that aspect...Does not need a big hole to have a chance to make a big play...Should once again be considered one of the top offensive attractions in the Atlantic Coast Conference...Competes with the UNC track team and has the second-fastest time in school history in the 100 meters...Was fourth in the 100 at the 1994 ACC Championships...Anchored the 4x100 relay which set the UNC record (39.39 seconds) and automatically qualified for the NCAA Championships.

1993 — Selected the Tar Heels' Most Outstanding Offensive Back...First-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection at tailback and one of two 1,000-yard tailbacks at Carolina last year...Was the second-leading vote-getter on the All-ACC offense...Only Charlie Ward of Florida State received more first-team votes...Led the ACC in rushing up until the final week of the season and wound up second...Was the Tar Heels' 19th first-team All-ACC running back in the last 25 years...In 1993 he set the UNC track record in the 100 meters (10.38 seconds)...Is 18th all-time at UNC in rushing yards... Named first-team Sophomore All-America by Football News.

Rushed 173 times for 1,034 yards...Averaged 86.2 yards per game and 6.0 yards per carry...Reached the 1,000-yard mark with a three-yard gain in the fourth quarter at Tulane...Had the highest per-carry average of any Tar Heel with at least 500 yards since Eric Starr and Derrick Fenner averaged 6.5 and 6.3, respectively, in 1986...Had the second-fewest carries of any of the Tar Heels' 23 1,000-yard rushing seasons...Only Kelvin Bryant, who had 1,015 yards in seven games and 152 attempts in 1981, had fewer carries...His 6.0 yards per carry was the fourth-best figure among the 23 1,000-yard seasons.

Rushed for 100-plus yards in four games with a career-high 168 yards vs. Maryland...Also had 153 at N.C. State, 144 vs. Ohio U. and 132 vs. Wake Forest...The Tar Heels were 4-0 in games in which he rushed for 100 yards...Had a 90-yard TD run vs. the Terps, the longest scoring run in Carolina history and the second-longest run from scrimmage ever by a Tar Heel...The only longer run was a 95-yarder by S.A. Ashe in 1895...Had a career-high 18 carries at N.C. State...Had 24 runs of at least 10 yards and four rushes which covered at least 50 yards...Had two spectacular runs to open second-half possessions...With UNC trailing 14-10 at N.C. State, he broke a 50-yard TD run on the first play from scrimmage in the third quarter to give UNC the lead for good...Against Wake Forest, he again got the call on the first play of the third quarter and went 75 yards for a touchdown...Is the only player in ACC history to have at least three runs from scrimmage of at least 75 yards...He also had a 76-yard rush in 1992 at Clemson.

Made his first collegiate start at Southern California and rushed 17 times for 78 yards and one TD...Had his first 100-yard game vs. Ohio U...He and Leon Johnson each rushed for 100 yards in consecutive games vs. Ohio U. and Maryland, only the second time in UNC history that has been accomplished...His 153 yards at N.C. State were the most by a Tar Heel against the Pack since 1984 when William Humes rushed for 156 yards...Averaged 8.5 yards per carry vs. the Pack...In addition to his record-setting 90-yard run vs. Maryland, he also had a 37-yard TD run in that same game in the fourth quarter...Was spectacular vs. Wake Forest as he rushed 15 times for 132 yards and scored three touchdowns...Had TD runs of 17, 75 and five yards vs. the Deacs...It was the fifth straight year that a UNC tailback had rushed for 100 yards vs. Wake Forest...Scored touchdowns in eight different games.

Also made nine pass receptions for 60 yards...Scored one touchdown via pass reception, a seven-yard score off a screen pass to give UNC the lead for good in the third quarter of the UTEP game...Had 11 rushing touchdowns and 12 overall...His 72 points were the third-highest total on the team and the fourth-highest total in the ACC...Only one other player in the league, teammate Leon Johnson, rushed for more TDs...Combined with Leon Johnson to score 28 touchdowns, the most by any two players in one year in Carolina history.

1992 — Reserve tailback...Fourth-leading ballcarrier with 244 yards on 34 attempts...Led the squad with a 7.2 yards-per-rush average...Was the number two tailback against Georgia Tech and Maryland and was the number one tailback for much of the Clemson game due to injuries...Saw action on 125 plays including a season-high 38 at Clemson and 18 at Maryland...Scored on a 76-yard dash down the left sideline at Clemson and finished the day with three carries for 84 yards...Was playing in place of an injured Natrone Means...The 76-yard run matched Means' TD run at Duke in 1990 as the longest carry from scrimmage by a UNC freshman...Made his collegiate debut at Wake Forest and had five carries for 28 yards...Also rushed for 45 yards vs. Army...Scored the final touchdown of the game vs. Georgia Tech on a three-yard run up the middle with 1:16 left in the game...That sealed a 26-14 victory...Had a brilliant, 25-yard run vs. Maryland in which he started right, spun around and dashed 25 yards down to the Terp 11-yard line.

1991 — Was red-shirted...High School — Ran for 1,240 yards in 1990 at Smith High School...Scored 17 touchdowns, three on kickoff returns...Finished his career with three 1,000-yard seasons and a total of over 3,800 yards on the ground...Also had 40 career touchdowns...Twice all-county and three times an all-conference selection...Conference player of the year and SuperPrep All-America as a senior...Named to the Shrine Bowl team...Coached by David Moody...Set the state record in the 100 meters as a sophomore at 10.53...Finished second in the 100 at the 1991 state championships...Personal — Born Curtis L. Johnson on Nov. 11, 1971...Majoring in sociology.

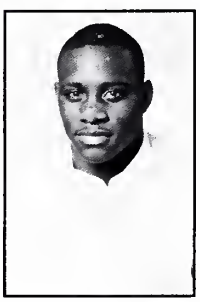
12 • LEON JOHNSON

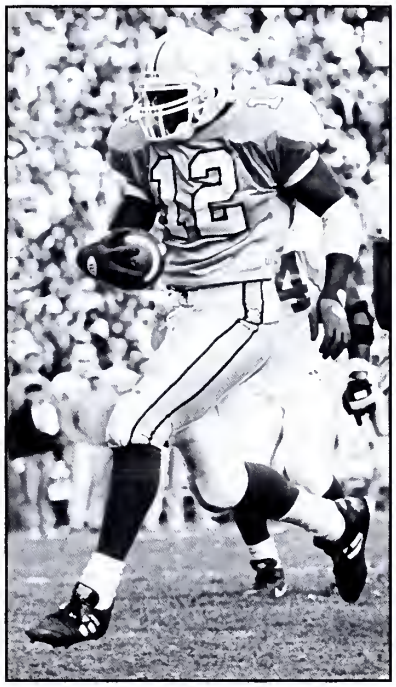
Tailback • 6-1, 210, So. • Morganton, N.C.



Produced one of the finest freshman seasons in Atlantic Coast Conference history...Combined tremendous running and pass-catching skills to total more than 1,200 all-purpose yards...Set numerous ACC and UNC scoring records...Still is learning to play the position and should only get better as he gains more experience...Does not have classic sprinter's speed, but he does have a quick burst and the ability to run away from defenders...Has unlimited athletic ability...

Finished second in the ACC in the long jump at the 1994 Indoor Track and Field Championships with a jump of 24-4 1/2 and fourth at the Outdoor Championships (24-5 3/4).

1993 — Selected the Tar Heels' Most Outstanding Freshman Player...Responsible for one of the most outstanding freshman seasons in Atlantic Coast Conference history...A runaway winner as the ACC's Rookie of the Year and a second-team All-ACC selection at running back...First-team Freshman All-America as named by Football News...Became just the second Tar Heel and fourth ACC player to rush for 1,000 yards in his freshman season...Led the conference in scoring with 100 points, the 10th-highest single-season total in league history...The 100 points broke the previous record for ACC freshman by 16 points...Set a Carolina record for receptions by a running back...Scored 16 touchdowns, 14 by rush and two by pass receptions and added a pair of two-point conversion runs...Had five 100-yard rushing games...Previously only Amos Lawrence and Charlie Justice had five 100-yard games in their freshman seasons at UNC...Set an ACC freshman record with 26 points in one game (Duke)...Twice tied the ACC freshman record of four touchdowns in one game...Combined with Curtis Johnson to score 28 touchdowns, the most by any two players in Carolina history.



Rushed the ball 179 times for 1,012 yards, the 23rd 1,000-yard season in Carolina history, an NCAA record...Averaged 5.7 yards per carry and 84.3 yards per game...Only one other player in the ACC, Wake Forest's John Leach, had more carries...Had the fourth-fewest carries among UNC's 23 1,000-yard campaigns...Lawrence, in 1977, was the only other Tar Heel freshman to rush for 1,000 yards...The other two ACC players were Wake Forest's James McDougald in 1976 and N.C. State's Joe McIntosh in 1981...Reached the 1,000-yard mark on a four-yard carry in the fourth quarter of the Tar Heels' win over Duke.

Was only the third Tar Heel to be named ACC Rookie of the Year and the first in 15 years...Lawrence was the recipient in 1977 and linebacker Darrell Nicholson won the award in 1978.

His 16 touchdowns were the most by a Tar Heel since Kelvin Bryant had 18 in 1981...The 100 points were the fourth-most in school history behind Don McCauley (126 in 1970), Mike Voight (110 in 1976) and Bryant (108 in 1981)...Scored an ACC freshman-record 26 points vs. Duke on four TDs and one two-point run...Earlier in the year vs. UTEP he tied the ACC mark with 24 points on four TDs...That tied Ted Brown of N.C. State, who had 24 points vs. Clemson in 1975...Scored 50 points in those two games — only 12 players in the ACC had as many points the entire season...Had at least one touchdown in eight different games.

Made 29 pass receptions for 233 yards, an average of 8.0 yards per catch...Was the second-leading receiver on the team in terms of number of receptions...Had two TD catches, both long runs on screen passes...The first was a 15-yard TD at Georgia Tech and the second was a 29-yard screen against Duke...The previous record for receptions in a season by a UNC running back was 25 by Ethan Horton in 1984...Had at least one reception in 11 of the 12 games (Ohio U. the only exception)...Season-high four catches vs. Southern California and Tulane...Season-high 47 receiving yards vs. Duke.

Had a season-high 147 rushing yards on only 12 carries vs. Ohio U...Also had 142 yards (on a UNC season-high 24 attempts) vs. the Blue Devils...Other 100-yard games included 101 yards vs. Maryland, 106 yards vs. UTEP and 119 yards vs. Wake Forest...He and Curtis Johnson each rushed for 100 yards in the same game three times...Made 26 runs of 10 yards or more, including a season-long play of 62 yards for a touchdown vs. Ohio U.

Made his collegiate debut with 94 yards on 10 carries and four receptions for 35 yards at the Disneyland Pigskin Classic vs. Southern Cal...Scored the first UNC touchdown of the season on a 19-yard, second-quarter run...Set up the final TD of the night on a 31-yard run...Made his Kenan Stadium debut with 147 yards, including TD runs on consecutive carries of 15 and 62 yards, vs. Ohio U...That set a rushing yardage record for players making their first Kenan Stadium appearance...Justice held the

71 • MARCUS JONES

Defensive End • 6-6, 260, Jr. • Jacksonville, N.C.

Here is one of the top defensive linemen in the country...A candidate for All-America and Outland Trophy honors...Has all the skills necessary to become one of the dominant players in college football this year...Is incredibly strong, very quick and agile and plays with a competitive fire...Is very difficult to block with just one player...Can make the other players on the line better players by his mere presence...Is a good student of the game...Very coachable...Still a very young man who will only continue to improve...With just very limited practice time, he still emerged as the Atlantic Coast Conference champion in the discus in 1994 with a throw of 162 feet, nine inches...That helped to UNC to an upset victory in the team title.

1993 — Selected to the All-ACC second team...A fierce pass rusher who spent a lot of time chasing after the quarterback last fall...Led the Tar Heels with 8.5 quarterback sacks and was tied with fellow second-team All-ACC tackle Austin Robbins for the team lead with 10.5 tackles for losses...The 8.5 quarterback sacks were the most by a Tar Heel since William Fuller had nine in 1981...It was the third-highest total since defensive stats were first kept in 1978...Lawrence Taylor set the record with 16 in 1980...Jones' 8.5 sacks caused 76 yards in losses, the second-highest total ever and the most since Taylor's 16 sacks dropped opponents for 127 yards in losses...Second-team Sophomore All-America as named by Football News.

Overall Jones was the top tackler among the Tar Heels' defensive linemen ...He made 30 primary stops and 20 assists for 50 total hits...Caused one fumble, batted down five passes and pressured the quarterback 15 times...That was second-best behind Robbins' 19 pressures... Made a season-high seven tackles in three games, vs. Ohio U., Florida State and Virginia...At N.C. State he had two tackles, one for a loss, one pressure and batted down two passes...May have played his best game at Georgia Tech when he harassed Tech quarterbacks all day long...In addition to four tackles, he had two pressures and knocked down a pass...Two of his tackles were for sacks of 11 and six yards...Was the Tar Heels' Defensive Player of the Week vs. Wake Forest when he had four tackles, including one sack, and five pressures...Had a sack in eight of the 12 games...Had as many sacks as Carolina's top two sackers combined had in 1992...Gator Bowl — Made seven tackles, including two for losses...Two tackles for losses totaled 14 yards.

1992 — Was in on a total of 215 plays in the regular season plus 34 in the Peach Bowl...Made 16 tackles, broke up one pass, had four tackles for losses and recorded one sack...Made a season-best five tackles against Navy, including the one sack...Also had tackles for losses against Furman, Florida State and Clemson...Played by far his best game of the year in the win over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl...Had two tackles, one quarterback sack and forced one hurried pass...Was involved in one of the most critical plays of the game in the second quarter when he was held and practically tackled to the ground...Holding was called on the play for the second time in as many series...That call and subsequent pressure by the UNC defensive front helped turn the game around...He was one of the sparks of the Tar Heels' big win...Blocked one punt against Furman.

High School — USA Today, Blue Chip and SuperPrep All-America defensive lineman at Southwest Onslow High...Gatorade Player of the Year in North Carolina...Three-time all-conference and all-area selection...Had 51 solo tackles as a senior, 24 assists and 15 sacks...Also had 16 other tackles for losses in 1991, recovered five fumbles and blocked six kicks (three punts, a FG and 2 PATs)...As a junior he had 18 sacks, averaged seven tackles a game, caused six fumbles and recovered four...Played in the Shrine Bowl...Associated Press and Greensboro News & Record all-state choice...Coached by Phil Padgett...Won four letters in football, four in basketball and five in track...Set a 1-A/2-A record in the discus at the 1992 state track meet with a winning throw of 161 feet, five inches...Personal — Born Marcus Edward Jones on August 15, 1973 in Jacksonville...Majoring in communication studies.

Co-Captain

Here's one of the top players in the Atlantic Coast Conference...A candidate for All-America honors...Selected by his teammates as a co-captain for the 1994 season...One of the chief catalysts in the Tar Heels' record-setting offense in 1993...A second-team All-ACC selection at quarterback...Set a number of Carolina single-game, single-season and career marks...Has established two game, five season and five career UNC records...Also holds Carolina bowl game marks for completions and passing yards...With one more season to play he has a chance to hold most of the career passing records in Carolina history...Has an uncanny ability to run the option to near-perfection...Holds the ball until the last possible moment and almost always makes the correct, split-second decision as to run or pitch...Was a major factor in the Tar Heels' twin 1,000-yard rushing season a year ago...Set a number of passing accuracy and efficiency records...Has added 10 pounds since the end of the 1993 season...One of the unquestioned leaders of this football squad...Commands the respect of coaches and players alike with his cool, efficient demeanor.

Career — Has played in 27 of the last 29 games (including postseason) and has started 24 times...The Tar Heels are 21-6 in games in which he has played and 18-6 in his starting assignments.

Holds the UNC record for career pass efficiency (min. 300 attempts) at 128.83 points (previous record was 124.35 by Matt Kupec, 1976-79)...Also the career leader in completions per game at 10.6 per game (previous record of 10.57 by Kevin Anthony, 1983-85)...Also the career leader in completion percentage as he has connected on 60.5 percent of his passes (previous record for 200-plus attempts was 56.2 by Mark Maye, 1984-87)...Also the career leader in yards per attempt (7.6; the previous record was 7.5 by Jack Cummings, 1957-59).

Has 276 completions in 456 attempts for 3,461 yards and he has thrown 19 touchdowns and 21 interceptions...UNC career rankings include second in yards, third in completions, fifth in attempts and is tied for seventh in touchdowns...Has 3,994 yards, the third-highest total in school history...To set new marks in those categories, in 1994 he will need 30 completions, 97 attempts, 380 yards and 15 touchdowns.

Has five 200-yard regular-season passing games, including a career-high 288 yards vs. Maryland in 1993...Had career-highs in attempts (35) and completions (26) vs. N.C. State in 1992...His longest pass completion was for 68 yards to tight end Greg DeLong vs. Maryland in 1993...His longest scoring pass was for 65 yards to Randy Jordan vs. Navy in 1992.

1993 Regular Season —Selected the Tar Heels' Most Valuable Player on Offense...Completed 139 of 217 passes for 1,878 yards...Completed a UNC-record 64.1 percent of his passes (previous record for at least 175 attempts was 62.5 by Maye in 1986)...Also set a UNC-record for pass efficiency with 145.79 points (previous mark for at least 200 attempts was 131.9 by Scott Stankavage in 1983)...Yardage total was the second-highest in school history...The 139 completions rank fifth in UNC history...The 12 TDs were tied for the third-most in UNC history...Was the College Football Player of the Year as selected by the Raleigh Sports Club.

Set several UNC total offense records...Had 2,284 total offense yards, the most in history (previous was 1,914 by Maye in 1987)...Averaged 190.3 yards per game, also a school record (previous record was 174.0 by Maye in 1987).

Season highs included 288 yards passing vs. Maryland, 17 completions vs. Duke, 27 attempts vs. Virginia and two touchdowns in three games...Was the third-leading rusher on the team with 406 yards on 109 attempts...He rushed for four touchdowns...It was the most yards in a season by a quarterback since Gayle Bomar had 495 in 1968...It was the fourth-highest single-season total in UNC history for a quarterback...Had a season-high 61 yards rushing vs. Wake Forest...Longest rush of the year was 28 yards vs. Clemson...Longest TD rush was 26 yards at Tulane...He was 15th in the ACC in rushing and no other quarterback was any higher than Charlie Ward, who was 20th.

Had three 200-yard passing games and nine games with at least 100 yards, including each of the last seven...Tossed 12 TD passes with at least one scoring throw in nine games (nine of the last 10 games)...Had two TD passes in three games (Maryland, Georgia Tech, Duke)...Was selected by the media as the Most Valuable Player in the Disneyland Pigskin Classic...Completed six of eight for 101 yards and smoothly ran the option attack...Had an incredible pitch to Curtis Johnson on a three-yard TD run in the second quarter...Stanicek was completely surrounded by three USC defenders but flipped the ball to Johnson for the score...Had a 47-yard completion to Bucky Brooks which set up that TD.

Was 14 for 17 for a career-high 288 yards and two scores vs. Maryland...Had an 11-yard TD pass to Brooks, a 56-yard scoring strike to Corey Holliday and a 68-yard pass to DeLong vs. the Terps...Set UNC single-game records vs. the Terps with a pass efficiency rating of 263.5 and 16.9 yards per pass attempt...All 14 completions in that game were in the first half.

Was seven for 11 for 85 yards and a TD vs. number-one ranked Florida State before he was forced out of the game in the second half with a shoulder injury...Gave UNC a 7-0 lead on FSU with a 28-yard TD to Brooks...Saw limited work in practice the next week and did not start at N.C. State...Came into the game, however, on the second series after Mike Thomas left with an injury...Completed 12 of 17 for 96 yards and again mastered the option as UNC beat the Wolfpack...Had a marvelous, 18-yard run on a third-and-15 play in the third quarter which set up the Tar Heels' last TD...Rushed for 61 yards and threw for another 172 vs. Wake Forest...Engineered a late, first-half drive in which UNC marched 92 yards in 11 plays and was capped by a 16-yard TD pass to Marcus Wall.

Was at his best at Georgia Tech as he completed 12 of 16 for 152 yards, including a 34-yard TD to Brooks...He released the ball just before he was hit by a blitzing linebacker...Led UNC to scores on all five drives on which he played vs. the Yellow Jackets...Was 14 for 27 for 172 yards at Virginia and scored UNC's only TD on a one-yard run...Completed 15 of 25 for 221 yards and one TD and rushed for 51 yards in the 24-0 win over Clemson...Had a 28-yard TD to Brooks...Rushed for a 26-yard TD and threw a 42-yard scoring pass to Holliday at Tulane...Completed 17 of 25 for 256 yards, his second-highest yardage total ever, against Duke...Had a 29-yard TD pass to Leon Johnson to tie the game at 7-7 and put UNC in the lead for good on a 49-yard TD to Brooks...Was incredible on the option attack vs. Duke, making pitches to set up a 37-yard run by Leon Johnson and Johnson's nine-yard TD run...On the latter, Stanicek ran six yards to the three and pitched the ball to a trailing Johnson who scored.

1993 Gator Bowl — Completed 19 of 35 passes for 225 yards against Alabama...Had a 50-yard completion to tight end Freddie Jones...Connected nine times for 125 yards with split end Corey Holliday...Hit Holliday with passes of 29 and 22 yards and Leon Johnson for 10 yards to set up the Carolina touchdown...The 19 completions are the most ever by a Tar Heel in a bowl game (previous was 18 by Matt Kupec in the 1979 Gator Bowl vs. Michigan)...The 225 yards marked the highest figure in Carolina bowl game records (previous was 215 by Nick Vidnovic in the 1972 Sun Bowl).

1992 — Completed 83 of 144 passes (57.6 percent) for 1,082 yards... Tossed four touchdown passes and was intercepted seven times...Was picked off just once, however, in 76 attempts over his last six games...Started six times...Started the opener at Wake Forest and was 12 for 18 for 161 yards...Led three touchdown drives and it was his fifth consecutive game with at least 100 yards passing...On his first play from scrimmage he hit Corey Holliday for 37 yards...Had a key third-down pass to Steven Jerry for 19 yards which set up a touchdown...Rushed six times for 104 yards in the win over Furman...Became the first UNC quarterback to rush for 100 yards in a game since Chuck Sharpe rushed for 100 against Virginia in 1978...He had a 55-yard run that night, the longest by a Tar Heel quarterback since Paul Miller rushed for 60 yards vs. Duke in 1970...He also had a 28-yard run vs. Furman...Played a terrific game against N.C. State as he completed 26 of 35 for 237 yards...He was picked off just once on a final-play desperation heave...The 26 completions were the second-most in one game in UNC history...He completed 14 straight passes at one point which tied Kevin Anthony's school record...He tied the game at 10-10 late in the first half on a remarkable, 10-yard scramble through the heart of the State defense.

Posted a second consecutive 200-yard day against Navy as he was 13 of 21 for 219 yards...First scoring pass of the season was a 65-yard screen to Randy Jordan vs. the Midshipmen...Had a 24-yard scramble for a first down on the Tar Heels' first scoring drive and then hit Holliday in the end zone for a 23-yard touchdown at Florida State...Threw a 37-yard touchdown to Holliday early in the second quarter to give Carolina a 10-7 lead over Virginia...Left the game late in the first half with a bruised knee...Did not play the next week against Georgia Tech...Came off the bench very late in the second quarter to spark a win at Maryland...Came in with 46 seconds left in the half and UNC behind 14-7...Scrambled for 18 yards to midfield, threw 22 yards to Randall Felton, and after an incompletion, hit Jerry for a 28-yard TD...Drive took all of 31 seconds...Later in the fourth quarter, he kept the winning drive alive with a third-and-12 pass play of 28 yards to Greg DeLong...Also had a 42-yard pass to Bucky Brooks in the third quarter which set up a go-ahead field goal.

1991 — Co-recipient of the Jeffrey Cowell Memorial Award as the Tar Heels' Most Outstanding First-Year Player...Took over the starting quarterback duties for the final four games of the season and led the Tar Heels to three wins...Plans were to red-shirt him, but he was called upon to add some spark to the Carolina offense...In the first four ACC games (without Stanicek) the Tar Heels averaged 296.8 yards per game; in the final three, they averaged 379 yards per game...Led wins over Maryland, South Carolina and Duke...Completed 54 of 95 passes for 501 yards...His completion percentage was .568...Threw three touchdown passes and four interceptions...Made his collegiate debut vs. Maryland and led UNC to a 24-0 win...Completed 12 of 18 passes for 104 yards and one TD against the Terps...Engineered touchdown drives of 80, 84 and 86 yards...Scrambled twice for first downs on third-and-long...Threw a four-yard TD pass over the middle to Corey Holliday late in the first half...That capped a 12-play, 80-yard drive.

His second appearance was no easy task as he faced Clemson in miserable, cold, wet weather in front of the national TV eyes of ESPN...Completed 14 of 28 passes against the Tigers for 100 yards...Was outstanding in the win over South Carolina, completing 14 of 24 for 119 yards...Threw for two touchdowns including the game-winning nine-yard toss to Joey Jauch early in the third quarter...Broke a 7-7 tie with a 19-yard TD pass to Randy Jordan...Was a combined nine for 11 for 90 yards on the Tar Heels' three scoring drives...Also threw a key block on Natrone Means' eight-yard scoring run in the second quarter...Was 14 for 24 for 178 yards in the big win over Duke...Connected on his longest pass play of the year, 29 yards to Holliday to set up a field goal for a 10-0 lead...A 26-yard fade route to Eric Blount led to UNC's third TD...Completed passes in the Duke game to seven different receivers and directed eight scoring drives, six for touchdowns and two for field goals.

High School — SuperPrep All-America quarterback at Rich East High...Threw for 2,030 yards and 20 touchdowns in 1990, completing 114 of 244 passes...Ran for 530 yards and 10 scores...Had 529 yards passing and 595 yards of total offense in his final game, both of which were state records...As a junior, threw for 1,986 yards and ran for 226...Threw for 19 TDs and scored 12 himself as Rich East finished 12-2, reaching the quarterfinals of the Illinois 5-A playoffs...In his career completed 296 of 524 passes for 4,409 yards and 42 touchdowns...Ran for 861 yards and 24 TDs...Two-time all-conference and all-area pick... All-state as a senior and area player of the year...Also chosen to the Detroit Free Press Best of The Midwest in 1990...Team MVP...Coached by Bob Lombardi...In addition to football, also lettered in basketball and base-

38 • ERIC THOMAS

Free Safety • 6-0, 200, Jr. • Hamlet, N.C.

Competing for a starting job in the secondary...Has been a good utility player his first two years and should see more playing time this fall...Enters preseason number two at free safety behind Jimmy Hitchcock but could start if Hitchcock returns to corner...Was a situation reserve last year and played a good bit in 1992 when injuries depleted the secondary of veterans...A very smart defender who makes few mistakes.

1993 — Missed the first four games of the season due to a shoulder injury which he suffered in preseason...Fractured his left shoulder blade...Played in the final eight regular-season games plus the Gator Bowl...Finished the year with three tackles and two pass breakups...Saw his most extensive action against Tulane, Clemson and Duke.

1992 — Played in every game for a total of 254 snaps...Started one game against Navy and played 59 downs in that contest...Was in on 36 plays against N.C. State as UNC was without injured starters Sean Crocker and Thomas Smith...Made 19 tackles, 13 primary, including one for a loss..Made seven tackles against the Wolfpack and Navy...1991 — Was red-shirted.

High School — Quarterbacked Richmond County to its third straight state 4-A championship in 1990 after playing running back as a sophomore and junior...Also played in the secondary as Richmond County compiled a three-year record of 44-1...Ran for 894 yards and threw for 907 more in 1990..Scored 15 touchdowns and passed for 12...SuperPrep

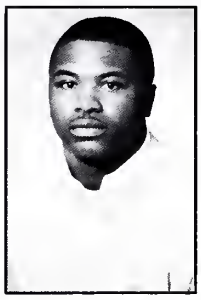
Quarterback/Punter • 6-2, 225, Jr. • Hamlet, N.C.



Very gifted two-sport athlete who plays two positions in football, as well...Plays both quarterback and punter for the Tar Heels...Was set back some last year due to a couple of injuries...Hopes to regain the form which made him one of the top freshmen performers in the country in 1992...Did not compete in spring drills this year as he chose to sit out the spring semester and concentrate on his professional baseball opportunities...Was drafted off the Baltimore Orioles roster last winter by the San Diego Padres in the minor league free agent draft...Played in the California League and the Midwest League for the Padres this summer.

Has the potential to be an outstanding collegiate football player...Has a very strong arm and good running ability...Was never 100 percent healthy last year and that affected both his passing and punting skills...Hopes to regain the form which made him the standout punter in the Atlantic Coast Conference...Has one of the strongest legs in the country...Muscle injury had an effect on his drops and delivery...Can hit the ball as high and far as any punter in the country.

Career — Has completed 78 of 158 career passes for 1,217 yards and four touchdowns...Averaged 41.0 yards for 89 career punts...Longest career kick was a 65-yarder in 1992...Longest career regular-season completion was a 49-yarder to Corey Holliday in the Florida State game in 1993...He also had a 53-yard completion to Bucky Brooks in the Peach Bowl.

1993 — Thomas made one start at quarterback last year, at N.C. State (fifth career start)...He was sacked on the first series, however, and suffered severely bruised ribs which forced him out of action for the rest of the game as well as the following week vs. UTEP...Completed 20 of 37 passes for 336 yards...Had a 47-yard touchdown throw to Brooks vs. Maryland...Was four of seven for 82 yards vs. the Terps...Came off the bench in relief of an injured Jason Stanicek vs. Florida State and was five for 12 for 90 yards...Completed eight of 14 passes over his last five games...Played at quarterback in 10 games in 1993...Did not play against UTEP or Virginia...Replaced Stanicek in the second half vs. Tulane and led the Tar Heels to two touchdown drives...With UNC ahead just 14-10, he moved UNC 80 yards in 13 plays and had two completions which converted third-down chances...Scored on a four-yard run late in the Tulane game.

Punted 31 times in 1993 for an average of 37.7 yards...He had a long punt of 56 yards...His best game was vs. Florida State when he averaged 41.6 yards on seven kicks...He also averaged 45.4 yards on four punts at Virginia.

Missed all of spring drills prior to the season as he was rehabilitating a left pectoralis muscle injury...Suffered a muscle injury while lifting weights in the off-season and underwent surgery March 3 to repair the tear...Did not play baseball in the spring or summer with the Baltimore Orioles.

1992 (Quarterback) — Proved to be one of the best young players in the college game...Selected as the Tar Heels' Most Outstanding First-Year Player...Completed 54 of 114 passes (47.4 percent) for 831 yards...Threw for three touchdowns and four interceptions...Also rushed 44 times for 171 yards and one touchdown...The 831 yards are the most by a UNC freshman passer, breaking Matt Kupec's record of 751 set in 1976...Set several other school records in a win over Duke, including most passing yards by a freshman (299), most yards per completion (27.2), most yards per attempt (16.6), most yards per play in total offense (11.0) and most total offense yards by a freshman (318)...His 299 yards passing vs. Duke was the seventh-most in Carolina history...He completed 11 of 18 passes for 299 yards and rushed 11 times for 19 yards...He threw two touchdown passes in the game, 29 yards to Bucky Brooks in the third quarter for a 24-21 lead, and 20 yards to Brooks with 2:03 to play for the game-winner...Completed four passes of 43 yards or longer vs. the Blue Devils...Had a 46-yard completion to Brooks which moved the ball to the Duke 23 late in the game and two plays later he hit Brooks on a crossing route for the touchdown.

Was named Atlantic Coast Conference Rookie of the Week for the third time following the Duke game...Also earned that award vs. Wake Forest and Georgia Tech...Started and went the distance in the 21-17 win over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl...Completed seven of 16 passes for 106 yards in the bowl game, including a 53-yard bomb to Brooks on the fourth play of the third quarter...In the season opener vs. Wake Forest, he came off the bench to hit five of six throws for 80 yards and scored on a 29-yard option keeper around left end...On his first drive at quarterback, he hit Corey Holliday with a 17-yard laser on third-and-nine and then connected with Brooks for 35 yards to the Wake five on third-and-long...Made his first career start against Furman...Came on late in the second quarter and led a touchdown drive against Virginia...Set up UNC's last touchdown vs. Virginia on an 11-yard draw play on third-and-10 at the UVa 18...Made his first ACC start the next week against Georgia Tech in front of an ABC regional audience...Completed 10 of 17 for 141 yards and his first collegiate touchdown and rushed for 51 yards on 12 carries....Hit Brooks for a 27-yard touchdown on UNC's first play from scrimmage...Nine of his 10 completions were for 10 or more yards...Ran for four first downs — twice on third down and twice more on fourth down...Rushed for 19 yards on fourth-and-one at the Tech 34 which led to a field goal and a 20-14 lead...Completed two third-down throws in the first TD drive at Maryland.

1992 (Punter) — First-team All-ACC punter...Named first-team Freshman All-America by Football News...Was among the nation's top statistical punters throughout the season...Became a better kicker as the year went on, especially in terms of downing the ball inside the opponents' 20-yard line...Punted 56 times for 2,415 yards, an average of 43.1 yards per kick...He had no kicks blocked and only one returned for a touchdown (Corey Sawyer of Florida State)...Averaged 40 yards or better in eight games...Had a long kick of 65 yards vs. Furman...Had 13 punts of 50 yards or longer and three for 60-plus...He had 17 punts killed inside the 20-yard line and the opposition began just one drive on Carolina's side of midfield the entire season after one of his kicks (Maryland, at the UNC 49).

14 • MARCUS WALL

Wide Receiver • 5-10, 165, Jr. • Fayetteville, N.C.

The most experienced and productive returning wide receiver...Slated to start at flanker...Has seen a lot of action in his first two seasons...Played some as a true freshman in 1992 and was on the field for an average of 29 plays a game last year...Set Carolina records for most kickoff returns and most kickoff return yards in 1993...Made some big plays both as a receiver and in the kicking game which broke open tight contests.

Had a great spring...Will be counted upon to provide leadership with so many new faces in the receiving corps...Is mature enough to handle that responsibility...A very consistent player who does everything well...Has very good hands, runs well with the ball and is a tenacious blocker.

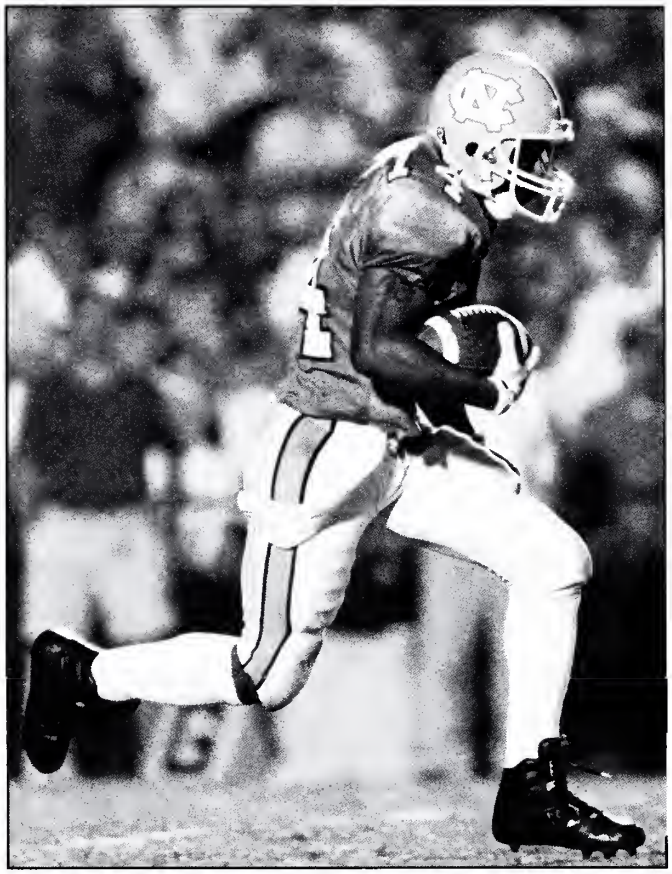
His average of 22.2 yards per kickoff return for his career is the eighth-highest average in Carolina history.

1993 — Was fourth on the team in receptions with 22...Averaged 11.6 yards per catch...Set UNC records for most kickoffs returned in one season (31) and most kickoff return yards in one season (734)...Had a 91-yard kickoff return against Duke, which is the longest non-scoring kick return in Carolina history...Was third in the ACC in kickoff return average...Had receptions in eight regular-season games with a season-high five at Virginia and four against Wake Forest and Duke...Caught a 16-yard touchdown pass with three seconds left in the first half vs. Wake Forest...Also scored on a six-yard run in the third quarter vs. Southern California...Knocked the Trojans' starting strong safety out of the game in the first quarter when the USC player was trying to make a tackle on Wall's 19-yard run...Wall's hit was one of the most memorable plays of the season.

Opened the second half at N.C. State with a 41-yard kickoff return which placed the ball at midfield...On the next play Curtis Johnson rushed 50 yards for the go-ahead touchdown and UNC never trailed again in that game...All four of his catches against Wake Forest were for first downs...Had receptions in that game for 16, 24, six and 23 yards...Four of his five catches at Virginia came in the fourth quarter.



1992 — Played in eight regular-season games plus the Peach Bowl...Saw action on 29 plays at Clemson and 21 in the Peach Bowl...Made one reception for 10 yards at Clemson...Also returned nine kickoffs for 151 yards, an average of 16.8 yards per return.

High School — Recorded the third-highest single-season rushing total in state prep history in 1991 with 2,501 yards at South View High...Played tailback and had 334 carries in 15 games...Scored 27 touchdowns on the ground...Finished the year with 29 total TDs and three conversions for 180 points...Averaged 9.4 yards on punt returns and 26.8 on kickoff returns...Team captain as a senior and conference player of the year...As a three-year starter, helped South View to a combined record of 30-8 and the 1991 state 4-A title...MVP in the state championship game as he rushed for 178 yards...Chosen for the Shrine Bowl and named all-state by the Associated Press and the Greensboro News & Record...Coached by Bobby Poss...Selected for the East-West All-Star Game...Member of a state championship 4x100 relay team...Personal — Born Marcus Terrell Wall on Dec. 10, 1973...Majoring in communication studies.

Chancellor Paul Hardin

The son of a Methodist minister by birth and a lawyer by training, Paul Hardin III found his life's calling in education. After 26 years as a college and university president, he stands out as one of the foremost chief executive officers in American higher education.

A North Carolina native, Hardin is the seventh chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, the nation's first state university, which ended an eight-month observance of its 200th anniversary last May.

Hardin came to Carolina in July 1988 after 13 years as president of Drew University in Madison, N.J., where he earned a reputation as sensitive to the needs of students, faculty, and staff, built a major library complex, and started a program that made computers accessible to every freshman, a first for a U.S. liberal arts school.

He was president of Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, from 1972 to 1974 and president of Wofford College in Spartanburg, S.C., from 1968 to 1972. Except for stints in the U.S. Army and as a practicing lawyer, Hardin has been associated with college campuses since entering Duke University at age 17.

In presenting the chancellor one of his eight honorary degrees this year, Duke called Hardin's career in higher education "an impressive demonstration of what can be accomplished through creative approaches to academic programs and unswerving dedication to high principle."

Similarly, Rider College called him "one of the finest college executives" of his time and cited his ability to generate "informed and sustained progress" at every campus he has headed.

Since taking the helm to lead the University through its Bicentennial, Hardin often has reminded the Carolina family that in the complex and highly competitive world of public higher education the future belongs to schools that command it — not to those that sit passively and wait for it to occur.

To command the future, Hardin believes Carolina must build new partnerships, celebrate diversity, and remain passionately committed to its time-honored mission of vital teaching, cutting-edge research, and distinguished public service. The chancellor's personal goal is to provide leadership that will keep Carolina among the nation's finest public research universities in the 21st Century. He meets that challenge by combining strong and thoughtful leadership with a refreshing sense of humor and a dynamic personal style.

Hardin was instrumental in persuading the 1991 N.C. General Assembly to give the state's public universities more flexibility to manage budgets and personnel. The chancellor has strengthened Carolina's own internal planning and budgeting processes. In 1990, Hardin started an intense yearlong review of the University's most critical long-term goals and strategies for reaching them. He headed a panel of faculty, administrators, and students that produced a 1992 report that is guiding planning for the University's third century.

Hardin devotes much of his time to helping raise private funds to ensure future excellence through the Bicentennial Campaign for Carolina, the largest fund-raising effort in University history. After exceeding its initial $320 million goal in March 1994, 16 months ahead of schedule, the campaign has set a new $400 million goal.

Hardin will step down as chancellor in June 1995 following successful completion of the campaign. Besides stunning success in fund raising, other hallmarks of the Hardin administration include making major efforts to improve and reward undergraduate and graduate teaching; taking great strides forward in faculty-conducted research, leading to dramatic gains in contract and grant funding; and strengthening training and public service programs for state leaders in education, government, health care, and other critical fields.

Hardin is a stalwart advocate of diversity on a campus that leads the nation in the number of black faculty members holding endowed professorships. "I believe that finding ways to celebrate our diversity may be the most important task on college and university campuses today," Hardin says. "A diverse society will continue to be a part of our lives, and we must always work toward that — at Carolina and beyond."

Improving American public education is high on the chancellor's personal agenda. He serves on the Board of Trustees of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, a policy center devoted to strengthening American education, with 24 prominent education and business leaders. Since 1991, Hardin has worked as a founding trustee of Educate America, a Morristown, N.J., organization chaired by Thomas Kean, former governor of New Jersey.

Hardin remains a leading national spokesman on higher education's most important issues, including athletic reform, a career-long interest. A charter member who recently was reappointed to a rare second term on the NCAA Presidents' Commission, he closely monitors reform proposals such as those made by the Knight Foundation Commission on Intercollegiate Athletics. At the chancellor's request, UNC trustees endorsed the commission's report. Many of the report's recommendations concerning academic and financial integrity were already in place at UNC.

He and Athletic Director John Swofford devised a unique plan to commit $1 million in post-season athletics revenues over five years to undergird academic programs.

Named one of the nation's 100 most effective university presidents in a 1986 study, Hardin has served as president of the National Association of Schools and Colleges of the United Methodist Church, and has chaired the National Commission on United Methodist Higher Education.

The study of law has been a guiding force throughout Hardin's career. After earning Phi Beta Kappa honors and an undergraduate degree from Duke in 1952, Hardin entered Duke law school, where he edited the law review and graduated first in his class. He served two years in the U.S. Army, then practiced law in Alabama before returning to Duke in 1958 to teach law for a decade. He is professor of law at Carolina.

Hardin, who was born in Charlotte, and his wife, Barbara, call several places in North Carolina home because they grew up as the children of Methodist ministers. During his youth, Hardin lived in Asheboro, Concord, High Point, Shelby, Wadesboro, and Waynesville. Barbara, also a Duke graduate, grew up in Goldsboro and lived in several other eastern North Carolina towns.

The Hardins have three children: Paul Russell Hardin of Atlanta, Ga., Sandra Mikush of Winston-Salem, and Dorothy Holmes of Birmingham, Mich. The chancellor is the son of Bishop Paul Hardin Jr. of Asheville and the late Dorothy Reel Hardin.

THE TAR HEEL STAFF

Athletic Director John Swofford

To those who follow the world of intercollegiate athletics closely, the fact that John Swofford is considered one of the best administrators in the nation comes as absolutely no surprise.

In his 14 years as the Director of Athletics at Carolina, Swofford has been instrumental in building UNC's program into one of the country's most respected entities. It is rare in this day and age that an intercollegiate athletic program can show the proper balance of outstanding academic performance, unquestioned integrity and ethical behavior, championship producing results and sound financial management. But Carolina's program excels in all of those areas.

"John Swofford is a superb athletic director," says UNC Chancellor Paul Hardin. "It is not surprising that Carolina fans agree on that proposition, because our athletic program is so obviously successful under his leadership. What I can report is that John's national reputation parallels the respect in which he is held at UNC. I am very active in the NCAA and I hear nothing but the highest compliments about John and the administrative and coaching strength he has built at Carolina. He is clearly among a small handful of athletic directors that are commonly acknowledged to be tops in the nation."

Swofford served last year as president of the National Association of Collegiate Director of Athletics (NACDA) and is also one of 14 members of the Executive Committee of the NCAA.

A 1971 Carolina graduate and recipient of the prestigious Morehead Scholarship, Swofford has a special interest in academics. He founded the office of athletic academic affairs in 1986, which has helped guide Carolina to record numbers on the Atlantic Coast Conference Honor Roll and the Dean's List. Carolina's football team has consistently been honored for graduating at least 70 percent of its players by the College Football Association and the men's basketball team has continued its remarkable rate of graduating its players while maintaining on-court excellence.

He planned the construction of the Student-Athlete Development Center as an addition to Kenan Fieldhouse. That building includes the most modern equipment to aid student-athletes in their studies and physical development.

During his tenure, UNC has claimed 94 Atlantic Coast Conference championships and 20 national collegiate titles. Carolina has won more ACC team titles than any other school in the league in each of the past seven school years. During the 1993-94 season, the Tar Heels won an ACC-record 11 championships, out of 23 contested, and also claimed national championships in women's soccer and women's basketball. No other school won more than three in that same year.

Swofford has a knack for selecting quality people. He has hired 11 of the 18 coaches who currently head UNC's athletic programs, including three who have won national championships (women's basketball coach Sylvia Hatchell, field hockey coach Karen Shelton and lacrosse coach Dave Klarmann), football coach Mack Brown, who has led UNC to consecutive bowl game appearances, and Dennis Craddock, who has directed the Tar Heel track and field program to 14 ACC titles over the last seven years. In addition, he has put together an administrative management team considered to be one of the finest in athletics.

"Certainly the success our teams have achieved is a point of pride, but I think the thing of which we are most proud is the quality of people in our program," says Swofford. "Winning on the field and seeing that our student-athletes advance towards a degree are the most tangible ways of identifying success, but we feel very comfortable with the quality of the persons who represent our University. Our coaches, athletes, administrators and staff are among the finest in the country and that very much is a point of pride, as well."

UNC has also enjoyed a tremendous growth in facilities during Swofford's tenure. In 1986, Carolina successfully completed a $34 million fund-raising drive to construct the Smith Center and Koury Natatorium. Swofford was also the driving force behind the expansion of Kenan Stadium in 1988 and the building of a new press box there.

Since Swofford became athletic director, the Cone-Kenfield Tennis Center, an indoor-outdoor facility, has been completed and dedicated; Boshamer Stadium has been expanded and renovated; three new holes have been completed at Finley Golf Course; the football practice fields have been reconstructed and lighted; a new Astroturf playing field has been installed; and a new track has been put down at Fetzer Field and the stadium there renovated.

Nationally, Swofford was named chairman of the NCAA Football Television Committee in 1984. He is a past chairman of the NCAA Communications and the NCAA Special Events/Postseason Bowl Committees. He has served three terms as chairman of the ACC Television Committee and currently chairs the ACC committee on women's soccer. He also was recently appointed to the newly formed NCAA Special Committee to Study a Division I-A Football Championship.

In May 1991, Swofford was honored with the North Carolina Scholastic Sports Unsung Hero Award for his strong support of high school sports. Swofford was cited for his strong leadership at Carolina, for lending unprecedented access to campus facilities for prep championships.

A native of North Wilkesboro, N.C., Swofford was a two-time all-state football player and a three-sport MVP at Wilkes Central High School. An honor student in high school, he majored in psychology and industrial relations at Carolina.

Swofford played quarterback and defensive back on Tar Heel football teams in 1969, 1970 and 1971. The 1970 team went to the Peach Bowl and the 1971 squad won the ACC title and played in the Gator Bowl. He was named to the ACC Honor Roll and Who's Who in College Athletics. He also served as president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes on campus. In 1973, he earned a master's degree in athletic administration from Ohio University.

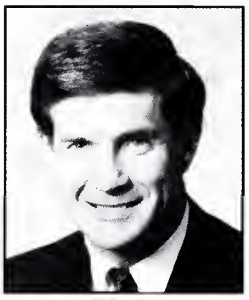
Swofford received the Distinguished Alumni Award from Ohio University in 1984. He has been inducted into the Order of the Golden Fleece, Carolina's highest honorary society. In 1989, Swofford became the first athletic director ever added to the Chancellor's Administrative Council at Carolina.

A regular jogger and avid baseball fan, Swofford enjoys reading, golf and tennis. He and his wife, Becky, have two children. Autumn, 17, is a junior in high school, and Chad, 15, a freshman.

Head Coach Mack Brown

North Carolina's Tar Heels have returned to the national football spotlight and much of the credit for the Tar Heels' emergence as one of the rising powers in the college game has to go to Mack Brown, the school's dynamic head coach.

In six years Brown and his staff have completely rebuilt the Carolina program. The going hasn't been easy, but the Tar Heels have now posted improved records in each of the past four years. No other school in the Atlantic Coast Conference has improved its record every year in that stretch.



Caught with slim talent and forced to play a number of true freshmen, Brown's first two teams each struggled on the field. Since then, however, Carolina has records of 6-4-1, 7-4, 9-3 and 10-3. Last fall marked only the fifth time in school history that a Tar Heel team had won at least 10 games.

Brown guided his team to a second-place finish in the ACC standings behind national champion Florida State. After being ranked among the top 12 teams in the country most of the year, Carolina was beaten by 1992 national champion Alabama in the Gator Bowl and ended the season rated 19th in the Associated Press and 21st in the USA TODAY/CNN polls.

That marked the Tar Heels' second straight Top 20 finish. Carolina was 18th and 19th in the final 1992 rankings. That season included wins over Top 20 opponents on consecutive weekends for the first time in school history and concluded with a dramatic 21-17 come-from-behind victory over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl.

How far has Brown brought the UNC program?

Well, despite the loss of 14 starters from last fall, Carolina is in virtually all the Top 20 preseason polls this year. That's an indication of the respect the Tar Heels once again have nationally.

"All that is really a tribute to the hard work put in by our players and assistant coaches over the past six years," he says. "Our program still isn't where we want it to be, but we're making progress."

While Carolina is once again enjoying success on the field, that has not come at the expense of failures in the classroom. UNC has won honorable mention from the College Football Association for six straight years for graduating at least 70 percent of its players.

All this is an indication Athletic Director John Swofford was correct in December 1987, when he recommended Brown to become the Carolina head coach.

However, the best may be yet to come. Brown has been around some of the top programs in the country and knows what it takes for Carolina to maintain the consistency those schools have had.

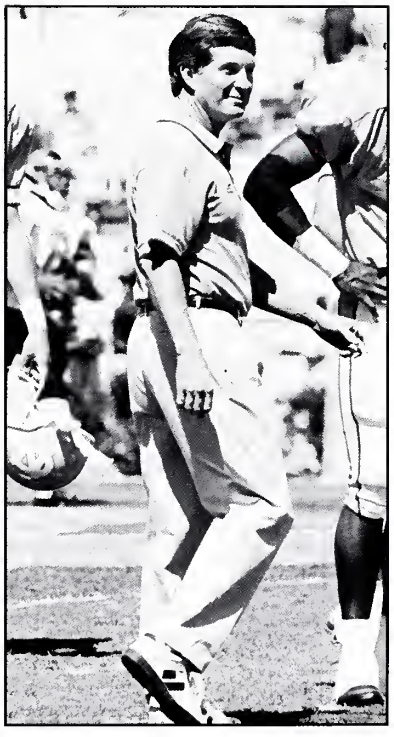
"We've made tremendous strides, but there is still work to be done," says Brown. "We want to be in a position to challenge for the conference championship and go to a bowl game every year. There's no reason we can't do that given all the things we have going for us at Carolina—great facilities, a tradition of excellence in athletics and one of the best academic institutions in the nation.

"We also want to do it in a first-class manner. That means having the highest of ethical standards, having our players get the quality education available at this institution and making the game enjoyable for them and our fans."

Brown certainly seems to have the Tar Heels headed on the right track.

"Mack has proven to be the perfect man for our program," says Swofford. "He's been going nonstop since the first day he walked on campus and it has really paid off. He's not only rebuilt our program, but also united our constituencies.

"Even in the early years when he was laying the foundation for the program, he was popular with our fans. He has a great ability to relate to people, from our oldest alumni to small kids. He understands what Carolina means to people who went here and that makes him so effective when talking to them. But, I've also seen him with groups of young children and he's great with them, too."



Brown became the Carolina coach on Dec. 15, 1987. After the early struggles came the breakthrough 6-4-1 season in 1990. The four straight winning seasons marks the first time Carolina has accomplished that feat since recording five in a row from 1979 to 1983 and making bowl appearances in each of those years.

This rejuvenation has not been easy, nor has it been done without a few falls along the way. Brown was forced to play untested freshmen in his first two seasons and that showed in UNC's record. But, the young head coach did not quit and the slow start did not quell the enthusiasm building around the Tar Heel program.

"From a won-loss standpoint we went through some tough times in the first two years and not once did Mack ever let down in his positive approach in terms of his players or any people surrounding the program," says Swofford. "He has a unique ability to remain positive, to keep people united and headed in a forward direction. I think he handled all that remarkably well.

"Consequently, I think people very much wanted him to succeed. And I think that's important when you're rebuilding. We did not have a program in great shape to hand him when he arrived and he has gone about rebuilding it in a way which should be long-lasting.

"I think it's important to remember that it's not as easy to rebuild a program as it was a few years ago. Scholarship cutbacks have really made it an incredible challenge."

Outgoing and personable, one of Brown's greatest strengths may simply be his integrity. When he says something, people know he means it.

That's one reason he's done such an outstanding job as a recruiter. He's honest and forthright in his dealings with his players. He has a good understanding of today's young people and can relate to them and their problems.

When he came to Chapel Hill, one of his first goals was to reestablish solid relationships with the state's high school coaches. He and his staff have done just that and UNC's football program is once again the dominant factor in the state.

As Brown's rebuilding program has begun to pay dividends on the field, it has also benefitted the players in it who have decided to try for careers in professional football. Over the past three seasons 14 Tar Heel players have been selected in the National Football League draft. Florida State is the only ACC school to have more players drafted in that period.

In addition, 15 other Carolina players have signed free agent contracts with NFL teams in the last two years and another was a second-round choice in the Canadian Football League draft.

"I've always had great respect for Coach Brown," says Natrone Means, who rushed for over 1,000 yards and won All-ACC honors in 1991 and 1992. "But, that increased when I had to make a very tough decision about whether to leave school early and enter the draft as a junior.

"He was supportive of me in every way possible and even made some calls for me to people he knew in the NFL. He never tried to influence me to come back for my final year, only to do what I decided was best for me and my family. He made me promise to finish work on my degree and I plan to do that."

Brown's concern for Means' education should be no surprise to those who know him and have watched Carolina practices. Players often come late or leave early because of classes. Clint Gwaltney, an Academic All-ACC place-kicker once touched on that in an interview.

"Coach Brown and his staff always put meeting the academic standards at Carolina first and foremost," said Gwaltney. "Coach Brown said academics first and football second, and when he said that, he really meant just that. He stressed that you go to class, made sure we had the finest academic advisors in the country and made sure we placed academics before football. That showed a lot about his integrity."

Brown came to Carolina from Tulane where he had rejuvenated the Green Wave's sagging football fortunes in just three years, taking his team to only its fifth bowl game since 1940 in his final season.

However, Brown may be best known for helping develop some of the most explosive offenses in college football. As an offensive coordinator and assistant, he directed record-setting attacks at Oklahoma, LSU and Iowa State.

Here at Carolina he has now coached four 1,000-yard rushers in the past three years, the school's all-time leading receiver in Corey Holliday and a quarterback, Jason Stanicek, who is threatening to break all of the Tar Heels' passing and total offense records.

Brown says he has three goals for the student-athletes who play for him.

"The number one thing is for each young person to get his degree," he says. "We also want them to do the best they can academically to prepare themselves for later life.

"The second thing is that we want to win. And last, but certainly not least, we want the young people to have fun."

Brown's last Tulane team certainly had fun in 1987, in completing one of the fastest turnarounds in the country. Brown went to Tulane on Dec. 16, 1984 as head coach and was also appointed the school's athletic director the following April. The Green Wave had suffered three straight losing seasons before Brown's arrival in New Orleans.

In his third season, he led Tulane to a 6-5 regular-season mark and earned a spot opposite Washington in the Independence Bowl. In the process, the Green Wave set school records for total offense and points. Tulane ranked 11th in the nation in scoring, averaging 32.5 points a game. Wide receiver Marc Zeno won first-team All-America honors and quarterback Terrence Jones was fourth nationally in total offense and 10th in passing.

Brown began his coaching career at Southern Mississippi in 1974, working with receivers for four seasons. He then spent one year coaching that same position at Memphis State.

At Iowa State, from 1979 to 1981, Brown served as receivers coach for one year and as offensive coordinator for the last two seasons. In his time as offensive coordinator the Cyclones broke 17 school and Big Eight Conference records and produced league leaders in rushing and total offense.

He then took an assistant's job at LSU where he ran the offense in 1982. The Tigers went 8-2-1 and played in the Orange Bowl. The "Mack Attack" was the second-most improved offense in the nation that fall, averaging over 400 yards a game.

That led to his first head coaching job at Appalachian State. In 1983, at the age of 32, he directed the Mountaineers to a 6-5 record. However, he left after that one season when offered a job he couldn't refuse— the offensive coordinator's position at Oklahoma.

In his one year on Barry Switzer's staff, the Sooners were 9-2-1, won the Big Eight Championship and earned a berth in the Orange Bowl. Brown helped Oklahoma develop its best passing attack in years to go along with its always potent option-oriented running game. Brown coached quarterbacks Danny Bradley, a first-team All-Big Eight selection, and Troy Aikman, the star signal-caller of the Dallas Cowboys. His success there helped lead to the Tulane job.

A native of Cookeville, Tenn., Brown attended Vanderbilt and Florida State. He lettered twice as a running back for the Seminoles in 1971 and 1972. He finished work on his bachelor's degree in education at FSU in 1974. While there, he coached receivers and the junior varsity. He earned his master's degree in administration from Southern Mississippi in 1976.

Brown, born Aug. 27, 1951, was a three-sport star at Putnam County High School, lettering three times in football. He won all-state and All-America honors in the sport and was selected one of the nation's top 100 running backs by Scholastic Magazine in 1968. He was class president and a Who's Who in America choice.

Highly respected by his peers, Brown served last year on the American Football Coaches Association's Ethics Committee. He also served as chairman of the AFCA committee which puts together the organization's summer manual, and currently is on the Football Rules Committee.

Mack and his wife, Sally, have four children— Matt (19), Katherine (17), Barbara (14) and Chris (12).

He also is the marketing director for the Dean Smith and Mack Brown TV and radio shows, coordinates halftime shows and negotiates media contracts.

Savod coordinated the athletic department's negotiations for radio and TV properties, game programs and other sponsorships.

He was one of the first fulltime sports marketing directors in the country and designed the "Carolina Fever" campaign in the late 1970s which helped sell out Kenan Stadium for 12 consecutive years. He is a frequent speaker on sponsorship sales and blitz advertising at sports marketing seminars.

Savod and his wife Judy, a member of the Durham County Board of Equalization and Review, have two children, Suzanne, a UNC graduate, and Jason, a graduate of Franklin and Marshall.

Athletic Staff

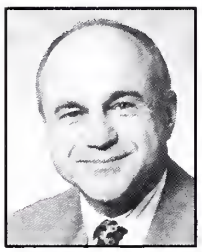
Assistant Athletic Director for Business and Finance

Martina Kendrick Ballen is in her eighth year as Director of Athletic Business and Finance at the University of North Carolina and her fourth as an assistant athletic director. She is responsible for developing and implementing basic operating procedures pertaining to appropriate financial controls for the department. She supervises the control of departmental budgets, the payment and receiving of all departmental funds and the business office staff. In addition, she must approve all departmental expenditures.

Ballen earned her Bachelor of Science degree in business administration at North Carolina in 1980 and her Master of Business Administration degree from the Babcock School of Management at Wake Forest University in 1984.

Ballen worked as a credit analyst at NCNB National Bank of North Carolina in Raleigh in 1984 and then was a commercial branch manager at the Chapel Hill office of NCNB from 1985-87.

The Southern Pines, N.C. native is married to Dwayne L. Ballen, a sportscaster for WTVD-TV, the ABC affiliate in Durham, N.C. They have one son, Julian Kendrick, born Aug. 31, 1993.



Rick Brewer

Assistant Athletic Director for Sports Information and Public Relations

Rick Brewer is in his 27th year in the Carolina Sports Information Office and his 20th as its director.

Brewer is a native of North Carolina, growing up in Winston-Salem and Greensboro. He is a 1971 Carolina graduate with a degree in journalism. In July 1991, he was inducted into the College Sports Information Directors of America Hall of Fame. Brewer is a vice-president of CoSIDA.

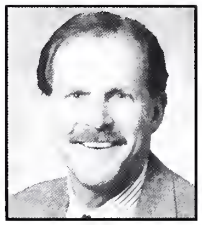
A student assistant in the sports information office for three years, Brewer was named the school's first assistant SID upon graduation. He held that position for four years and then was named sports information director in 1975. He was promoted to assistant athletic director for sports information and public relations in July 1990.

Brewer is directly in charge of publicity for Carolina's football and men's basketball teams. In addition, he oversees the publicizing of the University's entire 26-sport program.

In 1984, Brewer served as a press officer for the United States Olympic Committee at the Summer Olympic Games in Los Angeles. In that role, he served as a liaison between the media covering the Games and the American athletes and coaches. He has handled similar duties at two U.S. Olympic Festivals—at Indianapolis in 1982 and on the Carolina campus in 1987.

For the past 11 years, Brewer has been a member of the Media Coordination Committee which assists the media at the Final Four of the NCAA Men's Basketball Championships.

He is a member of the Football Writers Association of America, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association and the College Sports Information Directors of America.



John Blanchard

Director of Athletic Academic Affairs

John Blanchard is beginning his 10th year as director of athletic academic affairs at Carolina. In this position, Blanchard heads up the Tar Heel academic support program for student-athletes.

A native of Sacramento, Calif., Blanchard is a 1975 graduate of Stanford University where he was a 1974 first-team All-West Coast Conference free safety. He obtained his master's degree from San Diego State in 1981.

In Blanchard's first five years at Carolina, the number of Carolina student-athletes on the ACC Honor Roll doubled, from 85 in 1985-86 to 170 in 1989-90. In 1992-93 a UNC record 186 student-athletes were named to the ACC Honor Roll. In addition, the College Football Association has honored the last six UNC classes for graduating over 70% of its players.

Blanchard is a member of the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletics (N4A), represents UNC in the National Consortium for Academics and Sports, and serves on a number of UNC committees.

Blanchard is married to the former Dawn London. They have a daughter, Janel, and two sons, Shaun and Gabriel.

Brian Davis

Athletic Academic Coordinator

Brian Davis begins his 10th year on the North Carolina staff, serving as athletic academic coordinator.

Davis works as the primary academic counselor for the Carolina football team. In that role, he advises players in the area of course selection and scheduling, career planning and rules and regulations pertaining to eligibility.

In addition, Davis monitors the academic progress of the players throughout the school year. His work has paid off as Carolina has graduated over 70 percent of its football players in seven of the last eight years.

Davis also coordinates and supervises the operation of the Student-Athlete Development Center, scheduling and overseeing study halls and language and computer labs. He assists John Blanchard in running the entire UNC Academic Affairs program.

Prior to coming to Chapel Hill, he worked as an assistant athletic academic counselor at Iowa State. A 1981 graduate, Davis received both his B.A. and master's of science from Iowa State. He was a three-year letterman of the Cyclones' Big Eight championship track team, competing as a long jumper and sprinter.

Davis, an avid golfer and fisherman, is married to the former Brenda Perry. The couple has twins sons, Spencer and Cameron.

Bruce Hemphill

Assistant to the Athletic Director

Entering his fourth full season at the University of North Carolina is 38-year-old Bruce Hemphill. He joined the Tar Heel staff just prior to the end of the 1990 season as recruiting coordinator and held that position until this year. He now handles matters of compliance and other projects as assigned by the athletic director.

Hemphill is in his 17th season as a college coach or administrator. He is a 1977 graduate of Louisiana State University where he lettered three years in football and won All-Academic Southeastern Conference honors at wide receiver. He served as a graduate assistant in 1977-78 and was the Tigers' recruiting director in 1979. Hemphill earned his master's in education administration at LSU in 1979. He then served as LSU's head junior varsity coach, the coordinator of graduate assistants and director of computer scouting from 1980-83. Hemphill became the supervisor for Health and Physical Education for the Louisiana Department of Education in 1984.

Following a short stint there he worked as an assistant coach in charge of wide receivers at Louisiana Tech for two seasons. He was recruiting coordinator at N.C. State from 1987 to 1989. He then became the assistant recruiting coordinator at South Carolina and held that post until he came to Chapel Hill in November 1990.

Bruce was born on Christmas Day 1955, in Sulphur, La., where he was an all-state prepster at Sulphur High. He is married to the former Susan Jones.

Willie Scroggs

Assistant Athletic Director for Operations

Willie Scroggs is beginning his 14th year as the Assistant Athletic Director for Operations at the University of North Carolina. Scroggs, who retired following the 1990 season after 12 years as Carolina's head lacrosse coach, now devotes his entire attention to his duties in athletic administration. He oversees all game operations for football, men's basketball and the 24 non-revenue sports at Carolina as well as supervising all outdoor facilities and the athletic dining hall.

The Baltimore, Md. native came to Carolina in 1978 as head lacrosse coach after being an assistant football and assistant lacrosse coach at his alma mater, Johns Hopkins University, for six seasons. At Carolina, Scroggs worked as assistant business manager and assistant to the athletic director, for three years before accepting his present position. He was also assistant director of the Smith Center from 1986-90. He was the tournament director for the NCAA Wrestling Championships held at the Smith Center in 1994.

Scroggs' 12 lacrosse teams compiled a record of 120-37, a winning percentage of .764. He led Tar Heel teams to their first NCAA and ACC championships in the sport, winning national crowns in 1981, 1982 and 1986 along with six ACC titles.

Scroggs served on the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Committee for six years, including as chairman in 1987-88. He is a 1965 alumnus of Baltimore's City College High School and a 1969 Johns Hopkins graduate. He played lacrosse on three Blue Jay national championship teams as a midfielder.

Scroggs is married to Karen Shelton, Carolina's head field hockey coach. They have a son, William Alexander, born in March 1990. Scroggs also has two daughters, Betsy, 20, a student at Johns Hopkins University, and Emily, 16, from a previous marriage.

John Lotz

Assistant Athletic Director for Campus and Comunity Relations

John Lotz is now in his 15th year as an assistant athletic director at the University of North Carolina. He presently serves in the role of Assistant Athletic Director for Campus and Community Relations.

In that role, he coordinates a speaker's bureau for the UNC Department of Athletics.

Lotz received both his bachelor's and master's degree from East Texas State University. On the college level, Lotz began his career serving as the top assistant basketball coach at Carolina to Smith for eight years. During his tenure, the Tar Heels won four Atlantic Coast Conference championships, four NCAA Eastern Regional titles, one NIT title and made four trips to the NCAA Final Four.

In 1972, the Flushing, N.Y. native was named head basketball coach at the University of Florida. In 1973, he was named Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year in his rookie season with the Gators. In 1977, his Florida team went 17-9 and he was honored with the SEC Coach-of-the-Year award from UPI while his fellow coaches also voted him the prestigious Adolph Rupp Award given to the league's top coach.

Lotz attended Baylor University before transferring to ETSU. Lotz and his wife, Vicki, have two daughters, Corrie and Laci.

Monk Tomlinson

Assistant Athletic Director

Monk Tomlinson is in his fourth full year as an assistant athletic director. In his role, Tomlinson oversees management of the football office operations, including the budget, housing, travel, meals, Kenan Fieldhouse and special events.

Tomlinson moved into the administrative position prior to the 1990 season after he served for two years as interior line coach for two seasons with the Tar Heels. He was one of five assistant coaches Brown brought to Chapel Hill when hired in December 1987. He had been a member of the Green Wave staff for three seasons.

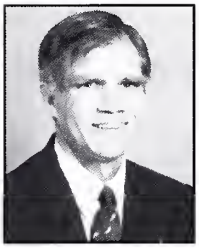
A 1959 graduate of William & Mary, he began his coaching career at Maryville College in Tennessee. He was the offensive line coach there from 1959 to 1963. He then served as the school's head coach until 1971.

From 1971 to 1973, Tomlinson was offensive backfield coach at Tennessee Tech. He then spent 11 years at Northeast Louisiana before moving on to Tulane.

A native of Norfolk, Va., Tomlinson was a three-year starter at William & Mary at offensive guard and linebacker. He received a master's degree from Tennessee in 1971.

Tomlinson is married to the former Shirley Ann Burgess. They have two children, Julie Ann and John Curtis.

Medical Staff



Dan Hooker

Head Football Athletic Trainer/ Coordinator of Physical Therapy, Athletic Training

Dan Hooker is heading into his sixth season as head athletic trainer for the University of North Carolina football team. Hooker has been on the Carolina athletic training staff since 1972.

In addition to his work with the gridiron Tar Heels, Hooker also coordinates athletic training and physical therapy at Carolina. He has held that position since 1984.

A native of Danville, Va., Hooker initially came to Chapel Hill to direct the physical education department athletic training education program. He has served as head trainer for a number of Tar Heel teams, including football. He has worked with four lacrosse national championship teams.

Hooker earned his Bachelor of Science degree in physical therapy from the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond in 1967. He also received a Master of Science degree in secondary education from the University of Southern California in 1971 and Ph.D in education from Carolina in 1981. He became a Board Certified Sports Physical Therapist in 1987.

Dan and his wife, Sharon, have two sons, Sean and Stefan.

Dr. Timothy Taft

Director of Sports Medicine

Dr. Timothy Taft serves as the team orthopaedic surgeon and Director of Sports Medicine at the University of North Carolina. Taft has worked at Carolina for the past two decades.

Taft, a native of St. Louis, Mo., received his A.B. degree from Princeton University in 1964 and his M.D. from the University of Missouri in 1969. He completed his residency in orthopaedic surgery at Carolina in 1974.

Taft holds one of only two endowed professorships in sports medicine in the United States, the Max Novich Distinguished Professor of Sports Medicine chair. He is a member of the American Orthopaedic Society for Sports Medicine, the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons, the Committee on the Medical Aspects of Sports for the North Carolina Medical Society and is an examiner for the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery.

Taft served as team physician for the 1979 U.S. Pan American Games Team and the 1980 U.S. Olympic Team and as head physician for the 1981 U.S. World University Games Team. He has served as a team physician for U.S. basketball teams which have competed in the 1980 Olympics, 1981 World University Games, 1982 FIBA International Tournament, 1986 Men's World Championships and 1990 Women's World Championships.

Taft and his wife, Judy, have two children-Todd, 20, a member of the UNC band, and Becky, 15.

Dr. Bryan Smith

Head Team Physician

Dr. Bryan Smith is in his first full season as a team physician having joined the UNC staff this past spring. Smith, a 1979 graduate of the University of North Carolina with a B.A. in chemistry, received his medical degree from Duke University in 1988.

A Clinical Assistant Professor of Pediatrics and Orthopaedics at UNC, Smith was an assistant team physician at UCLA from 1991-93 while completing a sports medicine fellowship. He also was team physician for the United States Women's Select Basketball Team which won the gold medal at the R. William Jones Cup in Taiwan in 1992.

A native of New Bern, N.C., Smith was a North Carolina Merit and Carle C. Conway Scholar. He received his M.A. in exercise physiology from UNC in 1982 and earned a Doctor of Philosophy in that field from Michigan State in 1984.

He was a resident in UNC's Department of Pediatrics from 1988-91. Smith is a member of the American College of Sports Medicine, the American Medical Society for Sports Medicine, Sigma Xi Scientific Research Society, is a Fellow in the American Academy of Pediatrics, and is on a committee on the medical aspects of sports for the North Carolina Medical Society. He is married to Dr. Molly Froelich Smith, herself a 1979 UNC graduate who earned her medical degree at Carolina in 1988.

Team Physician

Dr. Gregory Tuttle begins his 13th year as team physician, providing comprehensive medical care to UNC's 26 varsity teams as well as the general student body. Dr. Tuttle serves as Adjunct Assistant Professor of Family Medicine and Adjunct Clinical Assistant Professor of Orthopaedics in the North Carolina School of Medicine.

A Morehead Scholar, Tuttle was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa in 1973 and was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1974 with a B.A. in chemistry. He earned his medical degree at UNC in 1978. He is a Board Certified Family Physician and Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians.

He is certified in sports medicine and should also complete examinations in 1994 in emergency medicine, giving him board certifications in three distinct medical specialties.

Following a Family Practice residency at the University of South Carolina in 1981, Tuttle served as Director of the Emergency Room in Stuart, Va.. He has accumulated more than 10,000 hours in emergency medicine and has maintained his certification in Advance Cardiac Life Support and Advance Trauma Life Support. Tuttle assumed his current role at the UNC Student Health Service in October 1982, serving as president of the medical staff since 1989.

A native of Winston-Salem, N.C., Tuttle is married to Dianne Daniels Tuttle. The couple has four sons, Trevor Stuart, 10; Nathan Forrest, 8; Matthew Josiah, 5; and, Devon Micah, 3.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

Educational Foundation

What is the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation is the oldest foundation on the UNC campus and holds a status comparable to the Business Foundation, the Medical Foundation and other fund-raising organizations working for the benefit of the University.

What is the purpose of the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation was established to offer financial aid to worthy student-athletes seeking an education at the University of North Carolina and to support the University's athletic program by providing services and funds for the construction of facilities or purchase of equipment.

How much support does the Educational Foundation actually provide? Since its founding in 1938, the Educational Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, to over 6,000 student-athletes. Nearly 400 will be awarded scholarships during the 1994-95 school year at a cost of approximately $4 million.

Is the Educational Foundation similar to a booster club? Absolutely not. It is a foundation in every sense of the word. The Educational Foundation operates in compliance with all rules and regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference. It is a tax-exempt entity as recognized by the Internal Revenue Service.

What are the different levels of giving to the Educational Foundation?

Little Ram ($50) — Contributions of any amount are welcome, however, individuals contributing $50 or more have the opportunity to purchase season football tickets, gain access to the Rams Room in Kenan Fieldhouse for home football games, purchase mini-season basketball ticket packages when available and participate in the ticket exchange, purchase group travel packages, receive football and basketball media guides, basketball team calendars upon request, the RamPage Newsletter, car window decals and invitations to annual Foundation functions which feature Carolina coaches as guest speakers.

Ram ($150) — In addition to that above, a Little Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase four season football tickets, the location of which is subject to the point system.

Rameses ($300) — In addition to the benefits received at the Little Ram level, a Rameses donor has the opportunity to purchase two season football tickets in a selected location; additional tickets may be purchased, the location of which is subject to the point system.

Big Ram ($600) — In addition to the benefits received at the Little Ram level, a Big Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase four season football tickets in a selected location and receive an assigned parking space.

Super Ram ($1,200) — In addition to the benefits received at the Little Ram level, a Super Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase up to eight season football tickets in a selected location and receive an assigned parking space.

Can a donor contribute in ways other than through the annual giving program? Yes. Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program consists of $15,000 and $30,000 life memberships as well as $40,000 and $75,000 endowed scholarships which may be set up through various giving vehicles.

Does the Foundation have chapters at the local level? There are currently 45 local Educational Foundation chapters which meet once a year. Many of the coaches attend these gatherings, giving donors an early opportunity to hear about recruiting, prospects for the upcoming season and schedules.

Who provides the leadership for the Educational Foundation? The Foundation's outside officers include a Chairman, three Vice-Chairmen, a Secretary, Treasurer, Assistant Treasurer, Counsel and Past Chairman. These officers, together with the at-large members and an Investment Committee, comprise the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee is the decision-making body of the Educational Foundation and reports its actions to the Board of Directors.

The leadership within the Foundation office is provided by Moyer G. Smith. He is in his eighth year as President. He was appointed to the position in December 1986, replacing Ernie Williamson. There are also three vice-presidents within the office: John D. Cherry, Executive Vice-President; Neal B. Harrell, V.P. for Donor Services; and Sue Walsh Stankavage, V.P. for Endowment. Effective August 1992, Ernie Williamson retired as V.P. for Endowment but continues to serve as a consultant to the Foundation.

Where are the Educational Foundation offices located? The offices are located in the Maurice J. Koury Natatorium adjacent to the Dean E. Smith Center.

How can one become a contributor to the Educational Foundation? By contacting the Educational Foundation at (919) 962-2393 or by writing P.O. Box 2446, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27515.

Academic Support System

At the University of North Carolina, athletes are still first and foremost students. While most universities make that claim, Carolina can prove it.

In October 1986, North Carolina opened its doors to its new Student-Athlete Development Center, located at the east end of Kenan Stadium, adjacent to Kenan Fieldhouse. The Center is a 10,000 square-foot state-of-the-art academic facility that sets the standard for other universities to follow.

"The Department of Athletics has always been committed to academics," says John Blanchard, director of athletic academic affairs. "But they felt they needed to make a tangible sign of their commitment by putting in a building that could really serve the students, and they went about doing it in a first-class manner. They erected the best building of its kind in the country."

The academic center boasts an impressive array of facilities for the benefit of all Tar Heel athletes in the 26-sport program. Included in the building, convenient to dorms and classrooms alike, are 20 computers, several study rooms, a language lab with tape players, seven tutorial rooms, a large classroom which can be divided into two smaller ones and a 128-seat auditorium, used for seminars and lectures.

The center has recently added 10 new Macintosh computers and two laser printers as well as a variety of software packages which include word processing programs, spreadsheets and tutorials. The center has now has the latest and most up-to-date computer systems in place.

Also, Blanchard has assembled an enthusiastic and highly competent staff which includes Brian Davis, the primary academic advisor for the football team, Jan Boxill, Kathy Jarvis, Janice Hilliard and Bonnie Levit.

"The academic success of student-athletes is most directly attributed to the students themselves, but we have an outstanding staff, dedicated and professional and very caring individuals.

"When students struggle in college," says Blanchard, "95 percent of the time that struggle is in their freshman year, and that's due to all the adjustments they need to make. We have a program and staff that aids in those adjustments and minimizes the struggle.

"It involves getting our students fully acquainted with the University and the resources available to them. They learn about what we have to offer, the University advisory system, the University processes and procedures — everything that's available to them academically."

To try and ensure that athletes will not run into early academic difficulty, Blanchard and his able staff teach the freshmen necessary study skills, such as note taking and time management, and all freshman football players are required to attend study hall every night Sunday through Thursday at the Center. On those nights, tutors are available to assist the student-athletes in a variety of subjects. Also, a Freshman Academic Success seminar is held weekly in the fall and is required of all freshman athletes.

The Center is open from 8 a.m. to midnight during the week and from 6 p.m. to midnight on Sundays. During those hours, the facility is in almost constant use.

"Our students make great use of it," says Blanchard. "They use it for a variety of purposes and they use it throughout the day." Blanchard estimates that in any given week, that at least half of the University's 650 athletes use the Center.

The statistics bear out the fact that the Center has made an impact. In seven of the last eight years, and in all six of Mack Brown's years in Chapel Hill, the Tar Heels have received honorable mention recognition from the College Football Association for graduating at least 70 percent of its football players. The CFA uses a five-year period from matriculation to graduation to base its awards.

In the last six years, Carolina has placed 27 players on the Atlantic Coast Conference All-Academic Team. The Carolina football team has doubled the number of players named to the ACC Academic Honor Roll in the last eight years.

In 1991 Randy Jordan earned an award for academic and athletic excellence from the National Association for Academic Advisors for Athletes. In 1992 Corey Holliday was named to the Hitachi/CFA Scholar-Athlete Team. Holliday, a business major, was the only player from the ACC to be named to the team which also included Heisman Trophy winner Gino Torretta of Miami. Holliday also was a recipient of the ACC Weaver-James Postgraduate Scholarship.

Blanchard emphasizes that the Student-Athlete Development Center is only "one concrete way in which things have become better. The Department of Athletics also inititiated moving the academic support program out of the Department of Athletics administratively, and into the College of Arts and Sciences. That has put us under the supervision of the University, which has been a very positive move."

Under Mack Brown, the football program has renewed its resolve to to provide the best education possible for its students.

"The football program is in a position now where we are really doing things to maximize the academic opportunities here," says Blanchard.

"Coach Brown has been very supportive and creative in developing academic standards for the team, and pressing the players to reach those standards. That's been very helpful to us as a program."

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

Strength and Conditioning

The University of North Carolina strength and conditioning program underwent a new look last year, in attitude and philosophy, as well as in its physical appearance. And the advancements thus far have been nothing short of spectacular.

Jeff Madden joined the Tar Heels following the 1993 Peach Bowl and brought with him an enthusiastic, spirited style. Madden, an assistant athletic director, and assistant strength and conditioning director George Smith, made structural and philosophical changes in the Tar Heels' strength and conditioning regimen which bolstered the advancements made the first five years of the Mack Brown era at Carolina.

Madden was a key element in the University of Colorado's rise to national prominence in the late 1980s. A former offensive lineman at Vanderbilt and a member of the USFL's Memphis Showboats in 1984, Madden joined the Buffaloes in 1989 and was on hand as the Colorado won three consecutive Big Eight titles and was co-national champion in 1990.

Madden is not your average strength coach. He also teaches plyometrics, flexibility, mental toughness, nutrition, stretching, Proprioceptive Neuro-Muscular Facilitation (PNF), rehabilitation techniques and motivation. He is certified by International Sports Science Associations, the National Association of Speed and Explosion, and Peak Performance USA. He is a well-sought after clinician and motivational speaker.

Explosion is a key component to the Tar Heels' new regimen. Speed and explosion go hand in hand and Madden's football background serves him well in his training methods.

The Tar Heels have deemphasized a power style of training and instead installed a program which centers around speed, explosive power and flexibility.

"There is a big difference in philosophies," says Madden. "Now we are concentrating on flexibility, we concentrate on explosion. We mimic the exercises that they perform on the football field.

"The difference is more between power and explosion then between power and strength. You can be a 400-pound bench press guy and not be able to run. Then you don't have explosion. Speed and strength equals explosion. What we try and do is cross-formulate the two."

"It's vital to know how each of the positions have to move. The key for us is to get our linemen running like linebackers, our linebackers running like defensive backs and our wide receivers and backs running like Carl Lewis."

Jeff Madden,
Director of Strength and Conditioning

Going along with changes in philosophy go adaptations and adjustments in the physical elements of the weight room itself.

"We have made tremendous physical changes around here," says Madden. "This was basically a nautilus-oriented gym and what we did was move the majority of those nautilus machines out and turn us into a free weight team. Now we are using explosive lifts like power cleans and snatches."

Madden does prefer the free weight system to the nautilus approach and says the extra benefits the free weights allow can be applied more readily to the game of football.

"A nautilus machine takes you through the same range of motion every time," Madden says. "When lifting a free weight you can go out of that range of motion. It is undetermined which way it is going to go. In a bench press or military press your left arm may not be as strong as your right therefore you have to overcompensate or work on that arm. Free weights allow that.

"It's just like playing against a defensive lineman. One play he may go left, the next he may go right or he may come right at you, you never know. Free weights help you overcome weaknesses. That's why we use explosive movements with our free weights and dumbbells."

Madden has identified the football specific movements and applied his training techniques to them.

"Football is short, quick and powerful. If we were training long distance runners we would use more endurance exercises. But since we are training football players we have more quick and explosive exercises. We do use endurance as a foundation, though.

"Flexibility plays a big part because the more you can stretch a muscle then the more it can grow. If you have greater flexibility then you can improve your running technique and when you do that you can increase your speed and quickness and strength. Then you can have a pretty good football player."

Madden's football playing background is obviously a positive influence, as well.

"Knowing exactly what it was like to be in the trenches and understanding what the game is all about has helped me tremendously," says Madden. "It's vital to know how each of the positions have to move. The key for us is to get our linemen running like linebackers, our linebackers running like defensive backs and our wide receivers and backs running like Carl Lewis.

"I can see in a drill whether a guy is getting beat by a strong move or a quick move. I can watch and tell if a player is getting beat on a particular side and then help him work to correct that deficiency.

"The bottom line is all I ask is that they work as hard and as diligently as they can every time they're in here."

Kenan Memorial Stadium

Nestled among the tall pine trees near the center of the Carolina campus is Kenan Stadium. It is here in this natural valley that Tar Heel football teams have played for 67 years.

Kenan Stadium is generally regarded as one of the most beautiful football venues in the nation. Considering its majestic setting among the Carolina pines, many say it is the most beautiful.

One national sports magazine rated Kenan one of the five best places in America to watch a college football game. For scenery, atmosphere and charm, it can not be surpassed.

The stadium has been expanded several times since its completion in 1927. In each instance, though, great care was taken to keep its fundamental beauty intact.

The most recent expansion took place prior to 1988 and involved adding 2,000 choice seats between the 40-yard lines where the press box and chancellor's box formerly stood.

A new press box was constructed on top of the upper deck on the stadium's south side. It is a one-level elongated structure, running from 10-yard line to 10-yard line. It is one of the finest facilities of its kind in the nation.

Also part of the project were a permanent lighting system, a chancellor's lounge on the north side of the field and a football lettermen's lounge on the south side. The lights are a General Electric low-mount system which minimizes the height of the lightpoles. A similar system is used at Soldier Field, home of the Chicago Bears.

Cost of the entire project was $7 million. It was funded by private gifts and bonds.

"Kenan Stadium is aesthetically a very special sports arena and a great deal of thought was given to these improvements," says Athletic Director John Swofford. "Their aim is to maintain and even enhance the beauty of the stadium."

William Rand Kenan Jr. deserves the credit for originally making the stadium a part of the University. He was born in North Carolina in 1873 and graduated from Carolina in 1894. An international industrialist, Kenan discovered carbide and made monumental progress in the field of chemistry. The stadium was built as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. Construction began in November 1926 and was completed the following August. Complete cost of the stadium and accompanying fieldhouse was $303,000.

Originally, the stadium was to be built through funds raised by alumni donations and by June 1926, a group of nearly 40 alumni had contributed $27,926. At this time, however, a copy of the prospectus and plan of financing the stadium came into the hands of Mr. Kenan who expressed an interest in the proposal. Kenan was considering establishing a memorial to his parents and the pressing needs for Mack Brown's Tar Heels are 23-15-1 at Kenan Stadium, including a 17-3 record under the pines in the last three seasons.

> "Those who have designed and built this structure have had a high sense of the fitness of things. Its location is more than merely suitable; it is well nigh perfect ... fitting as it does in the essential spirit of the University community. For the stadium rests, not in the midst of streets and buildings and people and things, but in the heart of the hills and trees. It is completely surrounded by nature ... It belongs to the hills and the woodland, and curiously enough they seem to belong to it."

a stadium and the possibilities of the beauty, dignity and permanence it presented, suggested to him that the benefaction he contemplated may well take the form of a memorial stadium. The Stadium Committee immediately endorsed his proposal and on the very day in November 1926 on which Kenan visited the planned site, he announced his financial gift to build the stadium. Besides giving the stadium to the University, Mr. Kenan also sponsored and financed the famous Kenan Professorships. He was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D. by his alma mater in 1944.

In the first game played there, Carolina defeated Davidson, 27-0, on November 12, 1927.

Carolina's all-time record at Kenan Stadium is 209-128-16. The most points scored by the Tar Heels in Kenan came in the third game played there as Carolina whipped Wake Forest, 65-0, in the 1928 season opener.

Under Mack Brown the Tar Heels have a 23-15-1 record at Kenan Stadium, including a 17-3 mark there in the last three seasons.

As originally built, the stadium seated 24,000. However, in later years the benefactor added portable stands and then an upper deck to the permanent stands, which increased capacity to 48,000. That was expanded to 50,000 a few years ago and then to 52,000 in 1988.

After the 1976 season, Kenan Fieldhouse underwent a massive renovation. The building was expanded to 30,000 square feet of dressing rooms, coaches' offices, lounges, meeting rooms, weight-training quarters and other facilities. The players' lockerroom was renovated again 1988.

The Student-Athlete Development Center was added to the fieldhouse in 1986. A 20,000 square foot building, it is a one-of-a-kind facility.

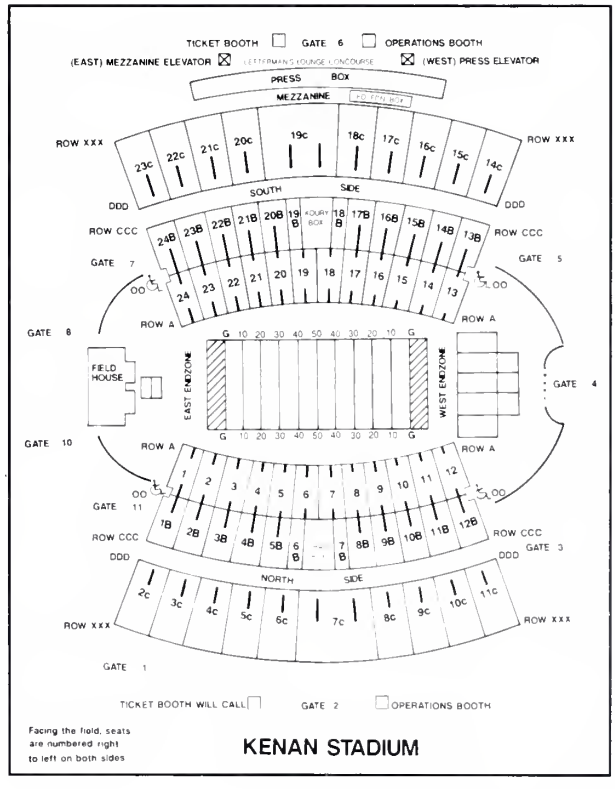
For study purposes, it contains a language lab, video room, computer lab, theatre-style lecture hall, several reading rooms and numerous tutorial rooms. Carolina's academic counseling staff has the advantage of using the most modern techniques in helping student-athletes with their studies.

The bottom half of the building encompasses one of the most complete strength fitness centers in the country. Workout rooms and performance labs contain the most current apparatus available.

Capacity crowds have come to be expected at Kenan. The highest attendance at a game there was the crowd of 54,100 which viewed 13th-ranked Carolina play host to number-one rated Florida State in 1993. That topped the previous high of 53,725 which saw the Tar Heels battle N.C. State in 1992.

The 1983 season saw another first in the stadium — a game played under artificial lights. The Carolina-Duke game was played in the late afternoon so it could be televised throughout the Atlantic Coast Conference area. Portable lights were brought in since the second half was played after sunset. Portable lights were also used in the 1987 Clemson game which was nationally televised by ESPN.

The 1991 season opener versus Cincinnati and the Clemson game, which was televised nationally by ESPN, were the first true night games ever played at Kenan Stadium. A total of six night games have been played since the lights were installed, including three games under the lights in 1993.



Tar Heel Traditions

Why Tar Heels?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

One legend has the nickname being applied to the state's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. According to this story, the troops of British General Cornwallis were fording what is now known as the Tar River between Rocky Mount and Battleboro when they discovered that tar had been dumped into the stream to impede their crossing. When they finally got across the river they found their feet completely black with tar. Their observation that anyone who waded North Carolina rivers would acquire tar heels led to the nickname first being used.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the War Between the States. During one of that war's fiercest battles a column supporting North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle, the North Carolinians who had successfully fought it out alone, happened to meet the regiment which had fled to safety and were greeted with the question, "Any more tar down in the Old North State, boys?"

"No, not a bit," shot back one of the North Carolina soldiers. "Old Jeff's bought it all up," he went on, referring to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

"Is that so? What's he going to do with it?"

"He's going to put it on you'ns heels to make you stick better in the next fight."

Upon hearing of the incident, Robert E. Lee smiled and said to a fellow officer, "God bless the Tar Heel boys."

A letter found in 1991 by State Archivist David Olson lends credence to another more direct theory. A letter from Maj. Joseph Engelhard de-scribes a fight involving men from North Carolina in which Lee was heard to have said, "There they stand as if they have tar on their heels."

The letter, dated August 24, 1864, told the tale of a battle on the outskirts of Petersburg, Va. Engelhard was elected secretary of state for North Carolina in 1876.

A Ram For a Mascot

For nearly 70 years the mascot of North Carolina's football team has been a ram. The current sideline star for the Tar Heels is Rameses XXVI.

Since Carolina's nickname is Tar Heels, it might seem strange to have a ram as a mascot. It is. But, there is a good explanation. It's offered by Vic Huggins, Carolina's head cheerleader back in 1924.

"In 1924 school spirit was at a peak," Huggins once explained. "But something seemed to be missing. One day it hit me. Georgia had a bulldog for a mascot and State a wolf. What Carolina needed was a symbol."

Two years earlier the Tar Heels had posted a brilliant 9-1 record. The star of that 1922 team was a bruising fullback named Jack Merritt. Merritt was nicknamed "the battering ram" for the way he plunged into lines. It seemed natural to Huggins to link a mascot with Merritt's unusual sobriquet.

"Charlie Woollen, the athletic business manager at that time, agreed with the idea and gave us $25 to purchase a fitting mascot," said Huggins.

Rameses the First was shipped in from Texas, arriving just in time to be introduced at a pep rally before the VMI game. Complete with a monogram blanket on his back, Rameses helped make the pep rally one of the school's greatest.

Then the ram was taken to Emerson Field where Carolina was an underdog to a strong VMI team. But, for three quarters the Tar Heels battled the visitors to a scoreless tie.

Late in the fourth period Carolina's Bunn Hackney was called upon to attempt a field goal. Before taking the field he stopped to rub Rameses' head for good luck.

Seconds later Hackney's 30-yard dropkick sailed between the goalposts, giving the Tar Heels a 3-0 victory and a legendary mascot.

Tar Heels rams have traveled everywhere from New York City (for the Carolina-Notre Dame game in 1949) to Jacksonville for Carolina's Gator Bowl appearances.

School Colors

The adoption of light blue and white as the University of North Carolina's colors dates back to the 19th Century.

When the university reopened following the War Between the States, most social activities were directed by two literary societies, the Dialectic and Philanthropic. The official color of the Di was light blue and that of the Phi white. Since society membership was compulsory for all students, the opinions and activities of these organizations were by nature of circumstances all embracing. It was the custom for all men from localities west of Chapel Hill to affiliate with the Di and generally for students from the east to become members of the Phi.

On public occasions such as commencement exercises, the student officers, marshals and ball managers were chosen equally from the membership of the two societies. It had long been the custom of each society for its members to wear its color on such occasions. However, the chief marshal and chief ball manager, one from the Di and the other from the Phi, wore combination light blue and white regalias and rosettes signifying that they represented the whole student body and not just one of the societies.

Later, when intercollegiate athletics were established and students began accompanying teams to other colleges or cities, the question of what to wear became a problem. Certainly, the students wanted to be associated with the university, but the school had no official colors. So it seemed only natural for the fans to adorn themselves with the same combination as that used by the chief marshals and ball managers, colors which represented not membership in a society, but a university student body.

ALMA MATER

Hark the saund af Tar Heel vaices
Ringing clear and true
Singing Caralina's praises,
Shauting "NCU"

Hail ta the brightest star af all!
Clear its radiance shine
Caralina, priceless gem,
Receives all praises thine.

(refrain)
Far I'm a Tar Heel barn
I'm a Tar Heel bred,
And when I die
I'm a Tar Heel dead.
Sa it's —
Rah Rah, Caralina-lina
Rah Rah, Caralina-lina
Rah Rah, Caralina!
Rah! Rah! Rah!

The University of North Carolina

In 1994-95, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill takes the lead role in a production of national magnitude: shepherding U.S. public higher education into its third century. Since 1793, more than 1,500 state-supported colleges and universities have joined Carolina's ranks.

"The idea of the public university, born here in North Carolina, played a major role in revolutionizing opportunity for millions and millions and millions of Americans who never even came into this state, but got the opportunity in other states because of the example set here," President Bill Clinton said in a 1993 Kenan Stadium address kicking off UNC's Bicentennial Observance.

At Carolina, students learn to be doctors, senators, journalists, educators, business leaders, lawyers and professionals in a vast array of other fields. They are taught by a faculty of internationally recognized scholars who make discoveries that change the course of health care, monitor the public's pulse and explore ways to preserve the environment. Public service programs extend a helping hand to the people of North Carolina and beyond, focusing on making life better through knowledge gleaned from higher learning.

President Bill Clinton: Waves to the crowd in Kenan Stadium following his October 1993 address during the opening ceremonies of the University's Bicentennial Observance. Also sharing the platform was Chancellor Paul Hardin.

A student body of more than 24,000 studies in 13 colleges and schools that teach courses in more than 100 fields. The university offers 66 bachelor's, 86 master's, and 62 doctoral degrees, as well as professional degrees in dentistry, medicine, pharmacy and law. Five health affairs schools, representing one of the country's most complete academic health centers, are well-integrated with a prestigious liberal arts program.

Among the most comprehensive U.S. schools, UNC belongs to the select group of 58 research campuses forming the Association of American Universities. Leading publications regularly list Carolina among the nation's top universities. Thirty-five academic departments placed in the top 25 nationally in 1993's "The Gourman Report," which rated U.S. undergraduate programs. Eleven programs ranked in the top 10: American studies, business administration, classics, film, journalism and mass communication, Latin American studies, physical therapy, Portuguese, the former radio, television and motion pictures department, religious studies and sociology. Carolina is among nine public schools and 11 in the South included in the new "Barron's Top 50: An Inside Look at America's Best Colleges."

Graduate programs also are highly ranked. A 1994 U.S. News and World Report guide, for example, placed Carolina's business, chemistry, drama, English, history, nursing, pharmacy, political science, public health, social work and psychology programs among the top 20. Primary care, family medicine, rural medicine, public health, health services administration, dentistry and sociology were listed among the nation's top five.

UNC regularly is among the top high-quality, low-cost universities. A 1993 Money magazine poll picked Carolina as the seventh-best overall educational bargain in the country and top value among public universities. The Kenan-Flagler Business School offers "the best MBA educational value in the world," according to Business Week's latest "Guide to Top B-Schools."

Richard Moll, author of "The Public Ivys: A Guide to America's Best Colleges and Universities," included Carolina among eight public schools equal to those in the Ivy League and judged Chapel Hill "the perfect college town." Sports Illustrated seconded the latter nod, calling Chapel Hill "the purest example we could find of a college town that is defined by a university — and a good university."

The student body has many claims to fame. Drawn from all 100 Tar Heel counties, the other 49 states, two territories and more than 80 countries, Carolina students boast the highest graduation rates in the UNC system. The university graduates up to 25 percent more students in four years than Association of American Universities' schools participating in a 1993 data exchange. In 1992-93, 5,779 students earned Chapel Hill degrees, leading 27 peer AAU schools in the percentage of bachelor's degrees conferred to women and professional degrees awarded to blacks.

Students frequently win major awards for their accomplishments in the classroom. In 1993, Dacia Toll was the 10th UNC student chosen as a Rhodes Scholar since 1980. The university has produced 33 Rhodes winners, including the first black woman, since the program began in 1902. Two students won prestigious Truman Scholarships for graduate study and one a Marshall Scholarship during 1993-94. Also enrolled were 19 recipients of the Herbert Lehman Education Fund Scholarship, awarded to talented black students by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund Inc. Carolina has led the country in Lehman scholars for two years.

Carolina students make their own mark in many fields. Alumni include U.S. President James K. Polk; authors Thomas Wolfe, Walker Percy and Shelby Foote; journalists Charles Kuralt, Tom Wicker, Ed Yoder, Roger Mudd, Deborah Potter, Jonathan Yardley and Eugene Roberts; and editorial cartoonist Jeff MacNelly. The late U.S. Sen. Sam Ervin Jr.; pollster Lou Harris; civil rights leader Julius Chambers; geneticist Dr. Francis Collins; former basketball great Michael Jordan; actor Andy Griffith; Broadway composer Richard Adler; and fashion designer Alexander Julian also hold Carolina degrees. More than 196,300 living alumni reside in all 50 states and 125 foreign countries.

UNC's outstanding full-time faculty of nearly 2,300 includes many who hold or have held major positions in virtually every national scholarly or professional association. Overall, 93.7 percent have earned the highest degree in their field. Carolina's faculty was ranked foremost in the Southeast and among the top 20 at research universities in the most recent comprehensive study by the National Academy of Sciences.

The faculty includes 10 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 16 in the academy's Institute of Medicine, and 23 in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. Some hold key government posts, such as Dr. Kenneth E. Thorpe, associate professor of health policy and administration, and Dr. Michael Stegman, former chairman of the public policy analysis curriculum, who have taken leadership roles in the Clinton administration for national health-care reform and urban policy, respectively.

Others hold top posts in professional and public organizations, such as Dr. Sidney Smith Jr., cardiology chief and president of the American Heart Association; Dr. J. Robert Cox, professor of communication studies and president of the 540,000-member national Sierra Club; and Dr. George F. Sheldon, surgery chair and president of the American Surgical Association, the nation's oldest surgical group.

UNC features an increasingly diverse faculty. Carolina boasts more endowed chairs held by black faculty members than any other U.S. university. In 1994, The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education ranked the Kenan-Flagler Business School among the "Best Business Schools for Blacks," citing it among four with the highest percentage of black faculty.

Carolina faculty members make prodigious contributions to society. Researchers at the Cystic Fibrosis Center in 1992 created the first animal model for the nation's leading potentially fatal genetic illness, and their work is helping speed the road to a cure for the disease. Continuing a lengthy line of blood research, UNC scientists successfully transferred healthy genes into hemophiliac dogs, resulting in the dogs producing the blood clotting factor absent in hemophiliacs. Computer scientists are pioneers in virtual worlds research, using sophisticated computer technology to create realistic but imaginary worlds. Applications may help doctors fight cancer and biochemists design new drugs. In 1993, research by Dr. J. Alan Feduccia, a biologist, cast doubt on widely held theories concerning the evolution of birds. Researchers in computer science and astronomy have developed a algorithmic method to deblur images initially taken by the Hubble space telescope, and their work may help salvage early pictures taken by the telescope.

Many firsts can be attributed to the foresight of university leaders. In 1883, Carolina was the first Southern public university to award a doctoral degree. Playwright and professor Paul Green, who wrote "The Lost Colony," made an indelible mark on world drama with his creation of the outdoor drama genre in 1937. In 1932 faculty member and prolific composer Lamar Stringfield founded the North Carolina Symphony, the nation's first state symphony.

A visionary university president built the first university astronomical observatory at Carolina in 1831, and in 1949 the Morehead Planetarium opened as the first planetarium in the world associated with a university. The planetarium later provided invaluable training to astronauts for the Mercury, Gemini, Apollo, Skylab and Apollo-Soyuz missions.

Carolina boasts the first molecular modeling laboratory using computer graphics on a university campus. It offers the largest American library of published materials on a single state in its North Carolina Collection. Its teaching hospital opened the nation's first intensive-care unit. Its Institute of Government is the largest, most diversified university-based governmental training and research organization in the United States. It created the first social science research institute, now a model for others. And it is home to perhaps the most sophisticated and complete population research library in the world.

Carolina faculty and administrators were among the leaders in creating the Research Triangle Park, a prototype for such parks in the United States and abroad. Now Dr. John Kasarda, director of the Kenan Institute of Private Enterprise, is working on another innovative dream: helping oversee the state's implementation of his brainchild, a Global Transpark that will combine a manufacturing complex and all-cargo airport to be built in Kinston.

North Carolinians benefit daily from UNC's commitment to public service. UNC devotes a larger proportion of its budget to direct service to its home state (19 percent) than any other major U.S. research university. Results are visible in classrooms, courthouses, town halls, and doctors' offices from Manteo to Murphy.

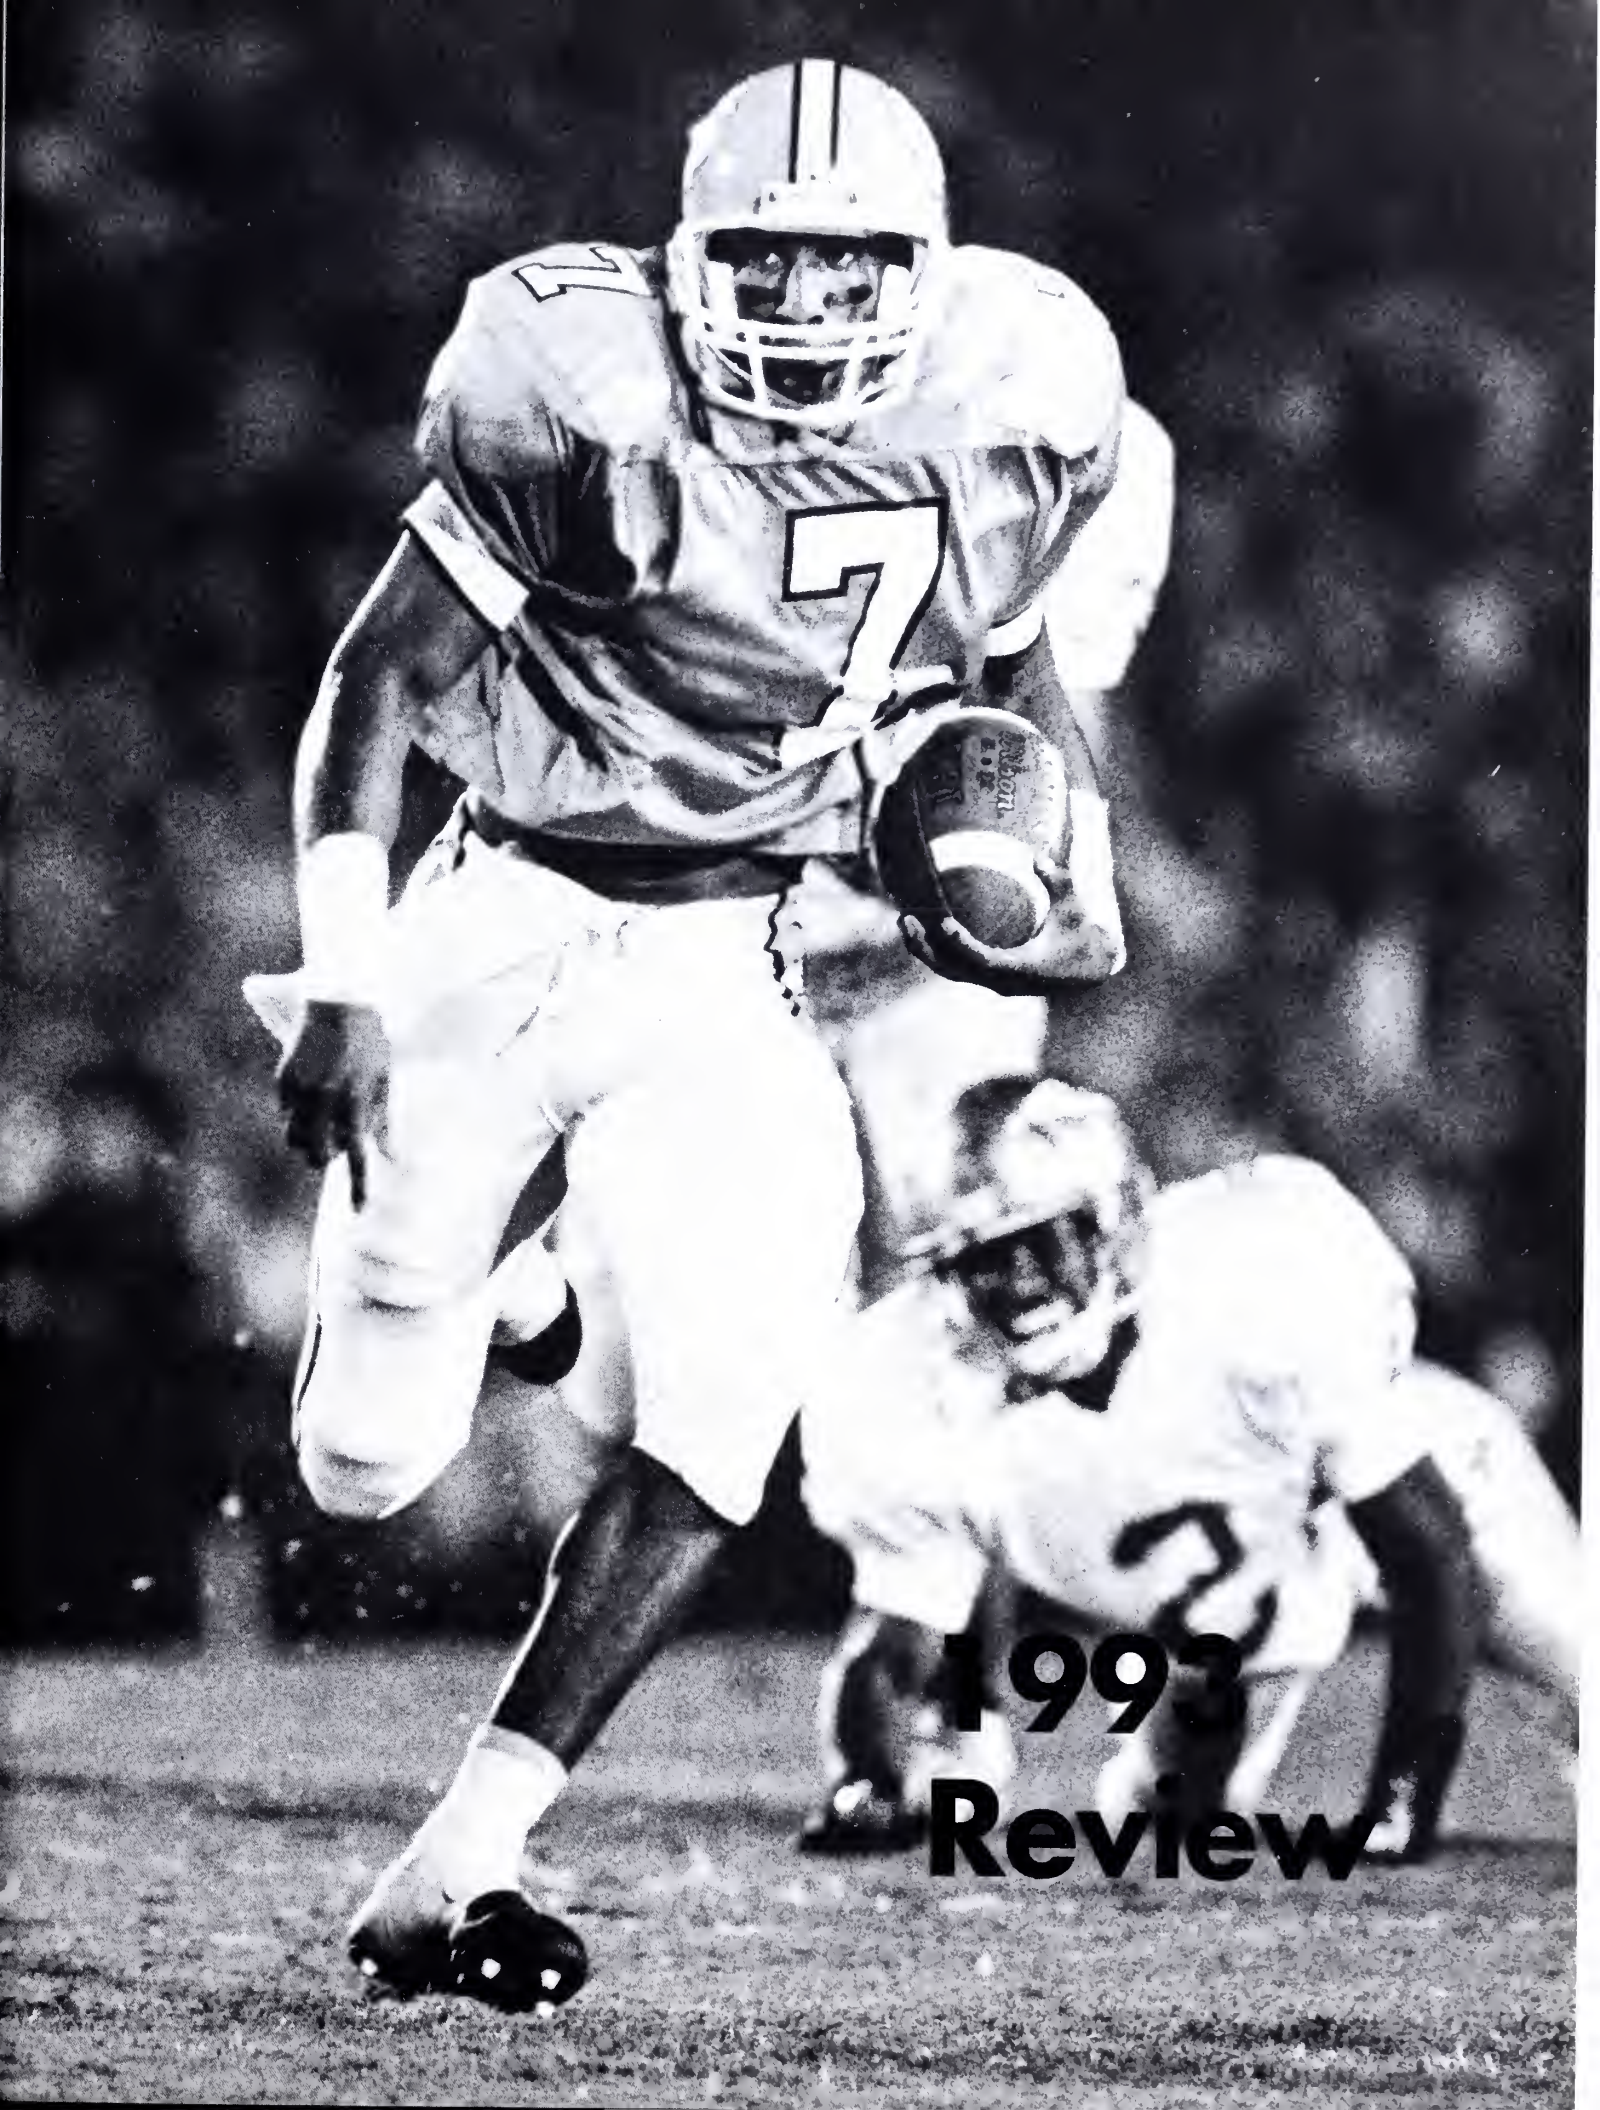
In trial counties around the state, for example, social work faculty have helped determine faster, more efficient ways to process client files, thus speeding service delivery. At the Institute for Marine Sciences in Morehead City, scientists work to better manage coastal barriers and agriculture to restore bay scallops in Bogue Sound.

City and regional planning students recently helped Tyrell County leaders develop an award-winning economic development plan based on the potential ecotourism value of the area, while the medical school's TEACCH program serves as a statewide — and internationally heralded — resource for educating children with autism and other communication handicaps. And the Principals' Executive Program and Institute of Government offer unprecedented career development opportunities for public school and local government administrators, respectively.

In 1992-93, the N.C. Area Health Education Centers Program conducted more than 5,800 continuing education programs for over 143,000 health professionals ranging from nurses to physicians to dentists from all 100 N.C. counties. AHEC sponsors 102 different consultation clinics statewide, providing year-round services to more than 10,000 patients, many of whom live in underserved and rural areas. The School of Medicine, the state's largest single source of new physicians, helps meet the need for primary-care providers by sending 58 percent of its 1994 graduates to residencies in family, internal and pediatric medicine, as well as obstetrics and gynecology. Students in the schools of pharmacy, dentistry and nursing serve Tar Heels in rotation programs from the mountains to the coast.

As Carolina looks back on its first 200 years, a rich tradition of accomplishments lies in its wake. The recently completed eight-month Bicentennial Observance strived to share many of those achievements with North Carolinians. The university's largest ever fund-raising campaign will continue through June 1995. The Bicentennial Campaign for Carolina exceeded its initial $320 million goal in March 1994, 16 months ahead of schedule. The new goal is $400 million.

As it moves into its third century, UNC will continue to strive to fulfill the cornerstones of its mission: to "expand the body of knowledge; teach students at all levels in an environment of research, free inquiry, and personal responsibility; to improve the condition of human life through service and publication; and to enrich our culture."



1993 Review

Review Notebook

• Carolina posted a 10-3 overall record, the fifth-winningest in UNC history. It was the Tar Heels' fourth consecutive winning campaign. The four straight winning seasons are the most since a five-year streak from 1979-83. Carolina is the only team in the ACC to have an improved record in each of the last four seasons.

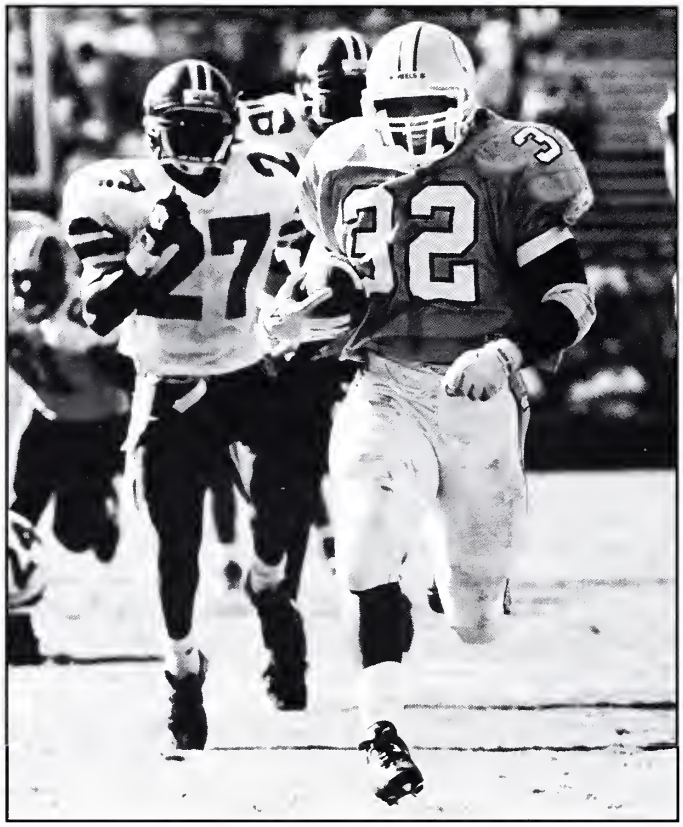
• The 10 wins were the most by a Tar Heel team since the 1981 season when Carolina was 10-2 and won the Gator Bowl.

• Carolina finished the postseason ranked 19th in the Associated Press poll and 21st in the CNN/USA Today rankings.

• The trip to the Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl was the Tar Heels' second consecutive postseason trip and 18th overall.

• Fourteen Tar Heels were selected to the All-Atlantic Coast Conference first, second or third teams. Three Carolina players made first team, nine were second-team selections and two earned third-team honors. Carolina matched national champ Florida State with 12 players on the first two teams. It was the third straight year in which three Tar Heels earned first-team honors.

Free safety Bracey Walker, right offensive tackle Ethan Albright and tailback Curtis Johnson received first-team recognition. Defensive tackles Austin Robbins and Marcus Jones, outside linebacker Bernardo Harris, cornerback Sean Crocker, left offensive tackle Curtis Parker, left offensive guard Shawn Hocker, tailback Leon Johnson, wide receiver Corey Holliday and quarterback Jason Stanicek were all second-team selections.



CURTIS JOHNSON: Capped a 168-yard rushing day, best by any Tar Heel in '93, with this 37-yard touchdown run.

Linebacker Rick Steinbacher and strong safety Sean Boyd were picked for the league's third team.

• Offensive linemen Shawn Hocker and Ethan Albright and wide receiver Corey Holliday were named to the Atlantic Coast Conference All-Academic Team.

• Corey Holliday and defensive back Tim Smith were inducted into the Order of the Golden Fleece, the highest honorary society at the University of North Carolina.

• Senior defensive back Bracey Walker was named by Sports Illustrated as the National Special Teams Player of the Year.

JASON STANICEK: A second-team All-ACC choice, he was also the MVP of the Disneyland Pigskin Classic as the Tar Heels defeated USC, 31-9.

• Bracey Walker was also named first-team All-America by the American Football Coaches Association, the Football Writers Association of America and Scripps-Howard News Service. Walker was named second-team All-America by the Associated Press.

Walker became the first Tar Heel defensive back named first-team All-America by a major organization. He led the team in tackles with 100 and blocked four punts, two of which were recovered for touchdowns.

• Wide receiver Corey Holliday was named the Tar Heels' Most Valuable Player of the Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl. Holliday set UNC bowl-game records for most receptions (nine) and most yards receiving (125 yards).

• Tailback Leon Johnson was an overwhelming choice as the Atlantic Coast Conference Rookie of the Year. Johnson set ACC freshman records for most touchdowns (16), most points in a season (100), most touchdowns in a game (tied twice with four) and most points in one game (26 vs. Duke).

Johnson ran for 1,012 yards and also set a Carolina record for receptions by a running back with 29. The 16 touchdowns were the fourth-highest single-season total in UNC history. The 100 points were the fourth-highest total at UNC and 10th-best in ACC history.

He scored four touchdowns against UTEP and Duke and added a two-point conversion, as well, in the win over the Blue Devils.

The previous ACC record for scoring by a freshman was 84 points in 1975 by Ted Brown of N.C. State. Brown also held the single-game record with 24 points.

• Carolina extended its NCAA record for most 1,000-yard rushing seasons with a pair of 1,000-yard campaigns. Sophomore Curtis Johnson gained 1,034 yards and freshman Leon Johnson rushed for 1,012 yards. It was the fourth time in UNC history that two backs had gone over 1,000 in the same season and the first time since 1984.

Curtis had a single-season high of 168 yards against Maryland, added 153 at N.C. State and finished with four 100-yard games. Leon had a high of 147 against Ohio University and added 142 in the regular-season finale versus Duke. Leon had five 100-yard ballgames, the most by a freshman since Charlie Justice and Amos Lawrence.

• Curtis Johnson had a 90-yard rushing touchdown against Maryland, the longest scoring run from scrimmage in Carolina history. It was the second-longest run ever by a Tar Heel and the longest since 1891.

• Curtis Johnson also had a 75-yard TD run against Wake Forest. He had a 76-yard run at Clemson in 1992 and is the only player in ACC history to have three runs of 75 yards or more in a career.

The scoring run against Wake Forest was on the first play of the third quarter. Earlier in the year at N.C. State, he scored on a 50-yard run, also on the first play of the second half.

• With Curtis Johnson's selection to the All-ACC first team, it marked the 19th time in the last 25 years that the Tar Heels placed a tailback on the all-conference team.

• Leon Johnson (16) and Curtis Johnson (12) combined to score 28 touchdowns, the most by any two players in Carolina history.

• Quarterback Jason Stanicek set numerous Carolina single-season passing and total offense records. Stanicek accounted for a record 2,284 yards of total offense and completed a record 64.1 percent of his passes. He threw for 1,878 yards, the second-highest total in Carolina history and his average of 8.7 yards per pass attempt easily broke the former UNC mark.

He also had an efficiency rating of 145.79, the highest in school history for any player with at least 200 attempts. He averaged 190.3 yards of total offense, another Tar Heel record.

Stanicek, a second-team All-ACC selection, was the Most Valuable Player of the Disneyland Pigskin Classic as he led UNC to a 31-9 win over Southern California. He rushed for 406 yards for the season, the fourth-highest total by a Tar Heel quarterback in history.

• Corey Holliday caught 50 passes for 867 yards. That was the third-highest number of receptions in one year by a Tar Heel and the most yardage ever. He became the first Carolina player to lead the team in receiving and the first to have 400-plus yards receiving in four consecutive seasons.

Holliday extended his streak of consecutive games with at least one reception to 45, the longest in ACC history and the second-longest in college football history. He finished his career fifth in the ACC in receptions and fifth in reception yardage.

• Flanker Bucky Brooks made 25 catches for 514 yards, an average of 20.6 yards per catch. That set a UNC record, as did his career average of 18.3 yards per reception. He concluded his career as the 13th-leading receiver in Tar Heel history with 63 catches.

He led the Tar Heels with six touchdown receptions and five of those six scoring plays were for at least 28 yards. He had a 28-yard TD catch to give Carolina an early lead over number-one rated Florida State.

• Place-kicker Tripp Pignetti set an ACC single-season record by making 43 consecutive point after attempts.

Pignetti scored 86 points, the seventh-highest total in Carolina history and the second-highest by a kicker.

• Marcus Wall set school records for most kickoff returns and kickoff return yardage. Wall returned 31 kicks for 734 yards. His 91-yard return against Duke was the longest non-scoring kickoff return in Tar Heel history.

• Defensive tackle Marcus Jones led the Tar Heels with 8.5 quarterback sacks. That was the most sacks by a UNC player since William Fuller recorded nine in 1981. Jones had a sack in eight of the 12 regular-season games.

His 8.5 sacks dropped opponents for 76 yards, the second-highest total ever at UNC behind Lawrence Taylor's 127 yards in 1979.

• Carolina set single-season team records for the following: most yards (5,226), yards per play (5.9), points (421), points per game (35.1), touchdowns (55), rushing touchdowns (39), PATs kicking (51), yards passing (2,220), first downs (276) and first downs by pass (106).

The 39 touchdowns by rushing set an ACC record.

• Carolina defeated Maryland, 59-42, in the highest scoring game in UNC history. The Tar Heels piled up 714 yards against the Terps, most ever by UNC and the fourth-highest in ACC history.

The Tar Heels averaged a school-record 9.27 yards per play and a record 20.5 yards per pass completion.

• In that win over Maryland, Carolina accomplished something it had never done before. The Tar Heels had two 100-yard rushers (Curtis Johnson with 168, Leon Johnson with 101), a 200-yard passer (Jason Stanicek threw for 288 yards) and two 100-yard receivers (Corey Holliday with 149, Bucky Brooks with 115).

• Carolina was featured on television 10 times in its 13 games. The Florida State and Clemson games were nationally shown on ESPN, the Gator Bowl was nationally telecast on TBS, Southern Cal was syndicated nationally by Raycom, the Maryland game was shown on a tape delay basis nationally by HTS, the Georgia Tech, Virginia and Duke games were regional ABC broadcasts and the N.C. State and Wake Forest games were part of the ACC Network on Jefferson-Pilot.

• A Kenan Stadium-record crowd of 54,100 watched the 13th-ranked Tar Heels battle number one Florida State.

• Red-shirt freshman defensive tackle Andre Purvis set a UNC record as the first player in Carolina history to have two punt returns for touchdowns in the same game. Purvis recovered two blocked punts in the end zone in the Tar Heels' 42-10 win in the Superdome against Tulane.

Bracey Walker blocked both punts and, statistically, they are credited to Purvis as "punt returns."

• The Tar Heels led the ACC in rushing with 253 yards per game.

• Carolina's defense was seventh in the nation in run defense, allowing 102.5 yards per game, and was 21st in the nation in total defense. UNC held Clemson to three net yards rushing, the third-fewest rushing yards in Clemson history and the fewest since 1947.

The Tar Heels also led the ACC in quarterback sacks with 38.

BRACEY WALKER (27): Named first-team All-America by the American Football Coaches Association and the Football Writers Association of America.

1993 Game Summaries

CAROLINA 31, SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA 9: Tailbacks Leon Johnson and Curtis Johnson combined for 172 rushing yards and two touchdowns and quarterback Jason Stanicek engineered a near-flawless option attack as the Tar Heels whipped Southern Cal, 31-9, in the Disneyland Pigskin Classic at Anaheim (Calif.) Stadium.

Red-shirt freshman Leon Johnson rushed for 94 yards and gave UNC a 7-0 lead early in the second quarter on a 19-yard scoring run. Sophomore Curtis Johnson added 78 yards on the ground and scored on a three-yard option pitch from Stanicek late in the first half which gave the Tar Heels a 14-3 advantage. That touchdown was set up by a 47-yard pass from Stanicek to Bucky Brooks.

Outside linebacker Ray Jacobs forced and recovered a fumble on the second play of the third quarter and five plays later flanker Marcus Wall went around right end for six yards and a touchdown. Tripp Pignetti made it 24-3 with a 26-yard field goal on the first play of the final quarter.

L. Johnson scampered 31 yards to set up the final UNC score of the night, an eight-yard run up the middle by fullback William Henderson midway through the final period.

Stanicek completed six of eight for 101 yards, but it was his execution on the option which established him as the game's Most Valuable Player as selected by the media. On numerous times the USC defense had him trapped at the line of scrimmage only to watch as he pitched the ball to a trailing back. His two most spectacular plays included the touchdown runs by C. Johnson and Wall.

The Tar Heels rolled up 408 yards of offense and held the favored Trojans to 268 yards. Carolina had 291 yards rushing and limited USC to just 101 on the ground.

CAROLINA 44, OHIO UNIVERSITY 3: The Tar Heels rushed for three touchdowns which covered at least 53 yards apiece and Leon and Curtis Johnson rushed for 147 and 144 yards, respectively, as UNC outmanned Ohio University, 44-3, at Kenan Stadium.

L. Johnson scored twice in the second quarter, including a 15-yarder to give UNC a 14-0 lead and a 62-yard run to up the lead to 21-0. With UNC leading 24-0 in the third, tight end Greg DeLong picked a fumble out of the air and raced 53 yards for a touchdown.

Antuarn Williams scored on a five-yard run and C. Johnson added a 56-yard run to cap the scoring in the fourth quarter. The Tar Heels finished with 432 rushing yards, the first time they topped 400 yards on the ground since UNC had 406 yards vs. Duke in 1988. The Tar Heel defense held the Bobcats to 180 total yards. Ohio did have the ball for 36:21 to just 23:39 for Carolina. The Tar Heels scored six touchdowns and each of the scoring drives came in less than 2:19 and the longest drive was just seven plays.

Corey Holliday had two receptions and became the Tar Heels' all-time leading receiver. He passed Earl Winfield who had 107 catches.

L. Johnson's 147 yards were the most in UNC history by a Carolina player making his Kenan Stadium debut. The previous best was 102 yards by Charlie Justice in 1946.

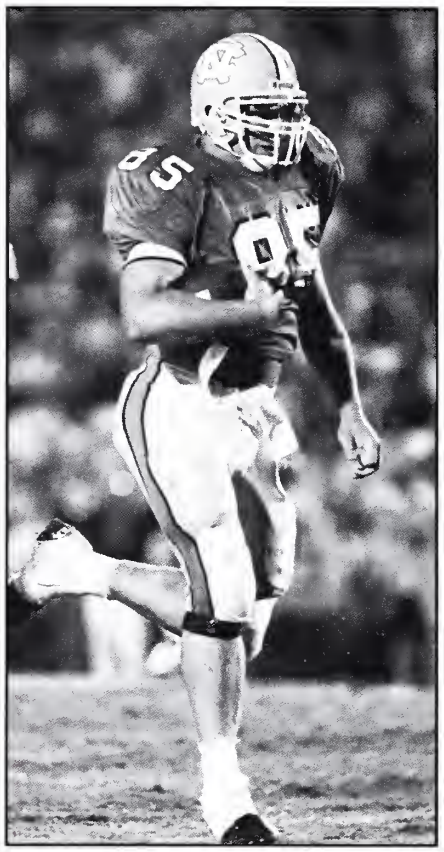
CAROLINA 59, MARYLAND 42: The Tar Heels established a school record with 714 yards of total offense led by Jason Stanicek's career-high 288 passing yards as UNC prevailed in the highest scoring game in its history, 59-42, over the Terrapins, at Kenan Stadium.

Stanicek completed 14 of 17 passes, including two touchdowns; all his passing yards came in the first half. He connected on second quarter scoring passes of 11 yards to Bucky Brooks and 56 yards to Corey Holliday.

Mike Thomas added 82 passing yards in the second half and hit Brooks with a 47-yard TD pass. The Tar Heels totaled 344 yards rushing and 370 yards in the air. The 714 yards broke the former total offense record of 675 set against VMI in 1969.



GREG DeLONG: Picked a fumble out of midair and raced 53 yards for a touchdown in the 44-3 win over Ohio University in the first home game of the 1994 season.

Curtis Johnson rushed for 168 yards and two touchdowns and Leon Johnson rushed for 101 yards and two scores. It marked only the second time in school history that two players had each rushed for 100-plus yards in consecutive games.

Leon had a 57-yard scoring run in the first quarter to give UNC the lead for good at 14-7 and added a one-yarder in the third quarter. Curtis set a UNC record with a 90-yard touchdown run and later added a 37-yard scoring run late in the game. The 90-yard run was the second-longest run from scrimmage in history by a Tar Heel and the longest TD run ever.

Holliday had seven receptions for 149 yards and Brooks made five catches for 115 yards. Tight end Greg DeLong also had a 68-yard catch-and-run which set up a Stanicek touchdown run in the first quarter.

The Tar Heels averaged a school-record 9.27 yards per play and the 59 points equalled the most they ever scored in an ACC contest. Carolina also averaged 20.5 yards per pass completion, a school record. The 370 yards passing were the second-highest in school annals.

It was also the first time in UNC history the Tar Heels had two backs rush for 100-plus yards, a quarterback throw for 200 yards and two receivers have 100-plus yards in receptions in the same contest.

Maryland quarterback Scott Milanovich completed 34 of 50 passes for 405 yards and five touchdowns. Wide receiver Jermaine Lewis caught nine of those passes for 250 yards and two scores. The 34 completions were the most ever against UNC as were Lewis' 250 yards receiving. The 50 attempts were the fourth-most against UNC and the 405 yards in the air the second-most ever allowed.

FLORIDA STATE 33, CAROLINA 7: Number-one nationally ranked Florida State spotted the Tar Heels an early lead but then scored 33 unanswered points and went on to a 33-7 win before a Kenan Stadium-record crowd of 54,100 and an ESPN-delivered national TV audience.

Carolina jumped out to a 7-0 lead with 6:21 left in the first quarter on a 28-yard pass from Jason Stanicek to Bucky Brooks. Charlie Ward tied the game late in the first with a 16-yard TD pass to Warrick Dunn. Scott Bentley gave FSU a 10-7 lead with a 27-yard field goal with 48 seconds left in the first half.

The Seminoles added 17 third quarter points on a 33-yard TD pass from Ward to Kevin Knox, a 21-yard Bentley field goal and a 49-yard interception return by linebacker Derrick Brooks.

Stanicek played well in the first half, completing seven of 11 passes for 85 yards. He suffered an injured right shoulder, however, late in the second quarter, and was able to play just one series in the second half.

Ward completed 27 of 41 for 303 yards. FSU compiled 489 yards of total offense and held UNC to 279, although the Tar Heels did have a time of possession advantage of nearly three minutes.

Outside linebacker Bernardo Harris had nine tackles and recovered a fumble and free safety Bracey Walker also made nine hits and caused two fumbles.

CAROLINA 35, N.C. STATE 14: Curtis Johnson raced 50 yards for a touchdown on the first play of the second half and quarterback Jason Stanicek overcame a shoulder injury to have a masterful performance to lead the Tar Heels to a 35-14 win over N.C. State at Carter-Finley Stadium in Raleigh. The win was Carolina's first over the Pack in six years and was also keyed by a UNC defense which held the Wolfpack to just 91 yards in the second half.

Trailing 14-10 at halftime, UNC got off to fast start in the third quarter as Marcus Wall returned the opening kickoff 41 yards to midfield. On the next play, Johnson raced through the left side of the line and went untouched 50 yards for the go-ahead score. Johnson finished the day with 153 yards on 18 carries.

Cornerback Jimmy Hitchcock forced a fumble two plays later which Greg Black recovered. That turnover led to a Tripp Pignetti field goal and a 20-14 UNC lead. Two possessions later, linebacker Kerry Mock recovered a fumble at the N.C. State 32-yard line. Six straight rushing plays and a State penalty advanced the ball to the three-yard line. On third-and-goal, Stanicek's play action rollout pass found a wide open tight end Marc Montoro for a touchdown. It was Montoro's first career catch.

Stanicek, who suffered a severely bruised right shoulder vs. Florida State and saw very limited work in practice all week, came off the bench after the first series. Starting quarterback Mike Thomas suffered bruised ribs on a sack on UNC's first possession. Stanicek completed 12 of 17 passes for 96 yards and ran the option to near-perfection again. He gained 26 yards himself and made several incredible pitches to Curtis and Leon Johnson.

CURTIS JOHNSON: Began the second half at N.C. State with this 50-yard touchdown scamper. Johnson ran for 153 yards and the Tar Heels whipped State, 35-14, in Raleigh.

In the fourth quarter, he helped seal the win with an 18-yard scramble for a first down on a third-and-15 play. On the next play, fullback William Henderson raced 18 yards for his second TD.

Carolina totaled 397 yards and held the Pack to 244 and the Tar Heels had nine more first downs. The Tar Heels had 301 yards rushing, the most by a UNC team against N.C. State since 1984.

Outside linebacker Bernardo Harris was a standout on defense for UNC as he made seven solo tackles, assisted on three others and forced two bad passes.

CAROLINA 45, UTEP 39: The Tar Heels spotted the Miners a 21-7 lead but raced back in the third quarter behind a record-setting day by freshman Leon Johnson for a 45-39 win over unheralded UTEP at Kenan Stadium.

Johnson rushed for 106 yards and scored four rushing touchdowns, a feat which set a UNC record for freshman. He also became only the second ACC freshman to ever have four TDs in one game.

UTEP went out to a 21-7 lead only 1:11 into the second quarter and still led by a 24-14 margin at halftime. The Tar Heels finally caught up to and then went ahead of the Miners with 24 unanswered points in the second half.

Quarterback Jason Stanicek completed three passes for 40 yards and carried 11 yards to the UTEP one to set up a William Henderson score which cut the deficit to 24-21. On the next series, UTEP advanced to the UNC 25 but free safety Bracey Walker recovered a fumble and returned it 36 yards to the UTEP 47. Stanicek hit Corey Holliday for 18 yards and Henderson rushed 14 yards for first-and-goal. Stanicek gave UNC the 28-24 lead with a seven-yard screen pass to Curtis Johnson.

On the next possession, UNC held UTEP on fourth-and-one from the Miners' own 34 and four plays later Leon Johnson raced in for a nine-yard touchdown and a 35-24 lead.

Following a Tripp Pignetti field goal, UTEP's Sam Rogers returned the kickoff 96 yards for a touchdown. It was the first time the Tar Heels allowed a kickoff to be returned for a score since 1971.

Leon Johnson added Carolina's final points of the game on a 15-yard run around the left side with 4:18 to play. Johnson became the first Tar Heel freshman to ever score four times in one game. Charlie Justice had three TDs vs. Virginia in 1946 and Natrone Means had three TDs against both Wake Forest and Duke in 1990.

CAROLINA 45, WAKE FOREST 35: The tailback firm of Johnson and Johnson was at it again as Curtis and Leon Johnson combined for 251 yards rushing and four touchdowns to lead the Tar Heels past Wake Forest, 45-35, before a Homecoming Day crowd at Kenan Stadium.

Curtis Johnson had 132 yards and three touchdowns, including scoring runs of 17, 75 and five yards. Leon Johnson added 119 yards on the ground and had a seven-yard scoring run. Quarterback Jason Stanicek also completed 12 of 22 passes for 172 yards and had a late first-half, 16-yard TD pass to Marcus Wall.

Carolina held a 31-13 lead at halftime and extended that advantage to 45-13 after three quarters. The Demon Deacons scored 22 straight points, however, in the final quarter against the UNC defensive reserves.

With UNC ahead 3-0 in the first, cornerback Sean Crocker made the first of his two interceptions and returned it 41 yards to the Wake Forest three-yard line. Crocker fumbled the ball, though, but linebacker Oscar Sturgis picked it out of the air and scored.

The Tar Heels built their 18-point halftime lead behind L. Johnson's seven-yard TD run, C. Johnson's 17-yard score and the Stanicek-to-Wall scoring strike which came with just three seconds to play in the second quarter.

On the first play of the third quarter, C. Johnson raced around the left end and went 75 yards for a touchdown. It was the second time this year that Johnson had scored on a long run to start the second half. He also had a 50-yard TD run to begin the third quarter at N.C. State. Johnson also set an ACC record with his third career run of 75 yards or more.

Stanicek was again brilliant at the controls as he converted six consecutive third-down chances in the second quarter. He directed the hurry-up offense at the close of the first half in which he led the Tar Heels 92 yards in 11 plays.

CAROLINA 41, GEORGIA TECH 3: Jason Stanicek tossed a pair of first-half touchdown passes and Carolina amassed 30 first downs en route to a 41-3 rout over Georgia Tech in Atlanta. Stanicek completed 12 of 16 passes for 156 yards and added 42 yards rushing, including a one-yard run late in the third quarter. The 38-point margin of victory was the largest for UNC in an ACC road contest since a 38-0 win at Duke in 1971.

The Tar Heels scored the first 14 points of the game and then reeled off 27 straight after Tech's only points came on a 34-yard field goal midway through the second quarter. Carolina held the ball for a remarkable 39:06 and nearly doubled the Yellow Jackets' offensive output. UNC totaled 430 yards compared to 232 for Tech. The Carolina defense picked off three passes.

Stanicek was at the helm for five possessions and UNC scored all five times. He converted nine of 10 third-down situations. In fact, not counting the last series of the game in which UNC ran just one play to run out the clock, the Tar Heels scored on seven out of eight possessions. The Tar Heels had scoring drives of 17, 12, 10 three times, nine and eight plays. The average length of UNC's scoring marches was 64 yards. That included an epic, 96-yard drive which Stanicek capped with his one-yard run, and a 93-yard drive capped by a 34-yard TD pass from Stanicek to Bucky Brooks.

Carolina raced out to a 14-0 lead early in the second quarter behind a 15-yard TD screen pass to Leon Johnson and a three-yard TD run by Curtis Johnson. UNC upped the lead to 21-3 with 5:18 left in the second quarter as Stanicek beat the blitz and hit a wide-open Brooks in the end zone from 34 yards.

In the third, Carolina consumed 8:03 off the clock and went 96 yards for a score. Stanicek scored from a yard out on an option keeper and UNC had built a 31-3 lead. The final touchdown of the day came on a one-yard plunge by Marietta, Ga. native Maurice McGregor, a reserve tailback.

The UNC defensive effort was led by free safety Bracey Walker, defensive tackle Marcus Jones and outside linebacker Ray Jacobs. Walker made 11 tackles and batted down two passes. Jones had two sacks, forced two more bad passes and batted one ball in the air which Rick Steinbacher intercepted. Jacobs had five solo tackles and three assists and also caused three bad passes with blitz rushes.

VIRGINIA 17, CAROLINA 10: The Cavaliers held Carolina to just 101 yards rushing and UVa quarterback Symmion Willis connected on 22 of 31 passes for 239 yards as Virginia knocked off the Tar Heels, 17-10, at Scott Stadium in Charlottesville.

The Tar Heels managed just 2.6 yards per carry and were led on the ground by Leon Johnson who had only 44 yards on 10 carries. UNC quarterback Jason Stanicek did complete 14 of 27 for 172 yards, including five completions for 46 yards to Marcus Wall.

The Cavaliers held a 3-0 lead in the second quarter when a UNC mistake led to a 10-point UVa lead. Steven Jerry, looking directly up into the sun, mishandled a punt and the Cavs recovered at the Carolina 20-yard line. Two plays later, Kevin Brooks scored on a seven-yard run.

The Tar Heels got on the board on their next possession. Stanicek began the drive with a 17-yard completion to Bucky Brooks. Facing a third-and-nine at the UVa 27, L. Johnson made a shoestring grab of a screen pass and sprinted to the nine-yard line. On third down from the one, Stanicek optioned left and scored to cut the deficit to 10-7.

Stanicek and Holliday connected on a 26-yard pass to set up a 23-yard field goal by Tripp Pignetti which tied the game at 10 with 8:42 left in the third quarter. That led to Virginia's game-winning drive which lasted 18 plays and 70 yards and consumed 7:24 of the clock. The Cavaliers converted a pair of third downs and two fourth downs. The first fourth down play came at the UNC 10 and fullback Charles Way went over the top for three yards and a first down. The second was from the one and again Way sailed over the pile and scored the go-ahead touchdown.

CAROLINA 24, CLEMSON 0: The Tar Heels scored all 24 points in the first half and UNC's defense was dominant as the Tar Heels whipped Clemson, 24-0, at Kenan Stadium. The game was televised nationally by ESPN. The win was Carolina's first over the Tigers since 1985, the largest margin over Clemson since 1970 and UNC's first shutout win over the Tigers since 1964.

Led by nose guard Troy Barnett and free safety Bracey Walker, the Tar Heels allowed the Tigers to rush for just three yards on 32 attempts. That included minus 60 yards on six quarterback sacks. Carolina also had six other tackles for losses and held the Tigers to just 183 total yards. The three yards rushing was the Tigers' lowest figure since 1947 and the third-lowest in school history.

UNC quarterback Jason Stanicek played another terrific game as he completed 15 of 25 passes for 221 yards and one touchdown and rushed 10 times for 51 yards. Split end Corey Holliday made six catches for 112 yards and flanker Bucky Brooks added three receptions for 70 yards.

Walker was selected the player of the game by ESPN as made six tackles and blocked a punt, his sixth career block. Barnett made a career-high 10 tackles, including a nine-yard sack and two and one-half tackles for losses and he forced two bad passes.

Stanicek gained 28 yards on the second play of the game but UNC lost a fumble on the next play. On the next series, however, Clemson was forced to punt and Walker charged through and partially blocked the kick at the Tiger 43. On third-and-four, Stanicek hit Brooks for 16 yards and a first down. Leon Johnson scored on an 11-yard run for a 7-0 lead.

A 16-yard gain by Curtis Johnson off a Stanicek pitch and completions of 24 yards to C. Johnson and 25 to Holliday set up a 26-yard Tripp Pignetti field goal and a 10-0 lead.

Midway through the second quarter Clemson punted again and, clearly bothered by Walker's presence, managed just a 21-yard punt which rolled dead at the Tiger 40. Four plays later, Stanicek found a wide-open Brooks behind the secondary for a 28-yard touchdown.

The Tar Heels tacked on the game's final points on an 11-play, 70-yard drive late in the second quarter. A 19-yard run by C. Johnson, a 14-yard pass to Holliday and a nine-yard run by Stanicek on a third-and-three play set up the touchdown, a one-yard run by C. Johnson.

CAROLINA 42, TULANE 10: Quarterbacks Jason Stanicek and Mike Thomas each led a pair of touchdown drives and free safety Bracey Walker blocked two punts which freshman Andre Purvis recovered for touchdowns as the Tar Heels broke open a close game at the half for a 42-10 win over the Green Wave in the Louisiana Superdome.

Carolina scored 14 points in a span of four plays from scrimmage in the opening quarter. Stanicek scored on a 26-yard run and on Tulane's second play following the touchdown, Ray Jacobs forced a fumble which Jimmy Hitchcock recovered. On first down, Stanicek went up top and hit Corey Holliday for a 42-yard touchdown.

Tulane narrowed the margin to 14-10 by halftime and Thomas took over at quarterback on the second drive of the third quarter. He led Carolina on a 13-play, 80-yard march which was capped by a seven-yard touchdown run by Curtis Johnson.

C. Johnson carried 17 times for 69 yards and went over the 1,000-yard mark for the season.

Thomas converted a pair of third-down chances during the drive, including a 16-yard pass to Holliday and a 19-yard pass to Leon Johnson.

On Tulane's next possession following C. Johnson's score, Marcus Jones had a 13-yard sack which forced Tulane to punt from its own 31. Walker charged through the left side, blocked the kick, and Purvis, a red-shirt freshman defensive tackle, finally fell on the ball in the end zone.

Two series later, Tulane again had to punt, this time from its 10-yard line, and again Walker blocked the kick. Purvis outran Walker to the ball and scored for the second time in 4:41.

COREY HOLLIDAY: This catch against Duke was one of his final collegiate receptions. Holliday set a single-season record with 867 yards and career records with 155 catches for 2,447 yards.

CAROLINA 38, DUKE 24: Leon Johnson set ACC freshman scoring records and went over the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the season as the Tar Heels pounded Duke, 38-24, in a Friday morning holiday special at Kenan Stadium which was televised by ABC.

Johnson carried 24 times for 142 yards and scored four touchdowns and one two-point conversion run. He finished the year with 1,042 yards and posted the record 23rd 1,000-yard campaign in Carolina history. Johnson set an ACC single-game record for freshmen with 26 points and set the single-season ACC freshman record with 100 points. Ted Brown of N.C. State had 84 points in 1975. Earlier this year against UTEP, Johnson had tied Brown's single-game record of 24 points.

The Tar Heels beat the Blue Devils for the fourth consecutive time and amassed more than 500 yards in total offense for the third straight time against Duke. Carolina rushed for 250 yards and threw for another 274 for a total of 524 yards. Duke quarterback Spence Fischer did complete 26 of 52 passes for 384 yards, but the Blue Devils were held to only 60 yards rushing. Both teams averaged more than six yards per play.

Carolina quarterback Jason Stanicek was brilliant again as he completed 17 of 25 passes for 256 yards and two touchdowns. It was the second-highest yardage total of his career. He also rushed 12 times for 58 yards and set up several long runs by L. Johnson with extraordinary option pitches.

Split end Corey Holliday also had a standout afternoon as he made six catches for 99 yards. Marcus Wall added four receptions for 18 yards, L. Johnson had three for 47, tight end Freddie Jones made two for 36 and Bucky Brooks had a 49-yard touchdown catch.

The Blue Devils took the opening kick and scored in 12 plays, but the Tar Heels responded with a TD on their own initial series on a 29-yard scamper by L. Johnson off a screen pass by Stanicek.

Carolina went ahead for good in the second quarter as Stanicek hit Brooks in the left corner of the end zone for a 49-yard touchdown. Carolina then stopped Duke on fourth down at the UNC 28 and Stanicek began to dominate the game. He rushed for eight yards, hit Holliday for 18, rushed for 10 more to the Duke 28 and hit Holliday again for 16 yards to the nine-yard line. He then ran the option to the right side, carried to the three and, as he was being gang-tackled, pitched the ball to a trailing L. Johnson, who scored.

In the third quarter Stanicek optioned right and pitched to L. Johnson, who went 37 yards to the Duke 20-yard line. L. Johnson gained 10 yards on each of the next two plays, the second being another option pitch from Stanicek and gave Carolina a 27-14 lead.

Johnson added a five-yard run later in the third quarter.

1993 Gator Bowl

ALABAMA 24, CAROLINA 10: Quarterback Brian Burgdorf threw for two touchdowns and 166 yards and added a 33-yard scoring run to lead 18th-ranked Alabama to a 24-10 win over 11th-rated Carolina in the Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl.

Burgdorf, selected as the Tide's Most Valuable Player, helped direct two second-half scoring drives which broke open a tightly contested game which was deadlocked at 10-10 at the half.

Wide receiver Corey Holliday, playing in the final game of an illustrious career, was named the MVP for the Tar Heels. Holliday caught nine passes for 125 yards, both of which marks are Carolina postseason records.

The Tide held the Tar Heels to a season-low 42 net yards rushing, although Carolina did run the ball only 25 times. The Tide compiled 208 yards on the ground and amassed 330 yards to the Tar Heels' 267.

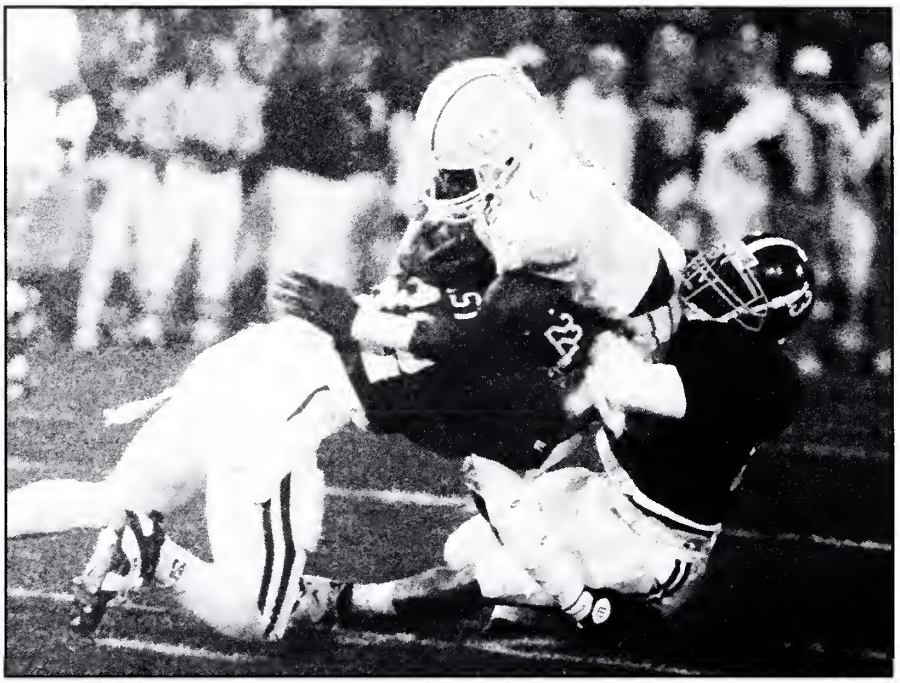
UNC quarterback Jason Stanicek also set Carolina bowl game records for completions and passing yardage. Stanicek completed 19 of 35 for 225 yards, his fourth 200-yard game of the season.

Following a scoreless first quarter, Alabama marched 64 yards in 10 plays and went ahead, 3-0, on a 22-yard field goal by Michael Proctor.

Stanicek engineered a masterful drive on the ensuing possession to put the Tar Heels on top, 7-3. Stanicek hit Holliday for 29 and 22 yards and then executed a perfect option pitch to Leon Johnson for 18 yards. At the Alabama 11, Stanicek hit Johnson for 10 yards and a first down at the one. On the next play, William Henderson scored to give the Tar Heels the lead.

Burgdorf made three big plays to put the Tide back in front. First he scrambled 19 yards and then he hit Chad Key for 13 yards to the UNC 33. On the next play, Alabama called a quarterback draw and Burgdorf raced 33 yards untouched for a score.

Carolina took possession with 1:44 left in the first half at midfield. Stanicek opened the drive with passes to Holliday for 12 and nine yards and Curtis Johnson ran twice for 20 yards to the Tide nine. The drive finally stalled at the six and Tripp Pignetti nailed a 23-yard field goal to tie the game at 10-10.



COREY HOLLIDAY: Set UNC bowl gome records with nine receptions for 125 yords ogoinst Alobomo.

Alabama took the second-half kickoff and promptly drove 65 yards in 12 plays and regained the lead for good with an eight-yard pass from Burgdorf to Tarrant Lynch. Sherman Williams was the key man on the march as he carried seven times for 51 yards.

In the fourth quarter the Tide went on another 12 play drive, this time for 66 yards and a touchdown. Williams, the game's leading ground-gainer with 94 yards, had four more carries for 26 yards and Burgdorf capped the drive with a 10-yard scoring strike to Key on a third-and-eight play.

In the decisive second half Alabama outgained the Tar Heels, 139-40, and had 15 first downs to just four for Carolina.

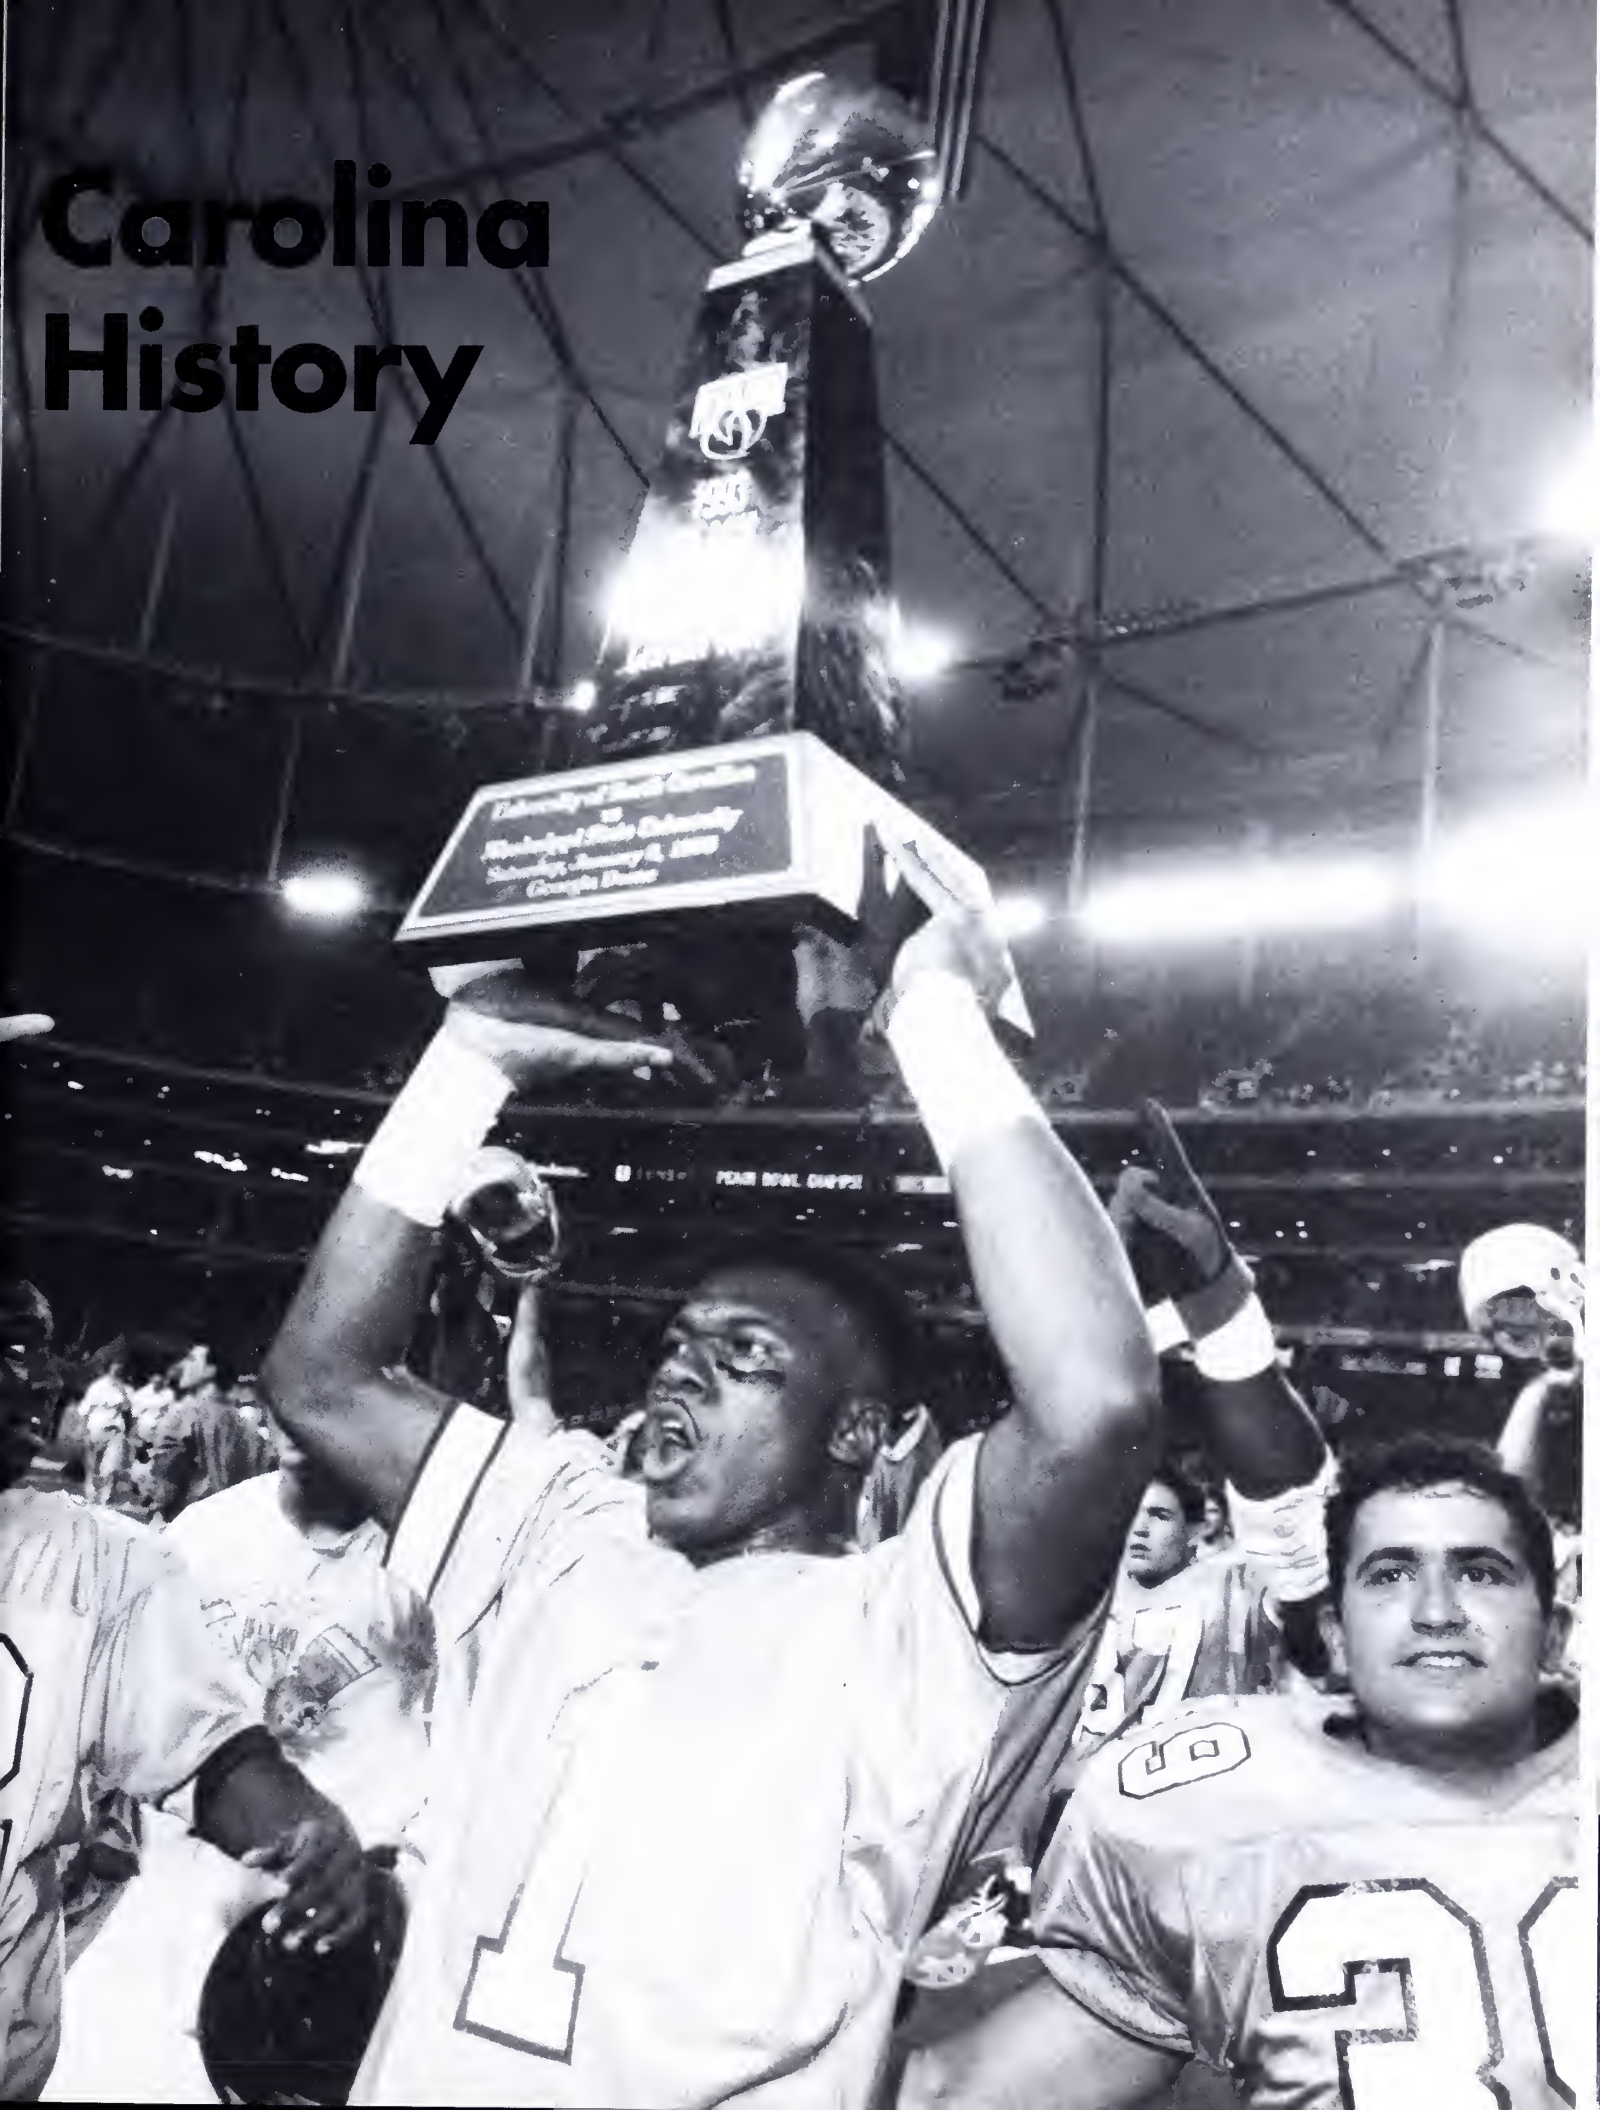
Carolina History

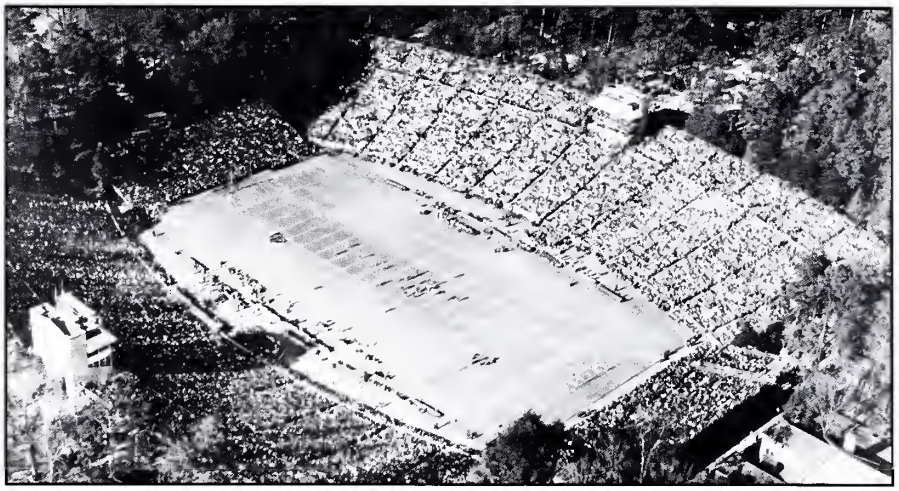


Carolina's Football History

The University of North Carolina, one of the institutions involved in the first intercollegiate football game in the state of North Carolina's history, holds a special place in the annals of the game, both in the Tar Heel state and the nation as a whole.

Carolina, which began playing the sport in 1888, will embark on its 104th season of football competition in 1994. The Tar Heels do that with a history of gridiron greatness, including some of the top coaches in the game, a lineage of talented running backs and one of the most beautiful and historic stadiums in college football. All factors considered, Carolina's football tradition is one of the most respected in both the South and the entire United States.

Surprisingly, football is actually not the oldest varsity sport at UNC. Baseball is accorded that honor, having fielded its first varsity squad back in 1867. But while football started 21 years later, its history is replete with memories that have thrilled legions of Carolina fans as the decades have elapsed.



KENAN STADIUM: Played host to its first game on November 12, 1927. Through the years, the Tar Heels have won 209 games at Kenan, generally regarded as one of the most picturesque venues in the country.

The Early Days

The first UNC team competed back in 1888 and played but two games, losing both and being outscored 22-4. That inauspicious beginning belies the success of the program since then, but those football pioneers are nevertheless credited with starting football at Carolina.

In the fall of 1888, the sophomore class at UNC had formed a team and after vanquishing all the other classes at UNC, began to look around for stiffer opposition. The UNC team challenged the Wake Forest squad to a game which was scheduled during the State Fair in Raleigh on October 18, 1888. Wake won the game 6-4 in what came to be acknowledged as the first intercollegiate football game in the history of the state of North Carolina.

Later that same fall, Carolina challenged Trinity (now Duke) to a Thanksgiving Day contest in Raleigh that drew a crowd of 600 for a 16-0 Trinity triumph. One member of that 1888 UNC team was John Motley Morehead, who went on to great fame as the founder of Union Carbide and who endowed the Morehead Scholarship program and several buildings on the Carolina campus.

That first Carolina team's results may not have been what was expected, but the leaders of the '88 team did get the ball rolling. In Carolina's first 103 seasons of football competition, the Tar Heels have compiled a record of 548-395-54, a winning percentage of .577. Carolina has played in 18 bowl games in its history and won five Southern Conference championships and five Atlantic Coast Conference titles.

Twenty-four Tar Heel players have been honored as first-team All-Americas on 29 occasions. Carolina had 32 All-Southern Conference selections when it played in that league until 1952 and since joining the ACC in 1953, has had 141 first-team All-ACC choices.

Just a few months after the loss to Trinity in 1888, UNC acquired the services of Hector Cowan, former great tackle and captain at Princeton, to help teach the UNC players the fundamentals of the game. Cowan arrived in February 1889 and drilled the Tar Heel troops on the existing athletic field, located on the current site of Bynum Hall.

The 1889 team played two games in the spring and two in the fall. On March 1, 1889, Carolina earned its first win in football as it routed Wake Forest 33-0 before a crowd of 500 in Raleigh. UNC went on to post a 2-2 record that year and earn a share of the state championship with Trinity and Wake Forest.

After a Carolina player suffered a broken collarbone that fall, the University faculty voted to discontinue the sport of football in January 1890 and Carolina did not compete at all the following fall. That is one of only three years since the start of football in 1888 in which the Tar Heels have not fielded a team; play was also suspended during World War I in 1917 and 1918.

The following year, students petitioned to have football restored at UNC and the ban was lifted with the help of Professors Horace Williams, F.P. Venable and Eban Alexander. At this time, athletic control passed from the hands of students to the faculty, a situation that still exists today.

Football returned to UNC that fall with W.P. Graves as coach and UNC compiling an 0-2 record.

The following year, 1892, is considered by most to be the first year of real football at UNC with a representative six-game schedule being played. That squad also earned the distinction of being UNC's first good team. Mike Hoke acted as team captain and the entire squad consisted of just 15 players, with UNC using only one substitute the entire season. The team opened the year with a 40-0 rout of Richmond and after a loss to Virginia in the next game, it went on to win its last four. Carolina's 5-1 mark was the best record in the South that year. That season also marked the first year in which University teams were referred to as "Carolina," with the appellations "University" and "Chapel Hill" being dropped from the popular vernacular.

A meeting in February 1893 signalled the start of the formation of what would become the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association in later years. Ten schools, including UNC, were involved in the meeting and Dr. Venable was voted temporary chairman of the group. Later that same year, on May 12, the UNC athletic association approved the awarding of varsity letters for the first time.

Although the 1893 team managed only a 3-4 record, it did have the distinction of being the first Southern team to play in New York City as Carolina lost a 34-0 decision to Lehigh on November 25, 1893. A year later, Carolina brought in Vernon K. Irvine from Princeton as coach and he led Carolina to a 6-3 mark, attesting to the fact that experienced coaching benefitted the team's performance. That UNC team finished second in the South and won the state championship. It was also the first to be forced to stage closed practices because of problems with crowd control at open sessions.

CARL SNAVELY: Gets a victory ride following Carolino's 34-7 win over Texas in the 1948 seoson opener.

In 1895, T.C. "Doggie" Trenchard came from Princeton to coach the Tar Heels and he led UNC to an outstanding 7-1-1 season marred only by a loss to Virginia. A crowd of 12,000 was on hand for the meeting between the Tar Heels and the Cavaliers in Richmond, which UVa won 6-0. Twice during the game spectators ran onto the field to block the path of Tar Heel runners who had broken into the clear on apparent touchdown runs.

Carolina began to gain some consistency in the sport of football with the arrival of Will A. Reynolds of Princeton as head coach in 1897. Reynolds produced four winning Carolina teams in his four-year tenure at Chapel Hill. His first squad finished at 7-3 and was followed in 1898 by what is still the only unbeaten, untied team in school history. That 1898 squad was a perfect 9-0 and outscored its opponents by an amazing 201-8. The team finished the season by beating Virginia for the first time in six years, 6-2, in Richmond.

Reynolds' final two teams also posted respectable records, going 7-3-1 in 1889 and 4-1-3 in 1900.

Reynolds yielded the coaching reins after the 1900 season to Charles Jenkins, who led UNC to seven straight wins prior to a pair of season-ending losses in 1901. Carolina beat all of its state opponents to win its seventh state championship since 1892. In 1901, letters began to be awarded by an advisory committee of the athletic association. Previously, anyone who played had lettered.

The next 11 seasons saw Carolina with nine different head coaches. The 1905 Carolina squad was coached by William Warner, the brother of the famed "Pop" Warner.

Trenchard returned as Carolina's coach in 1913 for a three-year run. His 1914 squad was outstanding. Sixty men reported for the team and UNC went on to win its first 10 before losing to Virginia 20-3 before a record crowd of 15,000 in Richmond. That UNC team outscored its opponents 359-42 and became the first team in the South to display players' numbers on their jerseys.

Trenchard's 1915 squad did not fare as well, finishing the campaign with a 4-3-1 mark. Seven regulars missed the VMI game and the reserves struggled, fumbling 16 times en route to a 3-3 tie. That same year, Trenchard started the first athletic training table at UNC in his home, feeding the 36 squad members on a daily basis.

The year 1916 found the Tar Heels in a new home as Carolina began to play its games at Emerson Stadium, the site of the current Davis Library. Freshmen were banned from varsity participation for the first time and the team went 5-4 and won its sixth successive state championship.

All of the members of the 1916 squad had entered the military service in World War I by the following fall and varsity football was dropped for the second time in UNC history, this time for a two-year hiatus.

BILL DOOLEY: Gets a victary ride after the Tar Heels clinched the 1971 ACC champianship.

Carolina made its full-fledged return to the gridiron in 1919, going 4-3-1 under Coach Thomas J. Coleman. Carolina twice broke its single game home attendance record that year as it won the state championship. The Tar Heels defeated N.C. State, 13-12, before a crowd of 7,500 and then topped that with 9,000 for a 6-0 win over Virginia. That game marked the first time the Cavaliers had ever played in Chapel Hill.

The Fetzers Take Charge and a Conference Takes Shape

The 1920 campaign was a dismal one as UNC went 2-6 and scored only 16 points in eight games. But a more positive era in North Carolina football began a year later with the hiring of Bill and Bob Fetzer as co-head coaches. Their hiring also marked a change in athletic policy at UNC as the Fetzers were assured of long-term positions instead of the usual one-year contracts. Carolina went 5-2-2 under the Fetzers in 1921 and 10,000 filled Emerson Field for Carolina's 7-3 win over Virginia.

That year also marked the first for UNC's participation in the Southern Intercollegiate Conference, the official name for what has come to be known today simply as the Southern Conference. At a February 25, 1921 meeting in Atlanta, the SIC was formed with a 16-school membership. The conference agreed to bans on post-season play, freshman eligibility and athletic training tables, required eligibility forms for players and disallowed organized practice before September 10.

Carolina would go on to have great success in the Southern Conference, tying for the league crown in 1922 and winning it outright in 1934, 1937, 1946 and 1949.

The Fetzers' greatest team was probably the 1922 edition which posted an impressive 9-1 mark, won the South Atlantic championship and tied for the Southern Conference crown. That team lost only to Yale, 18-0, and had three touchdowns called back by penalties in the game. The squad was ranked 11th in the nation by I.B. Thomas in the January 1923 issue of Intercollegiate Athletics and played before a record 68,500 fans during the course of the campaign.

The 1923 team was ravaged by injuries but limped to a 5-3-1 record nevertheless and a state championship for a second straight year. A year later, the Tar Heels were only 4-5 but they did play before their largest crowd to that date, 25,000 at New Haven's Yale Bowl in a 27-0 loss to the Bulldogs.

The 1925 season would prove to be the Fetzers' last as co-coaches. The Tar Heels responded with an excellent season, going 7-1-1 and winning the state championship. The only loss came at the hands of Wake Forest. A crowd of 16,000 jammed Emerson Field (capacity 2,400) to see the Heels and Virginia play to a 3-3 tie in the season finale.

The following year began a new era in Carolina football as Chuck Collins came on the scene as head coach. He had the longest tenure (eight years) of the early Carolina coaches. Collins, who was one of the seven mules in the offensive line for Notre Dame's famed Four Horsemen, served as Carolina's coach from 1926 through 1933.

The 1926 season also brought onto the scene the infamous Kay Kyser, later to be a renowned Big Band leader and radio and motion pictures personality, as head cheerleader and his Cheerios as the first major organized cheer block at Carolina.

Majestic Kenan

New stadium plans were also in the works in 1926. Carolina alumni in Durham and Chapel Hill met on May 24, 1926 to form the Durham Stadium Committee. On November 13 of that same year, William Rand Kenan, a New York City engineer and 1893 UNC football letterman, gave the University a gift of $275,000 to help build the stadium.

The first game was played in Kenan Stadium on November 12, 1927 with UNC beating Davidson 27-0 before a crowd of 9,000 fans. The following Saturday, UNC beat two-touchdown favorite Duke 18-0 in Durham. The stadium was officially dedicated on Thanksgiving Day 1927 with 28,000 attending as Carolina edged Virginia 14-13. John Sprunt Hill officially made the presentation of the stadium to Governor A.W. McLean who accepted on behalf of the University and state.

Carolina won its first state championship since 1925 during the 1928 season. Its 5-3-2 record that year included a 65-0 win over Wake Forest in the season opener. That still stands as the largest margin of victory in UNC history. President Calvin Coolidge attended the Carolina-Virginia game in Charlottesville that year and saw the Tar Heels pull out a 24-20 win. It was the first time a U.S. President had ever attended a game in the South.

Collins' first great team was the 1929 edition which went 9-1 and outscored its opponents 346-60. The only loss of the year came to Georgia and only Southern California scored more points during the course of the season. Ray Farris was the captain of that UNC team and was a unanimous All-Southern Conference choice at guard. Carolina was called the "Team of a Million Backs" and drew a record attendance of 139,500.

TWO OF THE GREATEST: Ta ever wear the Carolina Blue — 1970 All-America Dan McCauley (left) and 1948-49 All-America Charlie Justice.

The 1931 team coached by Collins went 4-3-3 and won the state championship. The Carolina-Duke game went big time for the first time that year as a crowd of 20,000 in Durham watched the two teams play to their second straight scoreless tie. Johnny Branch, a great all-purpose runner, was the star of that squad.

"King Carl" Reigns

The quiet Dutchman, Carl Snavely, came to Chapel Hill in 1934 from Bucknell to take over the coaching reins of the Tar Heels. It would be the first of two tours of duty for Snavely as head coach. The 1934 team went 7-1-1 and was led by George Barclay, UNC's first All-America in football, at guard. Carolina lost only to Tennessee and it tied N.C. State that season. The Carolina-Duke game drew state and Kenan record crowds as the Tar Heels eked out a 7-0 victory.

The 1935 team also proved to be a great one as Snavely led his squad to an 8-1 record.

Carolina won its first seven of the season and there was talk that the Tar Heels were headed to the Rose Bowl. But arch-rival Duke made sure that didn't happen on Saturday, November 16 in Durham as the Blue Devils played an errorless game, winning 25-0. That game drew a new Southern attendance record of 47,000 and in total 149,500 saw UNC play during the course of the year, another record. After losing to Duke, UNC came back to pummel Virginia 61-0 and ended up eighth in the final Associated Press rankings. Ace passer Don Jackson was named a second-team All-America.

Ray Wolf came to Carolina in 1936 to coach after Snavely had gone on to Cornell. Wolf had six successful seasons at UNC, producing winning teams the first five. The 1936 team went 8-2 and lost only to Tulane and Duke. That squad was led by end Andy Bershak, who was a second-team All-America in 1936 and a first teamer a year later. Wolf's teams continued their success, going 7-1-1, 6-2-1, 8-1-1 and 6-4 in subsequent years. Some of Wolf's outstanding players were Jim Lalanne, Paul Severin and George Stirnweiss.

The World War II years were an unsettled time in Carolina athletic history. From 1942 through 1944, UNC had three different head coaches who put makeshift teams through the paces against adjusted schedules which included some military teams. Jim Tatum, an outstanding player at Carolina in the 1930s, coached the 1942 unit. He would return for another coaching tenure later.

Snavely returned to Chapel Hill in 1945 and during the next five years produced some of the best teams in Carolina football history. His 1948 team finished third in the AP poll, the highest final ranking ever for the Tar Heels.

An Omaha, Neb. native, Snavely was a 1915 alumnus of Lebanon Valley College. He had coached Carolina teams in 1934 and 1935 to a 15-2-1 record and returned in 1945 after nine years at Cornell. In fact, at Cornell in 1940, Snavely was involved in an infamous contest which would be recounted repeatedly some 50 years after the fact. Snavely was the coach who, upon learning it had taken a fifth down for his Big Red to defeat Dartmouth, wired the opposing coach Red Blaik and relinquished the victory.

Choo Choo and Championships

His 1945 team did well, finishing 5-5 after winning only one game the previous season. Then the incomparable Charlie Justice arrived a year later, and with his compatriots, UNC went to three major bowl games and won two Southern Conference titles in the period from 1946-49.

ETHAN HORTON: Rushed for more than 2,300 yards in 1983-84 and was the 1984 ACC Player of the Year. Horton, a former All-Pro tight end with the Raiders, signed as a free agent in the off-season with the Washington Redskins.

Snavely's 1946 team was 8-2-1, won the Southern Conference championship and lost to Georgia, 20-10, in the Sugar Bowl. The 1947 team was probably the best of the four. It finished 8-2, winning its last seven, but went uninvited in the post-season. The 1948 unit had only a regular-season tie with William & Mary to mar its record. It went on to lose to Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl. Finally, the 1949 team was unbeaten in the conference and finished 7-4 overall, losing to Rice in the Cotton Bowl.

Justice was not the only star of those Snavely teams. Art Weiner and Ken Powell were tremendous ends on those teams and Hosea Rodgers was a great rugged fullback of the era.

But Justice was the main attraction unquestionably. He ran and passed for over 4,000 yards in his four-year career and he averaged over 42 yards a punt. He had only two punts blocked in his career and both of those were in the first game of his freshman year. When he was done after the 1949 season, Justice had established NCAA records in total offense and punting and was considered the greatest punter of all time.

As a triple-threat All-America halfback, Justice captured the imagination and fancy of the football fan as no one else ever had. He was idolized and the attention he received from the fans and the media was almost unheard of in that time.

A native of Asheville, he had served in the Navy in World War II and was already 26 years old by the time of his senior year in 1949. He capped his amazing career by being named the Most Valuable Player in the 1950 College All-Star Game in Chicago.

The '50s, '60s and the ACC

The departure of Justice from campus coincided with a 20-year drought in UNC's football fortunes. Snavely, despite all his earlier successes, could not produce a winning team after the Justice era. George Barclay, Carolina's first All-America player back in 1934, was brought in as head coach, but he encountered little success in his three years of running the program. That's when Carolina successfully lured Jim Tatum back to the fold. Tatum was a great UNC player in the 1930s and had coached the Tar Heels during World War II in 1942. He had since been at Maryland where he led the Terrapins to the national championship in 1953.

Tatum's first season back in Chapel Hill, in 1956, was rather undistinguished. The Tar Heels went 2-7-1 with victories over Virginia and Maryland. In 1957, in Tatum's first return trip to College Park where he had enjoyed so much success, the Carolina-Maryland game was marked by the appearance of Queen Elizabeth II. The queen and her entourage watched the Terrapins beat the Tar Heels 21-7. But that 1957 team finished 6-4 as did the 1958 team under Tatum's steady leadership.

It appeared Carolina had the corner turned when Tatum died suddenly in the summer of 1959 from Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever. He was replaced by assistant Jim Hickey whose teams did not meet with a great deal of success in his eight seasons as head coach. Hickey produced only one winning record, that in 1963 when the Tar Heels finished 9-2 and shared their first Atlantic Coast Conference title. That team went on to post the school's first win in a bowl game, a 35-0 decision over Air Force in the Gator Bowl. That 1963 squad was led by the running of Ken Willard, the passing of Junior Edge and Gary Black and the pass receiving of Bob Lacey. Linebacker Chris Hanburger was a stalwart on defense for the Tar Heels.

Rebirth Under Dooley

After Hickey resigned after a 2-8 season in 1966, UNC looked to Bill Dooley to revitalize its football fortunes. The choice proved to be a wise one. Dooley's teams won 69, lost 53 and tied two in his 11-year tenure. ACC championships were won under Dooley in 1971, 1972 and 1977. Bowl trips became a regular feature — six in all during the Dooley years.

After three rebuilding seasons, Dooley's first good team was in 1970. It finished 8-4 and went on to play Arizona State in the Peach Bowl. Tailback Don McCauley, who had gained 1,092 yards rushing in 1969, returned for a 1,720-yard season in 1970. He was the first of UNC's 23 1,000-yard rushers. The Garden City, N.Y. native's 1,720 yards in 1970 broke what was then O.J. Simpson's single-season NCAA rushing standard.

Dooley's teams won back-to-back ACC titles in 1971 and 1972. The '71 team lost to Georgia 7-3 in the Gator Bowl in a matchup of coaching brothers, Vince Dooley being the head mentor of the Bulldogs. The 1972 team had an 11-1 record marred only by a loss at Ohio State. It won a thrilling 32-28 decision from Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl.

The mid-1970s brought more success as UNC made bowl appearances in 1974 (Sun), 1976 (Peach) and 1977 (Liberty). Sammy Johnson was a 1,000-yard rusher for Carolina in 1973 as was James Betterson in 1974. But the outstanding offensive player of this era was Mike Voight who gained over 1,000 yards in 1974, 1975 and 1976, including 1,407 yards in '76. Voight was named the ACC Player of the Year in both 1975 and '76 for his efforts.

The 1977 team would prove to be Dooley's last at UNC. It won the ACC title and earned a berth opposite Nebraska in the Liberty Bowl. A rugged defense led by All-America tackle Dee Hardison helped Carolina lead the nation in scoring defense that season. UNC allowed only 81 points in 11 regular-season games. The new offensive star was a freshman tailback named Amos Lawrence, who rushed for 1,211 yards and was named ACC Rookie of the Year.

Headline Acts: Famous Amos, LT and KB

Dooley resigned in January 1978 to accept the dual role of head football coach and athletic director at Virginia Tech. At that time, Carolina turned to the "Cradle of Coaches" at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, to find its new head coach, Dick Crum.

Crum had just completed an outstanding four-year run at Miami. His 10 years as head coach at UNC were equally brilliant. The winningest coach in Tar Heel history, he compiled a 72-41-3 ledger at the UNC helm. He took six of his 10 UNC teams to bowl games, winning on four occasions, and the 1980 squad won the ACC championship.

After a 5-6 record in 1978, Crum's teams from 1979 through 1983 went to five successive bowls and won 45 games. UNC posted four consecutive bowl wins over national football powers, beating Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl, Texas in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl, Arkansas in the 1981 Gator Bowl and Texas again in the 1982 Sun Bowl.

In 1980 and 1981, UNC became the first team in league history to finish in the Top 10 of both wire service polls in successive years. The 1980 team was 11-1 and ranked ninth by United Press International and 10th by Associated Press. The 1981 unit was 10-2 and rated eighth by UPI and ninth by AP. Two more Carolina teams coached by Crum would later go to Bowl games, the 1983 team to the Peach Bowl to face Florida State and the 1986 corps to the Aloha Bowl for a meeting with Arizona.

There was a plethora of outstanding players at Carolina during the Crum era and the Tar Heel football record book was being constantly updated. In 1980, linebacker Lawrence Taylor was named the ACC Player of the Year and he has gone on to All-Pro status with the New York Giants. That season, Taylor led what was one of the greatest defenses in ACC history. Other great defensive players at UNC included linebacker Buddy Curry, defensive tackle Donnell Thompson, linebacker Darrell Nicholson, defensive back Steve Streater, defensive tackle William Fuller and outside linebacker Mike Wilcher. All of those players were All-ACC selections and several went on to have distinguished pro careers. Fuller made four first-team All-America squads in 1983.

Although Crum's teams were known for their rugged defense, Carolina also excelled offensively, leading the ACC in total offense four times in the 1980s and ranking sixth nationally in 1986.

There were several reasons behind the offensive fireworks. First, there was a succession of outstanding running backs. Five different players gained 1,000 or more yards rushing in a season a total of 10 times under Crum's tutelage. After his brilliant freshman year, Lawrence went on to gain 1,000 yards three more times. He and Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett are the only two runners in college football history to gain 1,000 yards rushing in each of their four seasons. Kelvin Bryant overcame an injury-marred career to gain 1,000 yards on three occasions. Ethan Horton turned the trick twice in his career and both Tyrone Anthony and Derrick Fenner had one 1,000-yard rushing season each.

A second reason behind UNC's offensive success was the presence of some outstanding offensive linemen in the '80s, four of whom gained first-team All-America status – guard Ron Wooten in 1980, guard David Drechsler in 1981 and '82, tackle Brian Blados in 1983 and tackle Harris Barton in 1986.

AMOS LAWRENCE: Rushed for 100 yards or more a Carolina-record 25 times.

LAWRENCE TAYLOR: May be the greatest defensive player in NFL history and was a fearsome hitter in his days at Carolina. In 1980, Taylor was named the ACC Player of the Year.

Carolina's offense also became more diversified in the Crum era and the passing section of the Carolina record book was basically rewritten at that time by a string of accomplished starters at quarterback– Matt Kupec, Rod Elkins, Scott Stankavage, Kevin Anthony and Mark Maye.

Enter Mack Brown

At the conclusion of the 1987 season, Crum resigned to return home to his native Ohio. Carolina conducted a national search to find a successor to lead the Tar Heels into their second century. The unanimous choice of the search committee was Mack Brown, who came to Carolina after head coaching stops at Appalachian State and Tulane. He is considered nationally as one of the finest young minds in the game, a brilliant motivator and communicator.

Caught with slim material, Brown's first two teams struggled. However, there were some bright individual stars for Carolina in that period, including center Jeff Garnica. He was a third-team All-America and the Jacobs Blocking Trophy recipient in 1988 as the best offensive lineman in the ACC. Offensive guard Pat Crowley became only the second offensive lineman in ACC history to be named All-ACC in three successive years when he accomplished that feat in 1989.

The blocking of those two players was instrumental in tailback Kennard Martin leading the ACC in rushing in 1988 with 1,146 yards. Martin thus became the 19th runner in Tar Heel history to gain 1,000 yards in a season.

The Tar Heels turned things around in 1990, however, and put together a solid 6-4-1 record and even returned to the Top 25 at one point in the season. Inside linebacker Dwight Hollier led the ACC in tackles for the second consecutive season and rookie tailback Natrone Means capped a stellar second half of the season with a 256-yard, three-touchdown effort vs. Duke. Along the way, Carolina tied Georgia Tech 13-13; the stalemate proved to be the only blemish on the Yellow Jackets' otherwise-perfect national championship ledger.

In 1991, Means became the 11th Tar Heel to rush for more than 1,000 yards for an NCAA-record 20th time. Means ran for 1,030 yards and topped the 1,000-yard plateau on an electrifying, 68-yard scamper in the Tar Heels' 47-14 rout over Duke. Means, inside linebacker Tommy Thigpen and offensive guard Brian Bollinger each were first-team All-ACC selections.

NATRONE MEANS: Rushed for 1,030 yards in 1991 and added a 1,195-yard campaign in 1992. Carolina backs have accounted for 23 1,000-yard seasons, the most in college football history.

1992 was another filled with great players, spectacular plays and electrifying memories. The Tar Heels won nine games, including a 21-17 win over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl, and finished the season ranked in the Top 20 in both major polls.

Means rushed for 1,195 yards, the 21st 1,000-yard rushing season in Carolina history. Means had a 249-yard day at Maryland and once again dramatically crashed the 1,000-yard club with a 76-yard touchdown scamper against the Terrapins.

The Tar Heels defeated Top 20 opposition on consecutive weekends in mid-season, the first time in the program's history the team accomplished that feat.

Carolina accepted a bid to play in the Peach Bowl and provided one of the most entertaining postseason games of the season. Trailing by two touchdowns in the third quarter, UNC rallied for a 21-17 win. Means, a repeat first-team All-ACC selection, gained 128 yards and was named the game's Offensive MVP. Strong safety Bracey Walker tied the game when he blocked a punt, his second of the game, and returned it 41 yards for a score.

Walker, the game's Defensive MVP, set up the game-winning touchdown when he forced an interception with a jarring fourth-quarter hit. Cornerback Cliff Baskerville picked the loose ball out of the air and raced 44 yards for the winning touchdown.

Last year the Tar Heels provided one of the most entertaining seasons in Carolina history. UNC won 10 games for the first time in a dozen years, finished second in the ACC, 19th in the Associated Press poll and played in a bowl game for a second consecutive season.

UNC set nearly 40 team and individual records, including most points, points per game and total offense. Walker was named first-team All-America by several organizations and was a first-team All-ACC selection along with tailback Curtis Johnson and offensive tackle Ethan Albright.

Johnson and redshirt freshman tailback Leon Johnson each rushed for 1,000-plus yards. Curtis rushed for 1,034 yards and set a school record with a 90-yard score vs. Maryland; Leon was named the ACC Rookie of the Year as he rushed for 1,012 yards and led the conference with 16 touchdowns and 100 points. Carolina now has produced an NCAA-record 23 1,000-yard rushing seasons.

Quarterback Jason Stanicek set UNC records for one season in total offense (2,284 yards), total yards per game (190.3), completion percentage (64.1) and pass efficiency rating (145.79).

Corey Holliday concluded his brilliant career as Carolina's all-time leading pass receiver. Twice selected a captain by his teammates, Holliday finished his four years with 155 receptions for 2,447 yards and caught a pass in an ACC-record 45 consecutive games. He had nine receptions, a UNC postseason record, versus Alabama in Carolina's 24-10 loss in the Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl.

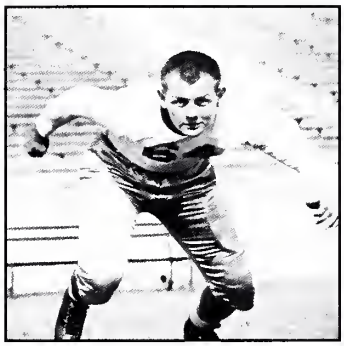
First-Team All-Americas

George Barclay, Guard, 1934

Here is Carolina's first football All-America. The 5-11, 185-pound guard and linebacker was a three-year standout for Chuck Collins and Carl Snavely. A fine blocker and an extraordinary tackler, Barclay lined up in the offensive interior next to tackle Jim Tatum. He was captain of the 1934 team which went 7-1-1. Barclay later served as head coach at Carolina for three seasons, from 1953 to 1955.

Andy Bershak, End, 1937

A 185-pound end, Bershak was a two-way performer for the Tar Heels. He was a fine receiver, but was even better on defense. He played two years for Carl Snavely and one for Ray Wolf. Bershak, an honor student, also was a basketball starter. He was selected to the Order of the Golden Fleece and served as president of the Carolina Athletic Association.



STEVE MARONIC: Co-captained the 1938 Tar Heels and as a two-way tackle played almost the entire 60 minute game each week.

Steve Maronic, Tackle, 1938

Maronic was a two-way tackle for the Tar Heels and team co-captain in 1938. He was an "iron man" playing almost 60 minutes in every game that season. He turned in two of his best performances in front of the New York media against NYU at Yankee Stadium and Fordham at the Polo Grounds. Those games solidified his All-America chances. Maronic also was a place-kicker and hit 13 straight PATs in his final season.

PAUL SEVERIN: Was Carolina's first repeat selection as All-America in 1939-40.

Paul Severin, End, 1939-40

Severin was a two-time All-America selection by the Associated Press (1939 and 1940) and made most of the all-star teams in his senior season. His career was filled with big plays—a touchdown catch to tie Tulane in 1939, two scoring catches against Penn that same season and a touchdown-saving tackle from behind of Duke's great Steve Lach in a 6-3 win over the Blue Devils in 1940.

CHARLIE JUSTICE (22) AND ART WEINER: Led the Tar Heels to three major bowl games in the late 1940s. Both players have been inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame.

Charlie Justice, Halfback, 1948-49

Twice runnerup for the Heisman Trophy, Charlie Justice is rated by many as the best all-around player in the history of Southern football. He was a true triple-threat performer, leading Carolina in rushing, passing and punting from 1946 to 1949. He sparked Tar Heel teams which appeared in the Sugar Bowl twice and the Cotton Bowl once. He is the school's all-time total offense leader with 4,883 yards and also ranks as the Tar Heels' second-leading career scorer, seventh-leading rusher and 10th-leading passer. He had a career punting average of 42.6 and averaged 14.2 yards on punt returns and 26.6 yards on kickoff returns.

He is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. In 1949 he received the national player of the year award from the Washington Touchdown Club and was recipient of the Walter Camp Memorial Trophy.

Art Weiner, End, 1948-49

A great all-around end, Weiner led the nation in receiving in 1949 with 52 catches. He had been seventh nationally in receiving the previous year with 31 catches. His 106 career catches are the second-most in school history and he still holds the UNC career record with 18 touchdown receptions. However, many remember him best for a game-saving defensive play on the last snap of the 1949 Duke game. After his senior season Weiner was named the most outstanding lineman in the Senior Bowl. Weiner was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1992.

Irv Holdash, Center, 1950

While Carolina's football fortunes slipped in the years immediately following the Charlie Justice Era, Holdash still received national attention for his outstanding play. A center on offense and linebacker on defense, Holdash was a three-year regular who never missed a game during his varsity career. He probably made All-America in 1950 with a sensational performance in a 14-7 loss at Notre Dame. Irish quarterback Bobby Williams called him "the best I've played against."

IRV HOLDASH: Never missed a game during his three-year career at center and was selected to the 1950 All-America Team.

AL GOLDSTEIN: Made 24 catches en route to being named All-America in 1958. He averaged 20.4 yards per catch that season.

Al Goldstein, End, 1958

Goldstein was another outstanding two-way end at Carolina. He earned All-America honors in 1958 by making 24 catches for 490 yards, averaging an amazing 20.4 yards per reception. Adept at making the seemingly impossible catch, he had a 68-yard TD reception at Virginia. He also starred defensively and had a 46-yard interception return for a touchdown against Maryland.

BOB LACEY: Caught 48 passes for 533 yards and was named a 1963 All-America.

Bob Lacey, End, 1963

Lacey led the Atlantic Coast Conference in receiving in 1963 with 48 catches for 533 yards. His pass-catching was a key factor as Carolina rolled to a 9-2 record, defeating the Air Force, 35-0, in the Gator Bowl. Lacey was also the team's top receiver in 1962 with 44 catches. He is the only Tar Heel player to have at least 40 catches on two occasions. His career total of 102 receptions is the third-best in school history.

Don McCauley, Halfback, 1970

Don McCauley shattered the Carolina and the Atlantic Coast Conference record books with a dazzling senior season in 1970. He rushed for 1,720 yards and scored 21 touchdowns, setting marks which still stand. His 1,720 yards was an all-time collegiate high at the time, breaking O.J. Simpson's NCAA record. McCauley led the nation in all-purpose running that season. He was twice the ACC Player of the Year and still ranks fourth in career rushing at Carolina. He had a lengthy professional career with the Baltimore Colts.

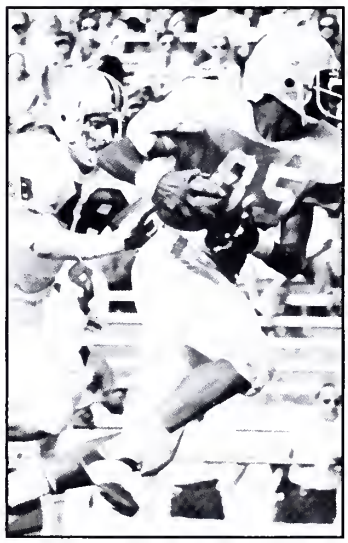
Ron Rusnak, Offensive Guard, 1972

Rusnak was a unanimous All-America selection in 1972 as Carolina posted an 11-1 record. At 6-2 and 220 pounds, he did not have the size to play professional football, but Rusnak was a great college player. He was a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference choice, starting on teams which combined for a 20-4 record. In 1972 he won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the ACC.

Ken Huff, Offensive Guard, 1974

Huff was a key man on one of the most explosive units in Carolina history. He was the leader of an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels accumulate 4,691 yards in 1974, at the time a school record. The 6-4, 255-pound Huff won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Sparked in great part by his play up front, the Tar Heels had two backs rush for over 1,000 yards in the same season. Huff was the third player selected in the NFL draft by the Baltimore Colts.



CHARLES WADDELL: Wan collegiate letters in three sparts, was a 1974 All-America and wan the 1975 Pattersan Medal as UNC's Outstanding Seniar Athlete.

Charles Waddell, Tight End, 1974

Waddell rates as one of the best all-around athletes in Carolina history. He won three football letters, two in basketball and one in track. Not only was he a fine receiver at tight end, but he also was a dynamic blocker there. He set a school single-game record in 1974 with three touchdown catches against Clemson. He had 41 career catches for 518 yards and seven TDs. His professional career was cut short by a knee injury.

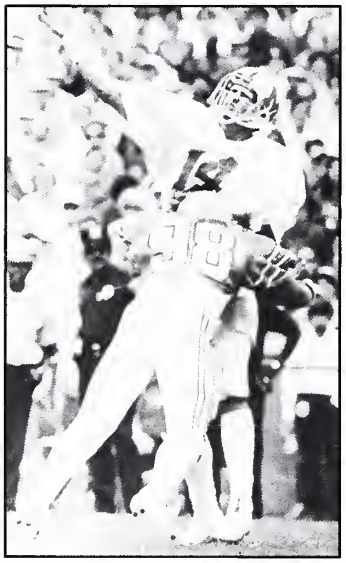
RICKY BARDEN: Holds the Corolino record for coreer interception return yordoge with 156 yards.

Dee Hardison, Defensive Tackle, 1977

A two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection, Hardison played on one of the top defensive teams in Carolina history. In 1977 Carolina led the nation in scoring defense, giving up just 7.4 points a game. The Tar Heels led the ACC in total, rushing, pass and scoring defense. A big reason was the play of Hardison, a 6-3, 252-pound tackle who dominated the line of scrimmage all season. After leaving Carolina he began a lengthy NFL career with the Buffalo Bills.



LAWRENCE TAYLOR: Set o school record in 1980 when he recorded on omozing 16 quorterbock socks en route to being nomed ACC Ployer of the Yeor ond All-Americo.

Ricky Barden, Defensive Back, 1979

One of the top defensive backs in Carolina history, Barden was a repeat All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection in 1978 and 1979. Barden made nine career interceptions. He started at cornerback for two years and then was shifted to strong safety for his final year where he broke up nine passes and was the third-leading tackler. His 156 yards on interception returns is the most in school history.

Lawrence Taylor, Outside Linebacker, 1980

From midway in his junior season until the end of his senior year in 1980, Taylor dominated the football field as few defensive players ever had. Now regarded as the finest outside linebacker in the history of the game, Taylor had a remarkable senior season which featured 16 quarterback sacks and six other tackles for losses. In Carolina's only close games in an 11-1 season, Taylor made the game-saving defensive plays against Texas Tech and Clemson. He was a runaway selection as Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year.

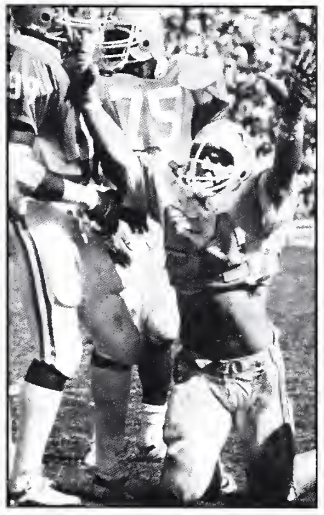
RON WOOTEN: Won the Jocobs Blocking Trophy from his offensive guord position in 1980 when he opened the holes for o poir of 1,000-yord toilbocks.



DAVID DRECHSLER (54): eorned All-Americo honors in 1981 ond 1982 ond become the first UNC ployer to repeot All-Americo seosons since Chorlie Justice in 1948-49.

Ron Wooten, Offensive Guard, 1980

Wooten won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy in 1980 as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He was the leading vote-getter in the offensive line on the All-ACC team. He was one of the leaders of an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels lead the ACC in total offense and which also helped produce two 1,000-yard backs. He went on to become a starting guard with New England in the NFL.

David Drechsler, Offensive Guard, 1981-82

Drechsler became Carolina's first two-time All-America since Charlie Justice and Art Weiner when he earned first-team honors in 1981 and 1982. He played every position in the offensive interior during his Carolina career, but settled in at guard. The 6-4, 253-pound Drechsler played on Tar Heel teams which were 37-10-1 and were unbeaten in four bowl games. He also was the winner of a post-graduate scholarship from the NCAA. Drechsler went on to become a starter with the Green Bay Packers until a back injury forced him to give up the game.

WILLIAM FULLER: Eorned All-Americo honors in 1982 ond 1983 ond is just one of five Tor Heels to be nomed All-Americo in two different seosons.

William Fuller, Defensive Tackle, 1982-83

Fuller is one of just five Carolina players to win first-team All-America honors twice. Although powerfully built at 6-3 and 250 pounds, Fuller's greatest asset was his quickness. He used that quickness to make 13 tackles for losses and six sacks in 1982 and 17 tackles for losses with five sacks the following year. He was the only unanimous choice on the 1983 All-ACC team and is one of just two linemen ever to make All-ACC for three straight years.

BRIAN BLADOS: Was an All-America in 1983 when he led the way for two 1,000-yard backs and UNC set a school record for total offense in a season.

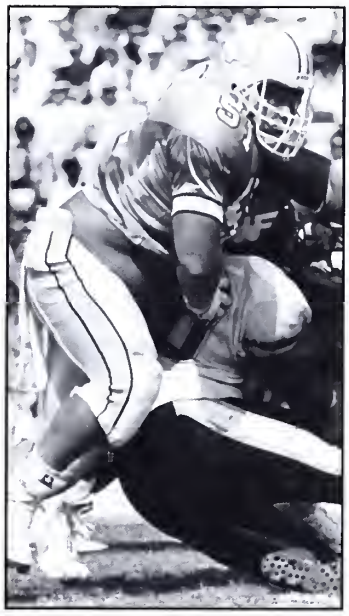
Brian Blados, Offensive Tackle, 1983

When two Carolina tailbacks ran for over 1,000 yards in 1983, much of that yardage came behind Blados. The 6-6, 305-pound left tackle dominated the line of scrimmage as Carolina set a school total offense record and finished seventh nationally in yardage. Blados was named on 90 of 100 ballots in voting for the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team. He was a first round choice by the Cincinnati Bengals in the NFL draft.

HARRIS BARTON: Started for four years and was an All-America at offensive tackle in 1986. He also earned a post-graduate scholarship by the National Football Foundation and was a first round draft pick by the San Francisco 49ers.

Harris Barton, Offensive Tackle, 1986

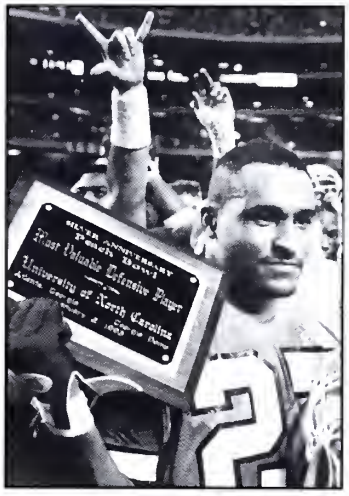
Barton was a four-year starter for the Tar Heels, first at center and then at tackle. With so many teams playing even-man front defenses, Barton was moved to tackle in 1984 to take better advantage of his skills. He excelled at left tackle, the key blocking spot in the Carolina passing game. As a senior, he led an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels rank first in the Atlantic Coast Conference and sixth nationally in total offense. An excellent student, he was chosen for a post-graduate scholarship by the National Football Foundation and was a first-round selection in the NFL draft.



PAT CROWLEY: Was just the second offensive lineman in ACC history to win all-conference honors in three seasons.

Pat Crowley, Offensive Guard, 1989

A standout offensive guard who was a leader of the first of Mack Brown's teams. He won first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in 1987, 1988 and 1989 and became only the second offensive lineman in conference history to win three all-league honors (Virginia's Jim Dombrowski was the other). He started every game in his college career and helped open the way for a pair of 1,000-yard backs (Derrick Fenner in 1986 and Kennard Martin in 1988).



Bracey Walker: Set a UNC record with eight blocked punts and was chosen by Sports Illustrated as the 1993 National Special Teams Player of the Year.

Bracey Walker, Free Safety, 1993

The first Carolina defensive back to ever receive first-team All-America honors by a major organization. Walker burst onto the scene in 1992 when he was one of the stars of the Peach Bowl win over Mississippi State. Walker blocked two punts in that game, returned one of them for a tying touchdown and set up the game-winning interception with a jarring collision. He was the Defensive MVP of the Peach Bowl.

In 1993 he led the Tar Heels with 100 tackles and was the co-leading vote-getter on the All-ACC first team defense. He also blocked four more punts, two of which were recovered in the end zone by Carolina, and was named the National Special Teams Player of the Year by Sports Illustrated.

That's the magic figure for any runner in football.

Call him a halfback, a running back, a tailback, an I-Back or whatever you want. But, when he rushes for 1,000 yards, you simply call him something special.

Nowhere in college football have there been more special runners than at the University of North Carolina.

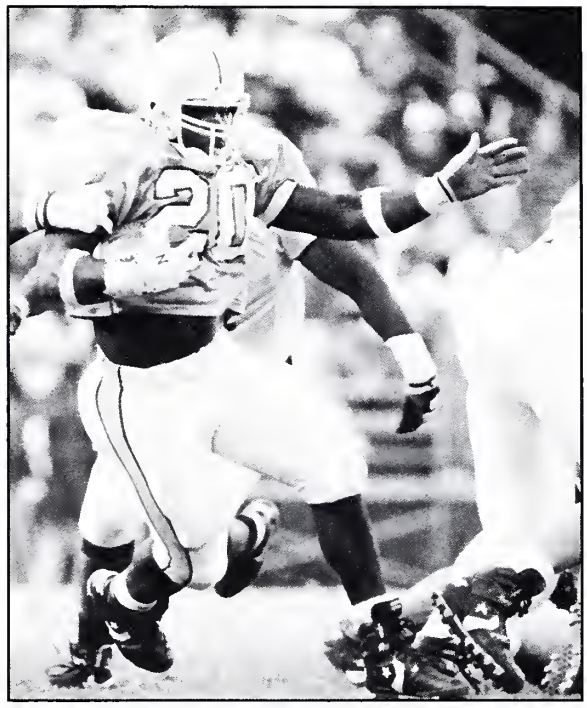
In the last 25 years Tar Heel tailbacks have rushed for over 1,000 yards on 23 occasions. That gives Carolina more 1,000-yard backs than anyone else in collegiate history. The University of Southern California is second with 19.

In a 12-year period from 1973 to 1984, Carolina had at least one player break the 1,000-yard mark each season. And in the six years of Mack Brown's reign in Chapel Hill, four Tar Heels have topped the 1,000 plateau on five occasions. Last year both Curtis Johnson and Leon Johnson rushed for 1,000-plus yards, the fourth time in UNC history that not one, but two, players topped the 1,000-yard plateau.

In 1992 Natrone Means rushed for 1,195 yards, his second consecutive 1,000-yard season. In 1991, Means rushed for 1,030 yards and vaulted over the magical 1,000-yard barrier on his final carry of the season, a 68-yard touchdown run versus arch-rival Duke. He topped 1,000 in similar fashion in '92 as he reached the magical figure on a wild, 76-yard scoring scamper at Maryland.

Three times in a 12-year stretch from 1973-84, the Tar Heels had two tailbacks get 1,000 yards in the same season. It has been rare in college football for a school to produce two 1,000-yard backs in one year. When it has happened it has generally been with option attacks–the veer or the wishbone. But, on all four occasions when Carolina has had a pair of 1,000-yard rushers, the players actually shared the same position– tailback in the Tar Heels' I-formation.

Tailback at Carolina, in fact, has become the glamour position in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Year in and year out, more attention goes to Tar Heel tailbacks than to players at any other position at any other school in the league. To be a tailback at Carolina, one has to be a superb athlete, one of the nation's best players, someone special.



NATRONE MEANS: Now a running back with the San Diego Chargers, Means rushed for 1,000-plus yards in 1991 and 1992. He is one of six Tar Heels to have rushed for 1,000 yards in consecutive seasons.

How has Carolina been able to produce so many 1,000-yard backs?

Certainly, having outstanding runners has been a major factor. But, other schools also have had great backs and haven't been able to compile the figures of Carolina. For example, the Tar Heels have had more 1,000-yard rushers than Alabama, Notre Dame and Oklahoma combined.

No, there are also other reasons, the most important of which are probably fine offensive linemen, belief in the I-formation and tradition. Those reasons also hold true for Southern California.

Carolina and USC have each had two players rush for 1,000 yards three times—Mike Voight and Kelvin Bryant of the Tar Heels and the Trojans' Charles White and Anthony Davis.

In addition, Carolina's Amos Lawrence had an amazing four 1,000-yard seasons. He and Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett are the only major college players ever to hit the 1,000-yard mark four times.

The biggest difference between the tailback systems at Carolina and Southern Cal is that Trojan backs have generally had higher yardage totals. But, USC usually picks one player as its tailback and sticks with him throughout the season. In fact, Southern Cal has never had two backs gain 1,000 yards in the same season.

Carolina, on the other hand, has alternated tailbacks quite a bit, trying to keep a fresh player in the game at all times. When two players split a position, their individual yardage totals obviously aren't as high as those of runners who stay in the game constantly. The Tar Heel philosophy is simply that if you've got two great runners, let them both play. In the long run, both will be more effective.

That's not to say Carolina would never go with a system like USC's. If one runner is clearly better than all others, he will get the majority of the playing time. For example, Don McCauley rushed for 1,720 yards in 1970. At that time that broke O.J. Simpson's all-time NCAA single-season yardage record. Still, McCauley's backup, Ike Oglesby, had 562 yards.

McCauley is Carolina's only 1,000-yard back from outside the ACC's geographic area. He is a native of Garden City, N.Y.

Bryant, Tyrone Anthony, James Betterson, Ethan Horton, Sammy Johnson, Kennard Martin, Means, Curtis Johnson and Leon Johnson are all North Carolinians. Lawrence and Voight grew up in Virginia, while Derrick Fenner is from Maryland.

All those eligible have played professional football. McCauley and Bryant have had the most success to date. McCauley played with the Baltimore Colts for 11 seasons and broke many of the club's rushing and scoring records set by Alan Ameche and Lenny Moore. Bryant was the USFL's Player of the Year in that league's first season. He joined the Washington Redskins in 1986.

Horton, Sammy Johnson and Leon Johnson were recruited as quarterbacks. All of the others were high school halfbacks, although McCauley was more highly regarded as a defensive back.

Those players have turned in some of the greatest individual performances in ACC history. In fact, Carolina players have had five of the six-best rushing days in league history and six of the top eight. Fenner set the ACC rushing record in 1986 by gaining 328 yards against Virginia, although that mark was surpassed by Wake Forest's John Leach last year against Maryland. Martin had 291 in 1988 against Duke. Lawrence had 286 against Virginia in 1977 and McCauley gained 279 against Duke in 1970. Then comes Voight's 261 against the Blue Devils in 1976. And in 1990, Means rushed for 256 yards in the season finale vs. Duke.

Actually, Means is the only player to have two performances in the league's top 10 list of best rushing days. The 256 yard-day at Duke is the eighth-best total and the 249-yard outing at Maryland in 1992 stands tied for the 10th-highest total.

Top single-season efforts ever in the ACC have been McCauley's 1,720 yards in 1970 and Voight's 1,407 in 1976.

It has been performances like those which have made Carolina's tailback position what it is— a spot filled with tradition, a spot for special players, a spot for 1,000-yard rushers.

Choo Choo: The Incomparable Charlie Justice

There is an understandable tendency by sports fans to be wary when an athlete is called "the absolute greatest ever" or "the best who ever played."

It is so difficult to compare athletes of the past with those of today that such descriptions are generally regarded as exaggerations of over-zealous publicists.

Even with that in mind, however, it is undeniably safe to say that the greatest all-around football player ever to wear Carolina Blue was Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice.

Some have even said Charlie Justice was the best all-around player in the history of the South. We won't go that far even though there's a good chance it's true. We don't want to make our readers too wary.

Charlie Justice was more than just a great football player. He was a bonafide superstar...a hero...a legend in his own time. He had an impact on his home state as no other athlete had ever had before or few have had since.

During his four years in Chapel Hill, from 1946 to 1949, Justice helped guide the Tar Heels to three major bowls. For one week during the 1948 season Carolina was ranked as the nation's number one college football team. The Tar Heels ended that year rated third, the best finish in school history.

It is no wonder then he was held in great esteem by everyone in the state. Certainly, the time was right for a hero like Charlie Justice. The war had just ended and people wanted to turn their attention to more pleasant things. They wanted someone to help them forget the trauma they had just suffered. So they looked for heroes and they found Charlie Justice.

In his book, "They Made the Bell Tower Chime," the late Bob Quincy summed up Charlie Justice's college career quite succinctly. An excerpt is repeated here:

The Justice era of 1946-49 was the most exciting in Carolina's football history. Charlie was the ringleader of a circus of thrills. He set the pace, but his backing was superb. Carl Snavely had so many football players he couldn't have named them all had he taken a memory course. The Tar Heels operated from the single wing with the kind of variations that at times resembled the Harlem Globetrotters' pre-game ball-handling act. The four seasons netted 32 victories, seven losses and two deadlocks. Plus three major bowl appearances.

The 170-pound Justice was one of the nation's most sought-after players when he enrolled at Carolina. Some called him the hottest property in the history of football at that time. He had been a standout at Asheville's Lee Edwards High, leading the Maroons to two unbeaten seasons. He was All-Southern two years at Asheville, and as a member of the Shrine Bowl football team in 1942 he scored three touchdowns against South Carolina, a record that still stands.

The Navy became home for Charlie during the war years, and he became a phantom on a pro-studded Bainbridge Navy Squad. After two years of romping for Bainbridge against opponents across the country, he was a target for pro offers from the Philadelphia Eagles and Washington.

Charlie wanted an education, and scouts stayed in pursuit. He chose Chapel Hill after seriously considering South Carolina and Duke. An off-hand remark by Snavely—"I hope he comes out for football"—became a classic understatement.

Justice was all his press clippings indicated—and more.

Smart! Example: In the Virginia Tech opener, Justice had two kicks blocked. He bristled and vowed it would never happen again. It didn't during his collegiate career.

After Virginia Tech's 14-14 stalemate, a shocker to say the least, the Tar Heels played at Miami. Early in the game, Justice went back to punt. The Hurricanes came hard with an all-out rush to block him. He faked the kick and ripped off a 65-yard touchdown run.

In the Virginia game his freshman year he gained 170 yards in 17 carries with runs of 18, 40, and 56 yards. He had seen little practice because of a leg injury, but the Cavaliers were certain he carried a spare appendage.

Choo Choo (he acquired the name at Bainbridge when a gob remarked, "He runs along just like a choo choo train,") was excitement. He was all eagerness on the sidelines and all business when he moved into the tailback slot. He thrived on duty, and he was a master of the quick kick, a devastating rusher, a good passer, and a fake artist who could charm a cobra.

Jack Fitch, a thick-legged back who occasionally shared duty with Justice when not playing on the wing, sized up Charlie's style by noting, "Justice has the ability to be running at full speed, stop suddenly, and then be back at full speed almost instantly. He was never regarded as fast in terms of a track man. He had a change of pace that couldn't be matched, and he knew how to follow blockers as well as any back I've ever watched."

Justice was blessed by having excellent blocking backs in front of him (Joe Wright, Don Hartig, Eddie Knox, Paul Rizzo, Bobby Weant) and two fullbacks in Hosea Rodgers and Walt Pupa who could pass as well as run. Pupa had been at tailback in pre-war years.

The Snavely system called for a spinning fullback, fakes and counter fakes, fullback pass plays and reverses. It was a dashing brand of football made more exciting by men who had the ability and maturity to accept Snavely's often complicated maneuvers.

> From Choo Choo: The Chorlie Justice Story (by Bob Quincy and Julion Scheer)

A book, "Choo Choo", documents the career of Charlie Justice. He was a folk hero and deserved the special treatment. The great Benny Goodman and the late Johnny Long recorded the Campbell-Beebe song, "All The Way Choo Choo." It sold by the thousands.

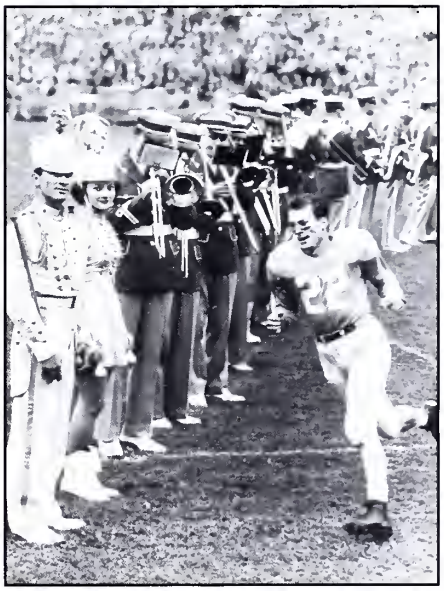
Typical of Justice was the Georgia game of 1948. He scored three times against the Bulldogs in a 21-14 triumph, the climax being an 84-yard punt return. At mid-way point that season, the Tar Heels were ranked No. 1 in the nation.

Justice erased more records than a company of auditors during his four years at UNC. He scored 234 points and passed or ran for 64 touchdowns. As a ball carrier he accumulated 2,634 yards.

His total offense record is still in the books at 4,883. His punting average for four years was 42.6 yards per kick for 231 boots. Justice also was a dependable defensive player, going both ways on occasion for the Tar Heels and also as a Redskin.

Justice seemed to peak when the traditional games were being played. He led the Tar Heels to four straight wins over Duke. He was an All-America mention as a freshman and made many of the major teams as a junior and as a senior. He was runner-up for the Heisman Trophy to Doak Walker of SMU in 1949.

Charlie's finest moment came in the College All-Star Game of 1950 at Chicago's Soldier Field. He was voted the MVP of the game for good reason. The All-Stars walloped the Philadelphia Eagles, led by Steve Van Buren, 17-7. Justice gained 133 yards individually, or 48 more than the Eagles posted as a team. He set up a touchdown on a 60-yard pass from Eddie LeBaron of College of Pacific.



Every year since Charlie's departure from Chapel Hill, someone has a "find" who is labeled as "the next Charlie Justice." No player has yet come up to Choo Choo's standards. Good runners, yes! Expert passers, yes! Booming punters, yes! But for endurance, ability to dazzle the crowd and overall quality, there was only one Charlie Justice.

Carolina's Linebacker Tradition

For more than the past decade, the most dynamic defensive player in the National Football League was Lawrence Taylor, the sensational linebacker of the New York Giants and another in a long line of standouts at that position from the University of North Carolina.

Taylor captured pro football's most prized award in 1986 when he was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player. That award came after he led the Giants to a Super Bowl triumph. The MVP trophy gave Taylor a sweep of the NFL's top individual honors in just his sixth year in the league. In January 1991, Taylor again led the Giants to the top of the professional football world as New York became Super Bowl champions for the second time.

Taylor roared into the NFL in 1981 as few rookies ever have. He not only was the league's Rookie of the Year, but also the NFL Defensive Player of the Year as well. In his decade with the Giants he has established himself as the outside linebacker with whom all others must be compared.

Of course, Taylor's success came as no surprise to those who followed his great career at Carolina.

And the fact that Taylor played for the Tar Heels was no surprise to NFL fans. Carolina has been turning out star linebackers for years.

The biggest star of them all may well be Taylor. The second player chosen in the 1981 NFL draft, he actually helped turn the Giant franchise around. New York, which had only a 4-12 record in 1980, improved to 9-7 in Taylor's first year there. The Giants made the playoffs for the first time since 1963.

The major reason for that improvement was an outstanding defense featuring Taylor. The New York offense wasn't great by any means, but the defense was strong enough to offset that. Quick and powerful with tremendous instincts, Taylor presented a major problem for opposing offenses. He actually redefined the outside linebacker position.

In his first year in the league, Taylor received more votes than any other NFC player in balloting for the Pro Bowl.

Taylor, who retired after the 1993 season, was an All-Pro selection in 10 of his 12 NFL seasons and was a Pro Bowl selection in each of his first 10 years in the league . Four times he was named Defensive Player of the Year.

Taylor had similar success at Carolina. He was a consensus All-America and the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year in his senior season. During that fall of 1980, he led a Tar Heel defense which helped Carolina post an 11-1 record, equalling the most wins in school history.

Taylor had really begun to develop into a true superstar late in his junior year. He finished third on the team in tackles that fall, had five sacks and made six tackles for losses. Then he was sensational against Michigan in the Gator Bowl.

That set the stage for a dynamic senior season in which Taylor seemed to make big plays every week. He had 55 solo tackles, 16 sacks and six tackles for losses. He forced three fumbles, recovered three and made plays that had to be seen to be believed. Even then instant replay would have been helpful.

LAWRENCE TAYLOR: Is called by many observers the greatest defensive player in the history of the National Football League. A 10-time All-Pro and the Defensive Player of the Decade, Taylor was the 1986 NFL Most Valuable Player and led the New York Giants to two Super Bowl titles.

However, as mentioned earlier, Taylor was not the first Tar Heel linebacker to reach stardom in the NFL. The year before Taylor entered the league, the NFL's best rookie linebacker was Buddy Curry of the Atlanta Falcons. Curry had won All-ACC honors at Carolina in 1977 and 1979. He was a key figure, as just a sophomore, on a 1977 Tar Heel defense which gave up the fewest points in the nation.

Two former Carolina linebackers helped their teams reach the Super Bowl in the 1970s. Chris Hanburger sparked a Redskin defense which took Washington to Super Bowl VII and John Bunting was a key performer for the Philadelphia Eagles when they reached Super Bowl XV.

Carlton Bailey, the captain of the 1987 Tar Heel squad, led the Bills to Super Bowl XXVI when he picked off a John Elway pass and returned it for a touchdown in the American Football Conference Championship Game.

While Hanburger and Bunting were two of the NFL's premier linebackers during the 1970s, two of the league's best a decade earlier were also former Tar Heels— Rip Hawkins of the Minnesota Vikings and Bill Koman of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Like Curry, Hanburger and Hawkins were two-time All-ACC choices during their college days. Jimmy DeRatt, a Carolina linebacker in the early 1970s, also won all-conference honors twice.

Other Tar Heel linebackers who have made the All-ACC team since 1970 are Bunting, Taylor, Bill Richardson, Mike Mansfield, Darrell Nicholson, Lee Shaffer, Chris Ward, Mike Wilcher, Micah Moon, Brett Rudolph, Dwight Hollier and Tommy Thigpen.

Hollier was a dominant force at inside linebacker during Mack Brown's first four years and led the ACC in tackles twice. He was first-team All-ACC in 1990 and was a preseason All-America choice in 1991 but missed the first four games of the year due to an injury.

Thigpen fought through a myriad of injuries but was still one of the finest defensive players in all of college football. He was a first-team All-ACC choice in 1991 as he led the team in tackles with 106 and was considered one of the hardest hitters in the college game.

The 1993 UNC defense featured Bernardo Harris, a second-team All-ACC selection, and co-captain Rick Steinbacher, a third-team all-league choice. Harris, an outside linebacker, signed a free agent contract with the Kansas City Chiefs.

Carolina's Retired Numbers

The number 22 was almost as well known in this state as the athlete who wore it—Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice. One of college football's all-time superstars, Justice was an All-America halfback at Carolina from 1946 to 1949. In fact, those years generally are known as simply "The Justice Era" in Chapel Hill.

Justice still holds numerous school records, including the career total offense mark. A tailback in Coach Carl Snavely's single-wing attack, he was a dynamic weapon as a runner, passer, punter and return specialist. Justice is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame.

Bill "Cotton" Sutherland was a blocking back on the first of the Justice teams in 1946. Although just a freshman from Laurinburg, he showed great promise as a player and was extremely popular with his teammates.

However, in the spring of 1947 he was killed in an automobile accident. Sutherland was named one of the Tar Heels' three captains for the 1947 season. Snavely was stunned by the loss of Sutherland's life and was instrumental in getting his number 46 retired.

Number 50 belonged to Art Weiner, a two-time All-America end in the late Forties. It appeared Weiner was meant for stardom when he scored a touchdown on his first collegiate play against Virginia Tech in 1946.

In 1947 Weiner caught 20 passes for 396 yards, averaging 19.8 yards a reception. It was an amazing total considering that the Tar Heels were a power-packed team, loaded with talent and featuring a number of outstanding ends.

However, Weiner's figures were to get even more impressive. He won All-America honors as a junior, catching 31 passes and finishing seventh in the nation in receiving. As a senior he led the country in pass-catching with 52 receptions. That total still stands as the school single-season record. His 106 career catches are the third most in Tar Heel history.

But, Weiner was more than just a great receiver. He was also a star defender in a time when players were expected to play both ways. In fact, his most famous play at Carolina probably was one he made on defense. He stormed through the Duke line to block a field goal attempt on the game's last play to preserve a 21-20 Tar Heel win over the Blue Devils in his senior year.

Weiner went on from Carolina to play in the Senior Bowl and was voted the game's outstanding lineman. He played briefly with the old New York Yankees, but a knee injury ended his career.

How great of a player was Weiner?

Well, Wally Butts of Georgia, one of the game's winningest coaches and himself a former end, once called Weiner "the greatest pass-catching end I've ever seen."

In December 1992, Weiner joined college football's other immortals as he was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame.

Another end, Andy Bershak, wore 59. Also a two-way performer. Bershak won All-America honors in 1937. He was a brilliant defensive player and a solid receiver, leading the team in catches as a senior.

Bershak also played basketball at Carolina. He wasn't a high scorer, but was a rugged rebounder and, as might be expected, an excellent defender.

However, Bershak believed there was more to life than just athletics. He tried to excel in every phase of student life and did so. He was an honor student and a member of the Order of the Golden Fleece and the Order of the Grail, the University's two most prestigious honorary societies. He also served as president of the Athletic Association.

A man with a great love for his alma mater, he stayed on at Carolina as a graduate assistant coach.

Unfortunately, his life came to a tragic, early end. He came down with Bright's Disease and died in 1943.

Carolina's first All-America, George Barclay, wore the number 99. He was a three-year starter at offensive guard and linebacker. At 5-11 and 185 pounds, he excelled as a downfield blocker and was a tenacious tackler.

Barclay was a special thorn in the side of Virginia fans. In 1933 he intercepted a Cavalier pass and ran 35 yards for a touchdown as the Tar Heels scored a 14-0 victory. The following year he opened the game's scoring with a 55-yard interception return for a touchdown as Carolina won, 25-6. He is one of just four Tar Heel players to have two interception returns for touchdowns.

Carolina posted a 7-1-1 record in his senior year as Barclay became the school's first All-America player. He was named All-America by the Associated Press, Grantland Rice for Collier's, the All-America Board and Williamson.

A native of Natrona, Pa., Barclay worked for several seasons after graduation as an assistant coach at various institutions and became a head coach for the first time in 1950 at Washington and Lee. Barclay became an assistant coach at UNC in 1952 and took over for Carl Snavely in 1953. Barclay held that post for three seasons. He returned to Carolina as an assistant coach in the mid-1960s.

Barclay was inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in 1977.

Justice Prevails On 1950 College All-Star Game

When Charlie Justice was selected to the 1950 College All-Star team ta play against the Philadelphia Eagles, Justice was chasen only to return kickoffs. After the first return hawever, lawa caach Dr. Eddie Anderson instructed Justice and Eddie LeBaron to remain in at back and run the first series.

Justice ran wild, carrying the ball nine times far 133 yards and caught five passes. He had two long runs af 47 and 31 yards and caught a 60-yard tauchdawn pass fram LeBaron. Justice was an averwhelming chaice far Mast Valuable Player hanars. In making the MVP presentatian, Wilfred Smith af the Chicaga Tribune remarked, "No halfback has ever done better against the pro champions in the histary af the game."

Talbott Outshines Big Stars At '66 Shrine Game

There were eight All-Americas an the East team at the 1966 East-West Shrine Game in San Francisca, but the man who shane the brightest was a Caralina quarterback wha had led his Tar Heels ta twa wins the previaus seasan — two-spart star Danny Talbatt.

Talbatt tied the East-West recard for touchdown passes with three and led the East to a record 513 yards in a 45-22 victary. Talbatt was a surprise starter, but quickly praved his warth by campleting each af his initial 11 passes. Talbatt cannected on scaring strikes af 25 yards ta Gene Washington (Michigan State), nine ta Ken Last (Minnesota) and 14 ta Jack Clancy (Michigan). Talbott was named the game's Mast Valuable Player.

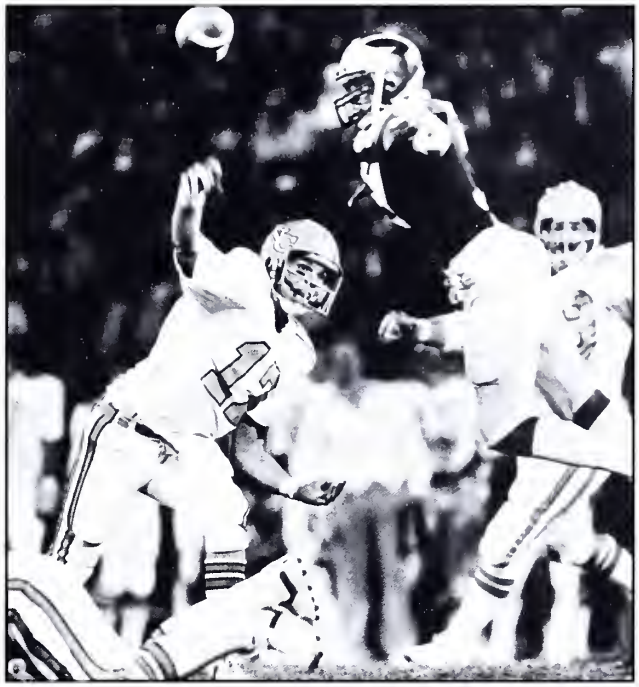
Carolina's Bowl History

Carolina's bowl history started with three New Year's Day appearances during the late Forties when Charlie Justice was the big star of some of the school's greatest teams. Perhaps the most famous of those games was the 1947 Sugar Bowl which matched UNC against Georgia. This game produced one of the most controversial plays in bowl history.

Carolina was leading 7-0 in the third period when Bulldog defensive end Joe Tereshinski intercepted a Tar Heel pass. He then flipped a lateral to Dick McPhee who raced to the UNC 14. Carolina argued the lateral was a forward one and the play should have been called back. However, the officials ruled differently. Georgia went on to score and a 20-10 victory.

Justice was sensational running and punting when the Tar Heels returned to the Sugar Bowl two years later, but Oklahoma won the game, 14-6. Justice also played well in the 1950 Cotton Bowl, but Carolina lost to Rice, 27-13.

The Tar Heels' next bowl appearance did not come until 1963, but Ken Willard made the wait worthwhile in sparking a 35-0 win over the Air Force. He ran for 94 yards and scored the opening touchdown to key the runaway victory.



MATT KUPEC: Completed 18 posses for 161 yards, including o game-winning 12-yord strike in the third quorter to leod Corolino to o 17-15 win over Michigon in the 1979 Gator Bowl. Kupec wos nomed MVP of the 1977 Liberty Bowl os well os co-MVP in thot win over the Wolverines.

Beginning in 1970 Carolina made 12 bowl trips in 17 years. After dropping a 48-26 decision to Arizona State in the 1970 Peach Bowl, the Tar Heels and Georgia made bowl history in the 1971 Gator Bowl. This is the only time in history brothers have opposed each other as head coaches in a bowl game with Bill Dooley's Tar Heels taking on his brother Vince's Bulldogs. The game was a great defensive struggle with Georgia coming from behind to win, 7-3.

Carolina capped an 11-1 season in 1972 with a dramatic 32-28 win over Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic was the big star, completing 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards. It was his 62-yard touchdown pass to Ted Leverenz which gave the Tar Heels a 24-21 halftime lead.

Tech came back to go ahead, 28-24, but Vidnovic hit Leverenz with a 13-yard TD strike with just a minute to play to bring Carolina back. The Tar Heels then sealed the win when tackle Ronnie Robinson dropped Red Raider quarterback Joe Barnes for a safety.

Mike Voight and James Betterson each had big days rushing in the 1974 Sun Bowl, but Carolina couldn't stop the veer attack of Mississippi State. The two teams combined for 901 yards of offense, but the Bulldogs won, 26-24, when the Tar Heels were stopped on a fourth-and-one at their own 43 during a last-minute drive.

Kentucky blanked Carolina, 21-0, in the 1976 Peach Bowl and the following season the Tar Heels dropped a heartbreaking 21-17 decision to Nebraska in the Liberty Bowl. Sparked by quarterback Matt Kupec, Carolina had a 17-7 lead in the fourth quarter. But, the Cornhuskers rallied behind the play of reserve quarterback Randy Garcia.

Kupec and Amos Lawrence were the biggest stars in Carolina's 17-15 win over Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl. Kupec directed a 97-yard touchdown drive in the third quarter which put the Tar Heels ahead to stay, 14-9. Jeff Hayes later added a 32-yard field goal. Michigan scored with 1:28 left, but missed on a two-point pass. Lawrence rushed for 118 yards and Kupec hit on 18 of 28 passes. Taylor, Buddy Curry, Darrell Nicholson and Donnell Thompson led a defense which forced four turnovers.

Lawrence again was the big star in a 16-7 win over Texas in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl. He rushed for 104 yards and had a 59-yard touchdown run. Carolina's other scoring came on a two-yard plunge by Kelvin Bryant and a field goal by Hayes.

But, the key to this game was a Tar Heel defense which limited the Longhorns to just two first downs and only 36 total yards in the second half. Taylor was all over the field making sensational plays, although safety Steve Streater was chosen the game's defensive MVP with an interception, fumble recovery and a 63-yard punt.

In an eerie setting the following year, Carolina defeated Arkansas, 31-27, in the Gator Bowl. The field was shrouded in fog much of the night, making it almost impossible to see the action from the press box. ABC Sports had to switch to lower-level cameras to cover the game. Bryant ran for 148 yards and his backup, Ethan Horton, added 144.

At one time UNC led in this game, 31-10. After the Razorbacks had cut that deficit to 31-27, they got the ball back and were driving inside Tar Heel territory in the closing moments. But, freshman nose guard Ronnie Snipes, in on only his third play of the game, sacked quarterback Brad Taylor for a 17-yard loss on third down to help preserve the win.

Horton again was the big star in the 1982 Sun Bowl as Carolina came from behind to defeat seventh-ranked Texas, 26-10. Coming off the bench for an injured Bryant, Horton rushed for 119 yards and one touchdown.

The Tar Heel defense was brilliant, making two great goal line stands, and shutting down the Texas attack in the second half. Rob Rogers and Brooks Barwick added a pair of field goals despite weather conditions which featured a wind chill factor of 12 degrees and snow throughout the game.

That Sun Bowl game made Carolina the first Atlantic Coast Conference school ever to win four straight bowl games. But, that streak came to an end with a 28-3 loss to Florida State in the 1983 Peach Bowl.

Everything about the trip to Honolulu for the Aloha Bowl was great except for the game itself— a 30-21 loss to Arizona. The Tar Heels spotted the Wildcats a 30-0 lead, before putting on a big second-half rally. Torin Dorn finally got Carolina going against a rugged Wildcat defense with an Aloha-record 58-yard touchdown run.

Then Norris Davis made two big defensive plays, intercepting a pass and blocking a punt. Mark Maye threw to Randy Marriott for one score and got the other himself on a three-yard run. Nine minutes were still left to play. But, despite driving inside Arizona territory twice more, Carolina could not score again.

On Jan. 2, 1993, the Tar Heels rallied from a 14-0 deficit to score a 21-17 win over Mississippi State before a Georgia Dome record crowd of nearly 70,000 fans. Bracey Walker blocked two third-quarter punts and returned the second one for a game-tying touchdown. He also broke up a fourth-quarter pass which Cliff Baskerville intercepted and ran back 44 yards for the winning touchdown.

Natrone Means was the offensive MVP with 128 yards rushing and one touchdown and Walker was named the defensive MVP.

Last year, Alabama broke a 10-10 halftime tie with a pair of long touchdown marches and defeated the Tar Heels, 24-10, in the Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl. Quarterback Jason Stanicek set UNC records for most bowl game completions (19) and yards passing (225) and split end Corey Holliday also set Carolina bowl game highs with nine receptions for 125 yards.

THE FOOTBALL BOWL COALITION

The Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Fiesta Bowls (Tier One) have joined with the ACC, Big East and the Notre Dame in a partnership to provide the opportunity for the champions of the ACC, Big East and Notre Dame to appear in one of the aformentioned bowl games each year.

The ACC and Big East champions are guaranteed a spot in the Orange, Sugar or Cotton Bowl each year.

The current commitments of the conference champions of the Big Eight to the Orange Bowl, Southeastern to the Sugar Bowl and Southwest to the Cotton Bowl remain intact, leaving two additional berths open in the four Tier One coalition bowls.

These two spots will be filled from a pool of "at large" teams which will include the next best team (as selected by the Tier One coalition bowls) from the following five conferences — Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Eight, PAC-10 (whose champion remains committed to the Rose Bowl) and Southwest.

The three "at large" teams NOT selected to the Tier One coalition bowls will then be available for selection to the Tier Two bowls of the coalition.

The team selection date for all the bowls involved in the coalition (Tier One and Two) will be following the completion of regular season play on December 3.

The selection process is as follows:

1. Whenever Notre Dame, the ACC and the Big East champions occupy the number one and two rankings in the final combined Associated Press and USA Today/CNN regular-season polls, they must play the national championship game in the Fiesta Bowl.

2. Whenever the number one or two team in the final combined Associated Press and USA Today/CNN regular-season polls come from among the ACC champion, Big East champion or Notre Dame, and the host conference champion from among the Sugar, Cotton or Orange Bowl is ranked number one or two, these teams must play one another in the bowl of the host conference champion.

3. Barring the above circumstances, the Orange, Sugar and Cotton Bowls will select first in order of the final rankings of their respective host conference champions. Following that selection, the Fiesta Bowl will have two selections from the remaining pool of five teams.

4. Once these selections have been completed the remaining three "at large" teams will be available to the Tier Two bowls. The Gator Bowl, selecting first, will choose one of the three teams. The final two teams will face each other in the John Hancock Bowl.

5. The ACC and Big East champions and Notre Dame have the right to pass a Tier One selection for a higher payout, to avoid a rematch of a regular season game or to avoid playing in a particular bowl game for the third consecutive year.

6. A team may pass a selection to a Tier Two bowl only to avoid a rematch of a regular season game or to avoid playing in a particular bowl game for a third consecutive year.

Additionally, the ACC has reached an agreement with the Peach Bowl which guarantees a conference team in that bowl. After Tier One and Two bowls have made their selections, the Peach Bowl will select an ACC team based on: (1) ACC standings; (2) national rankings; (3) strength of schedule.

Also, the ACC, the Big 10 Conference and the Hall of Fame Bowl match schools from each conference to the January 2 game in Tampa, Fla. After the coalition and Peach Bowl have selected its teams, the Hall of Fame Bowl will select a fourth team from each league, provided that the teams have at least seven victories.

Carolina's Bowl History

1947 SUGAR BOWL
January 1, 1947
Georgia 20
North Carolina 10

NEW ORLEANS, LA. — The 1947 Sugar Bowl, which matched Carolina against Georgia, is one of the most famous Tar Heel games of the Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice years and produced one of the most controversial plays in bowl history.

Carolina was leading 7-0 in the third period when Bulldog defensive right end Joe Terreshinski intercepted a Tar Heel pass at the Georgia 24-yard line. He then flipped a lateral to Dick McPhee who raced 52 yards to the Carolina 14.

The Tar Heels argued the lateral was a forward one and the play should have been called back. However, the officials ruled differently. Georgia went on to score the tying touchdown on a quarterback sneak by Johnny Rauch.

Carolina's lone touchdown came on a Walt Pupa two-yard run following an interception by Tar Heel guard Bob Mitten.

The Tar Heels' last lead at 10-7 came on a Bob Cox field goal.

The Georgia game-winner came on a 67-yard touchdown pass from Trippi to Dan Edwards less than three minutes after the UNC field goal.

1949 SUGAR BOWL

Oklahoma 14
North Carolina 6

NEW ORLEANS, LA. — The Tar Heels returned to the Sugar Bowl in 1949 and were defeated 14-6 by the University of Oklahoma, representing the Big Seven Conference. A record crowd of 85,000 turned out to see the Charlie Justice-led Tar Heels battle Bud Wilkinson's Sooners.

Carolina threatened early, advancing via a Justice to Art Weiner 23-yard pass play to the OU 15. Justice's next pass, however, was intercepted by linebacker Myrle Greathouse, who rumbled 59 yards to the Carolina 13. Sooners' quarterback Jack Mitchell scored the first points of the day on a two-yard run.

The Heels capitalized on an OU fumble later in the first quarter and Justice marched the team down to the two, from where Hosea Rodgers scored. The conversion was wide right.

Carolina advanced to the OU eight late in the first half, but could not score.

The Sooners regained the lead for good in the third quarter. Quarterback Darrell Royal connected for 37 yards with Frankie Anderson and two plays later, Lindell Pearson ran it in from eight yards out.

Justice was brilliant, rushing for 84 yards and passing for another 57.

1950 COTTON BOWL

Rice 27
North Carolina 13

DALLAS, TEXAS — Charlie Justice had another great day in the 1950 Cotton Bowl, but it just wasn't enough as the Tar Heels fell to fifth-ranked Rice, 27-13. The Owls had a 9-1-0 record, while Carolina came in at 7-3 and was ranked 16th.

Rice and Carolina played to a scoreless draw in the opening quarter, but Rice opened the scoring in the second quarter when quarterback Tobin Rote hooked up with Billy Burkhalter for a 44-yard touchdown. Bobby Lantrip's three-yard run built a 14-0 halftime lead, and once the third quarter got underway, the Owls kept right on rolling.

On its second possession of the second half, Rice traveled 77 yards in six plays, capped by Rote's 17-yard scoring pass to "Froggie" Williams. Burkhalter made it 27-0 with a 12-yard fourth quarter score.

The Tar Heels got two touchdowns in the final eight minutes. Justice hit Paul Rizzo for a two-yard touchdown pass and then Rizzo ran it in from two yards.

Justice managed 59 yards rushing and another 63 in the air, while Art Weiner led the Tar Heels with five receptions for 41 yards. Billy Hayes topped the UNC rushing attack with 107 yards on 19 carries.

The 1950 Cotton Bowl marked the end of the "Choo-Choo" Justice era that began in 1946. The Tar Heels went 32-9-2 in that time and played in three major bowl games.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. — It had been 13 years since Charlie Justice had led Carolina to the 1950 Cotton Bowl, so when the Tar Heels got a chance to play in the 1963 Gator Bowl, they made the most of it. The Tar Heels walloped the Air Force, 35-0.

Ken Willard was the hero of the day. He ran for 94 yards on 18 carries and scored the first touchdown which keyed the runaway victory. When Willard wasn't running in this rout, he did his share of the offensive blocking.

Joe Robinson scored on a five-yard pass and also caught a two-yard conversion to give the Tar Heels a 20-0 lead at intermission.

Coach Jim Hickey's Tar Heels had 23 first downs to the Academy's 14, and piled up 370 yards in total offense compared to 260 for the Falcons.

Gary Black completed all six of his passes for 71 yards and one touchdown and he rushed for another score. Junior Edge was good on five of his nine throws for 42 yards.

Carolina finished the season 9-2, its best record in Hickey's eight years at the helm.

ATLANTA — The Tar Heels exploded for 26 second quarter points but couldn't hold off Arizona State in the final two quarters as the Sun Devils rallied for an exciting 48-26 victory before 52,126 fans at Grant Field.

Carolina spotted unbeaten ASU 14 points on a pair of touchdowns runs, from eight and 33 yards, by Bob Thomas.

Don McCauley got the Tar Heels on the scoreboard with a one-yard plunge set up by a long pass from Paul Miller to Ricky Lanier. ASU scored on its next series, though, on a 67-yard TD catch by J.D. Hill.

Carolina then scored the final three touchdowns of the first half to go into the intermission with a 26-21 lead. First, Miller passed 37 yards for a score to Tony Blanchard. Then McCauley rushed in from 17 yards out. And finally, the All-America McCauley scored again from four yards.

Arizona State dominated a second half which was played in a heavy Atlanta snowstorm and without Miller, who left with an injury.

Monroe Ely scored twice and Thomas reached the end zone for the third time in the Sun Devils' 27-point second half.

1971 GATOR BOWL

Georgia 7
North Carolina 3

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. — For the first time since 1950, the Tar Heels were playing in a bowl game for the second consecutive season. This time, the Tar Heels would fall, 7-3, to the Georgia Bulldogs.

The game produced a bowl first — brothers coaching against each other. Bill Dooley led the Tar Heels and older brother Vince coached the 'Dawgs.

The game was a defensive struggle with all the points coming in the third quarter.

In the opening half, Carolina had the best chance as linebacker Jimmy Webster, voted the Tar Heels' MVP this day, blocked a punt out of bounds at the Georgia 24. A fumble, though, denied Carolina any points.

A pair of long runs by Lewis Jolley brought the Tar Heels down to the Georgia 16 on UNC's first possession of the second half. But a procedure penalty forced the Heels to settle for a 35-yard field goal by Ken Craven.

A 31-yard pass play from Andy Johnson to Roy Hunnicutt set up the Georgia touchdown. Jimmy Poulos, on the very next play following Hunnicutt's catch, took it in for a score from 25 yards. Poulos rushed for 161 yards on the afternoon and was named the Georgia MVP.

EL PASO, TEXAS — Carolina capped an 11-1 season in the 1972 Sun Bowl by defeating Texas Tech, 32-28. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic brought the Tar Heels from behind with a late scoring drive which he capped by tossing a 13-yard touchdown pass to wingback Ted Leverenz.

That play, with a minute to go in the game, gave UNC a 30-28 lead. Carolina added two points moments later as Ronnie Robinson sacked quarterback Joe Barnes in the end zone.

The Tar Heels led 9-0 in the second quarter on a field goal by Ellis Alexander and touchdown run by Dick Oliver. The Red Raiders rallied, however, for the next 21 points and a 21-9 lead. Vidnovic hit Leverenz for a 62-yard touchdown and Billy Hite carried it in from three yards to reestablish a 24-21 Carolina lead. Tech gained the advantage, 28-24, with 7:41 to play in the game.

Vidnovic completed 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards and two touchdowns. Ike Oglesby rushed for 71 yards and Sammy Johnson added 52.

The Red Raiders had a touchdown called back in the second quarter. All-America guard Donald Rives ran a blocked punt back for an apparent score, but Tech was flagged for unsportsmanlike conduct and the points were nullified.

EL PASO, TEXAS — Despite mounting 402 yards in total offense, the Tar Heels dropped a 26-24 decision to Mississippi State in a record-setting Sun Bowl.

Terry Vitrano's two-yard touchdown with 3:41 remaining was the game-winner. That capped a 16-play, 80-yard drive which lasted nearly seven minutes.

Carolina had taken a 24-20 lead with 10:26 to play on an Ellis Alexander field goal.

The Bulldogs totaled a Sun Bowl record 499 yards in total offense — 455 of those yards came on the ground via the veer offense. Walter Packer rushed for 189 yards, Vitrano added 164 and quarterback Rockey Felker gained another 69.

The Tar Heels also got big ground gains from Mike Voight and James Betterson. Voight picked up 90 yards on 17 carries and Betterson chipped in with 84 on 19 rushes. But Voight was stopped a yard shy of a first down on Carolina's last offensive play of the game.

Betterson had two rushing scores and Chris Kupec, who led the nation in pass completion percentage, connected with Jimmy Jerome for 29 yards and a touchdown.

five first downs and 108 yards total offense in a 21-0 loss to Kentucky.

Voight, who had rushed for 1,407 yards, injured his ankle in practice two days before the game when he stepped in hole going out on a pass play. Ironically, Voight had caught just four passes the entire season.

The teams battled to a tie at the half, but Carolina thought it had put up points in the first quarter. On the Tar Heels' opening drive, Matt Kupec hit split end Walker Lee with a 50-yard touchdown pass, but officials ruled the Tar Heels offside and the play came back.

Early in the third quarter, Kentucky defensive end Bud Diehl knocked the ball from Kupec's grasp and the 'Cats recovered at the UNC 21. That set up the first of three rushing touchdowns by fullback Rod Stewart.

Stewart, who finished with 104 yards and the game's MVP trophy, added fourth quarter scores from 13 and three yards.

Subbing for Voight, freshman Doug Paschal led the Tar Heels with 41 yards rushing.

MEMPHIS, TENN. — Thirteenth-ranked Nebraska scored two fourth quarter touchdowns and rallied for a 21-17 victory over 13th-rated North Carolina.

Reserve quarterback Randy Garcia came off the Cornhuskers' bench in the final period to toss a pair of touchdown passes, including a 33-yard game-winner to Tim Smith with 3:16 left in the game. That came six plays after Nebraska recovered a fumble at the UNC 43.

Tar Heel quarterback Matt Kupec, voted the game's Most Valuable Player despite the loss, had led the Tar Heels to a 17-7 lead in the third quarter. Kupec, who connected on seven of his 11 passes, threw touchdown passes to Bobby Williams and Bob Loomis. Tom Biddle added Carolina's final points with 4:17 left in the third on a Liberty Bowl record 47-yard field goal.

Carolina led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, allowing just 7.4 points per game through the regular season. Nebraska was the only team to score more than 14 points against the Tar Heels all season.

The 1977 Liberty Bowl would prove to be Coach Bill Dooley's last game at Carolina. Dooley resigned in January 1978 to accept the dual position of head football coach and athletic director at Virginia Tech.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. — Matt Kupec completed 18 of 28 passes for 161 yards and one touchdown and Amos Lawrence rushed for 118 yards to lead North Carolina to a 17-15 win over Michigan in one of the most exciting Gator Bowls ever.

Trailing 9-0, the Tar Heels rallied for the next 17 points and then held off a Michigan threat late in the game to post the first of Dick Crum's four consecutive bowl wins.

Carolina had two chances early on to score first, but high winds knocked down a pair of Jeff Hayes field goal attempts. Michigan did score first following a turnover and added a 53-yard touchdown reception by Anthony Carter to move ahead 9-0.

Doug Paschal put the Heels on the board with a two-yard touchdown. Early in the third, Kupec engineered a 16-play, 97-yard touchdown drive which culminated in a 12-yard pass to Phil Farris. Hayes added a 32-yard field goal in the fourth for a 17-9 UNC lead.

Michigan, thwarted once already in the fourth when Lawrence Taylor scooped up a loose ball, did manage another Carter touchdown with 1:28 left, but the two-point conversion pass to Carter fell short.

Kupec and Lawrence were named co-Most Valuable Players.

HOUSTON, TEXAS — Amos Lawrence rushed for 104 yards and one touchdown and the Tar Heel defense allowed just two first downs and 36 total yards in the second half as Carolina played error-free football to defeat Texas, 16-7 in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

ROD ELKINS: Led UNC thraugh the fag and the Arkansas defense en raute to a 31-27 win aver the Razarbacks in the 1981 Gatar Bawl.

Lawrence, the game's Most Valuable Offensive Player, scampered 59 yards for a touchdown on the Tar Heels' fourth play from scrimmage for a 7-0 lead. Following a Texas touchdown in the second quarter by Mike Luck, Carolina regained the advantage for good on a one-yard run by Kelvin Bryant.

Jeff Hayes converted a fumbled punt snap by the Longhorns into a 31-yard field goal with 2:03 to play in the third quarter.

The defense, which allowed 224 yards and 11 Texas first downs in the opening half, dominated the second 30 minutes. UNC safety Steve Streater was named the defensive MVP as he had an interception, recovered a fumble and also boomed a 63-yard punt, longest in Bluebonnet Bowl history.

Carolina's 11-1 record matched the best season in UNC history and the Tar Heels finished ranked eighth in the nation by the Associated Press and ninth by United Press International.

1981 GATOR BOWL
December 28, 1981
North Carolina 31
Arkansas 27

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. — Kelvin Bryant rushed for 148 yards and Ethan Horton added 144 to lead the Tar Heels to a 31-27 victory over Arkansas in the Gator Bowl.

Bryant and Horton shared Most Valuable Player honors, but it was a key defensive stop by seldom-used freshman Ronnie Snipes which saved the night for Carolina.

After building a 31-10 lead midway through the fourth quarter, Carolina watched as Arkansas rallied for two touchdowns and had the ball again inside Tar Heel territory with less than a minute to play. But on third down, Snipes, who had played just two previous downs in the contest, sacked quarterback Brad Taylor for a 17-yard loss.

The game was deadlocked at 10-10 at the half, but Carolina came right out to open third quarter and put together a 13-play, 85-yard drive which was capped by Horton's one-yard scoring run.

UNC quarterback Rod Elkins scored on a one-yard sneak on the Tar Heels' next drive. He was set up by a 21-yard run by Horton and a 13-yard scamper by Bryant.

Horton then churned out 42 yards on six plays and went in from four yards out to give the Heels a 31-10 lead with 7:29 to play in the game.

The Razorbacks scored with 5:05 to play, recovered an onside kick and scored again with 2:44 left. UNC punter Jeff Hayes took an intentional safety with 1:44 to play. That gave the ball back to Arkansas and set up Snipes' defensive gem.

Carolina closed the season with a 10-2 record and became the first team in Atlantic Coast Conference history to finish in the Top 10 of both wire services in successive years. Carolina finished the year rated eighth by United Press International and ninth by Associated Press.

Texas 10

EL PASO, TEXAS — North Carolina scored the final 23 points of the game in the final quarter and held seventh-ranked Texas to 48 total yards in the second half as the Tar Heels won their fourth consecutive bowl game, 26-10.

Ethan Horton was the offensive star of the game, rushing for 119 yards in the second half. He replaced injured starter Kelvin Bryant, who totaled 45 yards before leaving the game with an injured ankle.

Trailing 10-3 after three quarters, the Tar Heels vaulted into the lead via three consecutive field goals. Sophomore walk-on Rob Rogers, who had connected from 53 yards in the second quarter, hit a 47-yard field goal with 14:51 to play to narrow the Texas lead to 10-6. Brroks Barwick was then successful from 24 and 42 yards, the latter putting the Heels into the lead at 12-10 with 4:56 left.

Horton tacked on a three-yard touchdown with 2:17 remaining and Mike Wilcher fell on a loose ball in the end zone for another touchdown with 1:35 to play.

The defensive series of the game came five minutes into the third quarter with Texas leading 10-3 and with the ball, third-and-goal at the Carolina one. Two times, Texas fullback Ervin Davis tried to find the end zone, but twice he was hurled back. First, it was Wilcher who made the hit and then on fourth-and-goal, Greg Poole made the stop which changed the game.

The Christmas Day affair was played with intermittent snow flurries and a wind-chill reading that hovered around 12 degrees.

Carolina became the first Atlantic Coast Conference school to ever win four consecutive bowl games.

ATLANTA — Florida State scored the first two times it had the ball and penalties and turnovers cost the Tar Heels dearly, as the Seminoles whipped Carolina 28-3 in a miserably cold and half empty Peach Bowl.

Played before only 25,648 fans in low-20 degree temperatures, the Peach Bowl loss snapped the Tar Heels' consecutive bowl game winning streak at four.

The Seminoles held the Tar Heels' running game to just 32 yards and three first downs. One thousand-yard rushers Ethan Horton and Tyrone Anthony were held to 30 and 27 yards, respectively.

Florida State quarterback Eric Thomas, making his first start, connected with Weegie Thompson on touchdown passes on the 'Noles first two series.

Midway through the second quarter, the Tar Heels fumbled away a punt at their own 16 and FSU converted via a one-yard touchdown run.

Early in the fourth quarter, UNC quarterback Scott Stankavage hit tight end Arnold Franklin with a fourth down, 10-yard TD pass, but the play was called back due to a holding penalty. Carolina elected to kick for three and put up its only points of the day on Brooks Barwick's 36-yard field goal.

The loss was the fourth in the final five games of the season and ended a season in which Carolina had been ranked third in the nation.

1986 ALOHA BOWL
December 27, 1986

North Carolina 21

HONOLULU, HAWAII — The University of Arizona converted four North Carolina fumbles into 20 points and then held off a furious Tar Heel rally in the fourth quarter to win the 1986 Aloha Bowl, 30-21.

Carolina dug itself a 30-0 hole and did not put points on the board until freshman tailback Torin Dorn broke a 58-yard touchdown run with 2:19 left in the third quarter.

The Tar Heels fumbled five times in the first three periods and the Wildcats turned them into two touchdowns and two field goals.

Following Dorn's electrifying run, the Tar Heels quickly moved back within striking distance with two more touchdowns in the next seven minutes.

Mark Maye hit Randy Marriott with a six-yard touchdown pass after a Norris Davis interception and then followed a Davis punt block with a two-yard scoring run of his own to narrow the margin to 30-21 with 9:10 to play.

That, however, was as close as Carolina could challenge. A couple of dropped passes thwarted two more Carolina drives.

Dorn was the game's leading ground-gainer, rushing for 101 yards on only seven carries. Maye completed 17 of 34 passes for 171 yards; he hooked up with Eric Starr a game-high seven times for 53 yards. Carolina had 375 yards in total offense, compared to 342 for the Wildcats.

ATLANTA — Bracey Walker blocked consecutive third-quarter punts, returning one of them for the tying touchdown, and forced a fourth quarter interception which Cliff Baskerville returned 44 yards for a touchdown to lead Carolina to a 21-17 win over Mississippi State in the 1993 Peach Bowl.

Walker's heroics capped a fierce second-half comeback in which the Tar Heels came from 14 points behind to score three times, although just once on an offensive possession.

Mississippi State took a two-touchdown lead in the first quarter and had two more scores in the second quarter called back due to holding penalties.

Mack Brown's squad regrouped at halftime, however, and cut the lead to 14-7 just six plays into the third quarter. Mike Thomas connected with Bucky Brooks for a 53-yard completion on the fourth play of the half and Natrone Means scored from a yard out two snaps later.

BRACEY WALKER: Returns a blocked punt 41 yards for a game-tying touchdown in UNC's 21-17 win over Mississippi State in the 1993 Peach Bowl.

Means led the Tar Heel offense with 128 yards rushing and was named the game's Offensive MVP. Walker was the Defensive MVP.

Later in the third quarter, Walker blocked a punt but Carolina's field goal try was unsuccessful. On the next series UNC again forced the Bulldogs to punt and this time Walker blocked the kick, picked up the loose ball and raced 24 yards untouched for the tying score.

Early in the final quarter Walker forced a midair loose ball with a jarring hit and Baskerville plucked the ball out of the air and sprinted 44 yards down the left sideline for what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Carolina held off two late MSU rallies to hang on to the lead. Linebacker Kerry Mock's interception stopped one threat at the UNC 17 with 2:32 to play and a fourth-down incompletion with just six seconds left halted the Bulldogs at the Carolina 21-yard line.

Tar Heelia

Academy Award

The 1992 Oscar for Best Supporting Actor was awarded to Jack Palance for his portrayal of an old-time trail boss at a modern dude ranch in "City Slickers." Palance is a former Carolina football player. Walter Jack Palanske was a member of the 1937 freshman team and the 1938 varsity.

All-Americas

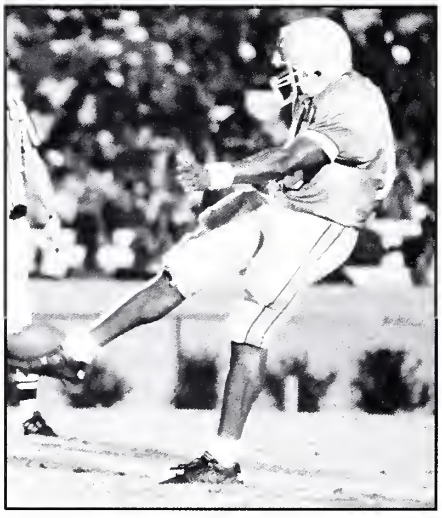
Twenty-four Carolina football players have received first-team All-America honors with numerous others gaining second- and third-team recognition. The first-team selections stretch from guard George Barclay in 1934 to free safety Bracey Walker last fall and include five players who were so honored in two different seasons: end Paul Severin in 1939 and 1940, halfback Charlie Justice in 1948 and 1949, end Art Weiner in 1948 and 1949, offensive guard David Drechsler in 1981 and 1982 and defensive tackle William Fuller in 1982 and 1983.

All-Star Candidates

Twelve Carolina players won either first or second-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors last year. Tailback Curtis Johnson, offensive tackle Ethan Albright and free safety Bracey Walker were first-team selections, Leon Johnson was the ACC Rookie of the Year and Walker was a first-team All-America choice.

Both the Johnsons, second-team selection quarterback Jason Stanicek and second-team choice defensive end Marcus Jones are back this year and rate among the best players in the country at their positions. Tight end Greg DeLong, injured at mid-season last year, has also received preseason All-America attention.

Defensive back Jimmy Hitchcock, linebacker Kerry Mock, defensive end Oscar Sturgis and punter Mike Thomas are also expected to challenge for all-star honors. And of course, there will be a few other players, like Leon Johnson last year, who will sneak up on us this fall. But we'll let you know about them as we go along.



MIKE THOMAS: Hopes to regain the form at punter which made him a first-team All-ACC and Freshman All-America selection in 1992.

Bainbridge

When Charlie Justice signed up to enlist in World War II, he was asked which branch of the service he preferred. He told the draft board that since he couldn't swim, he should be in the army. Justice, of course, was immediately put in the navy and sent to Bainbridge Naval Training Station in Maryland. Each base fielded its own football team. Although lined up against college and professional stars, Justice just out of high school, was an immediate sensation. Bainbridge went undefeated in 1943 and was ranked the number one service team in the country.

It was at Bainbridge that Charlie got his nickname. An observer commented, while watching him play, "Say, that Justice kid runs like a choo choo train." The tag stuck and Charlie Justice became interchangeable with Choo Choo Justice. Charlie spent two seasons at Bainbridge before being shipped to Hawaii. He played there for the Pearl Harbor Navy All-Stars.

Blanchard, Felix (Doc)

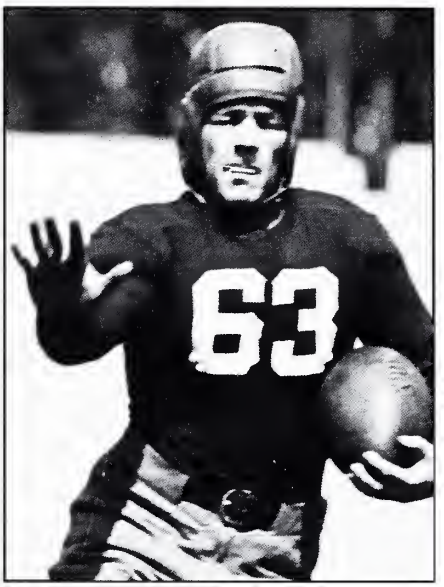
The great Army All-America fullback who actually began his college football career at Carolina. He enrolled at Chapel Hill in 1941. But, because of the war, the army took him away. He was enrolled at West Point where he became a three-time All-America and part of the famed Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside tandem with Glenn Davis. Blanchard won the Heisman Trophy in 1945.

Blanchard's son, Tony, was a star tight end at Carolina from 1968 to 1970 and is still tied for 14th place on the school's all-time receiving list.

Bowl and Basketball Titles

When Carolina defeated Mississippi State, 21-17, in the January 2, 1993 Peach Bowl and then edged Michigan, 77-71, in the NCAA men's basketball championship game, it marked only the ninth time in history a school had won a bowl game and the men's basketball title in the same school year.

The Tar Heels accomplished the same feat in the 1981-82 school year when they defeated Arkansas in the 1981 Gator Bowl and then beat Georgetown in the 1982 NCAA basketball finals.



JOHNNY BRANCH: Is one of the greatest punt return men in Carolina history. He averaged nearly 20 yards per return in 1931 and was one of a number of stars on the 1929 "Team of a Million Backs."

Branch, Johnny

Every Carolina fan knows the exploits of Charlie Justice, the school's most famous player and one of the greatest kick returners in history. However, there are some longtime observers of football in this state who say Justice might not have been the school's best at returning punts. They say Johnny Branch was unsurpassed in that area. As a senior in 1931 he averaged 19.8 yards on 10 returns. His career average had to be an incredible figure as evidenced by that season and partial records of his long plays the two previous years.

As a sophomore, Branch didn't play fulltime as he was just one of the stars on the famous "Team of a Million Backs." However, he did have a 60-yard punt return against Georgia Tech and another of 43 yards against Maryland. In 1930 he had punt returns covering 63, 68, 85 and 96 yards. The 85-yard sprint was for a touchdown against Virginia Tech, while the 96-yarder, still the longest in Tar Heel history, accounted for a score against Maryland. As a senior, the 5-5, 150-pound Branch had a 44-yard touchdown return against Virginia.

Cancelled Games

Carolina only played eight games during the 1952 season. Early-season contests against N.C. State and Georgia had to be cancelled because of a polio outbreak on campus.

The entire 1917 and 1918 seasons were wiped out because of World War I.

Carolina Blue

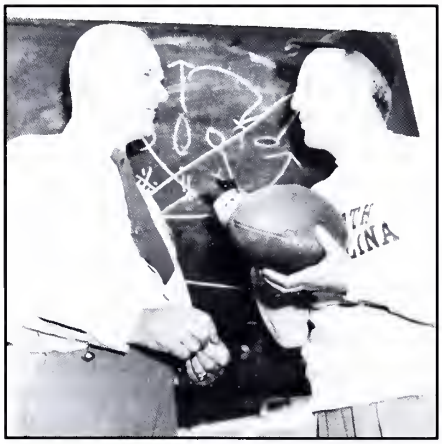
The light blue color worn by Carolina athletic teams. It has many different names – light blue, powder blue, sky blue and Columbia Blue among others. However, the accomplishments of Tar Heel athletes have really made the color synonymous with the University so it simply bears its name. Carolina Blue is identified by PMS color #297.

This is also the name of a newspaper which covers Carolina athletics. Call 1-800-637-BLUE for subscription information.

Carolina Cheerios

This is the most famous cheering section in Carolina history. It was organized in 1927 by head cheerleader Kay Kyser. The Cheerios, which included a chorus and dance group, was made up of 300 students dressed in blue coats and white trousers.

In his time in Chapel Hill, Kyser also wrote a new fight song, "Tar Heels On Hand." He was a hustler who kept things hopping in the stands even if they were dragging on the field. Kyser was a natural showman so it was no surprise when he made it big in show business. His bands were world-famous. His "College of Musical Knowledge" was one of the most popular of all radio shows. He made movies and The New York Times called him "The Genius of Jazz." But, in Chapel Hill, he is still best known for the Cheerios.



CARL SNAVELY (L) AND KAY KYSER: Are two of the legendory figures in Corolino's storied gridiron history. Snovely wos one of the most successful cooches ond Kyser o populor fon, cheerleoder ond showmon.

Davie, William R.

"The Father of the University," a revolutionary patriot, a governor of North Carolina and the recipient of the University's first honorary doctor of laws degree. A graduate of Princeton, Davie was a cavalry officer in the Revolutionary War and a delegate to the Philadelphia Constitutional Convention in 1787.

Davie persuaded this state's new legislature to charter the University, the first state institution in the country. Ratification occurred just 20 days after North Carolina ratified the U.S. Constitution. Only days after the University was chartered, a bill was introduced to provide building funds and support for the school through escheats and tax exemptions. Davie prepared the ordinance fixing the seat of the University and played a leading role in the construction of buildings and the selection of the faculty. Davie steered a building loan through the General Assembly in December of 1791 which was the only state appropriation for the University until after the Civil War.

Davie, as grand master of masons, laid the cornerstone to Old East, now the oldest state university building in the nation, on October 12, 1793. This day is observed as University Day each year.

First Game

Carolina's first football game was played against Wake Forest on October 8, 1888. The site was the State Fair in Raleigh.

The University was represented by a team of sophomores who had defeated the rest of the student body and was looking for new opposition. A game with Wake Forest sophomores was arranged. The rules of "foot ball" were vastly different than they are now. In fact, there were very few rules at all. However, according to The News and Observer of Raleigh, "the game was exciting and was played by excellent teams on both sides. It was witnessed by a tremendous crowd. The players were uniformed and were a skilled and active set of boys."

Each goal counted two points and Wake won the game, 6-4. This was the first intercollegiate game of "foot ball" played in the state of North Carolina.

Forward Pass

Carolina has been given credit for throwing the first forward pass in a game. The immortal John Heisman is the man who gave that distinction to the Tar Heels in a 1928 edition of Collier's Weekly. Heisman had witnessed the event in a Carolina-Georgia game played in Atlanta on October 26, 1895.

Franklin Street

Most famous street in North Carolina. It's the main thoroughfare through downtown Chapel Hill. However, there are other streets and roads in this college town with famous names. Among them are Justice, Weiner, Barclay, Severin, Branch, Fetzer and Hartig. All were named for important figures in Carolina's football history.

Freshman Scoring Record

Leon Johnson set Atlantic Coast Conference single-game and single-season scoring records for a freshman last fall in a sensational rookie season.

Johnson, a tailback from from Morganton, N.C., led the league in scoring with 100 points. That broke the ACC record of 85 set by N.C. State's Ted Brown in 1975. Johnson had 26 points in the regular-season showdown with Duke, eclipsing the mark of 24 Brown had against Clemson in his initial season. Johnson had tied that earlier in the year with four touchdowns against UTEP.

Johnson finished 13th nationally in scoring and was the NCAA leading scorer among all freshman players.

General College

All freshmen and sophomores are enrolled in the University's General College and must complete 13 to 14 general education courses along with about seven free electives. The general education courses reflect the faculty's thoughts on what students will need to lead productive and meaningful lives. These courses are in English, mathematics, the sciences, history and foreign language. They provide the foundation for balanced development and are taken by all students, regardless of intended fields of study.

The Gray Fox

One of the many nicknames given former Carolina Coach Carl Snavely. He was also King Carl, The Dutch Master and Mr. Single Wingback.

Snavely directed Carolina to its greatest heights in football, taking the Tar Heels to three major bowl games during the Charlie Justice Era in the late 1940s.

A quiet man on and off the field, Snavely was a perfectionist who rarely passed out compliments. In fact, it was not until after Justice graduated that Snavely finally admitted Charlie was the best player he had coached.

Snavely was a pioneer in the use of films in football. He watched game films day and night, at his office and at home. His only vice was ice cream. Late-night visitors to his home would often find him with a quart of ice cream in his lap and his black german shepherd Barnaby at his side, watching films of the previous game.

In 32 seasons of collegiate coaching at Carolina, Bucknell, Cornell and Washington University in St. Louis, he compiled a brilliant 180-96-16 record. He is a member of the National Football Hall of Fame.

Highest-Scoring Team

Carolina last year set school records with 421 points in regular-season play and a scoring average of 35.1 points a game. That broke the records of the 1914 team which had 359 points and the 1929 team which averaged 34.6 points a game.

Homecoming

Scheduled this fall for October 8 against Georgia Tech.

Improved Records

Carolina is the only school in the Atlantic Coast Conference to post an improved record in each of the last four seasons. As Mack Brown's rebuilding program has begun to show dividends, the Tar Heels have gone from 1-10 in 1989 to 6-4-1 in 1990, 7-4 in 1991, 9-3 in 1992 and 10-3 last fall.

Johnson and Johnson

Carolina's sensational tailback tandem of Curtis Johnson and Leon Johnson each rushed for over 1,000 yards last season while alternating at that position. Curtis, a rising junior from Greensboro, N.C., ran for 1,034 yards, while Leon, a rising sophomore from Morganton, N.C., had 1,012.

That marked the fourth time in Tar Heel history that Carolina has had a pair of 1,000-yard tailbacks in the season season. That was also accomplished in 1974 with James Betterson and Mike Voight, 1980 with Amos Lawrence and Kelvin Bryant and 1983 with Ethan Horton and Tyrone Anthony.

Kenan, William Rand Jr.

Benefactor of Kenan Stadium. A native of Wilmington, N.C., Kenan was an 1894 Carolina graduate who lettered in both football and baseball. During his work on campus, he discovered carbide, laying a foundation for success in chemistry, engineering and building. His skill as an engineer and his ability as a director of great enterprises put him in demand all over the world. In railway transportation, gas lighting, water and electric power, hotel and real estate operation, he became one of the financial and industrial leaders of his generation.

Kenan Stadium was built as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. He was an 1864 Carolina graduate and she was a Chapel Hill native.

Long Series

The opponent Carolina has faced the most since first beginning play in 1888 is Virginia. This year's game in Charlottesville marks the 99th meeting between the two schools with the Tar Heels holding a 53-41-4 edge in the rivalry.

Excluding current and former Atlantic Coast Coast Conference opponents, Carolina has faced Davidson and Tennessee more than any other teams. UNC has played Davidson 39 times, but the two have not met since 1942.

The Tar Heels and the Volunteers have played 31 games with the last meeting in 1961. That series was set to be renewed in this decade, but the games had to be cancelled when the SEC and ACC both expanded. Tennessee had to make room for Arkansas on its schedule and Carolina had to pick up Florida State.

MORRIS MASON: Longtime equipment monoger sow every Corolino footboll gome for more thon 45 seosons. He wos one of the true institutions of Tar Heel footboll.

Mascot

The Tar Heel football mascot is a white ram. A ram has served in this capacity since 1924. Cheerleader Vic Huggins brought the original Rameses to campus. He had decided on a ram as a mascot by linking it with the nickname of Tar Heel star Jack Merritt, a fullback known as "The Battering Ram." Rameses has been a fixture ever since. The current Carolina mascot is Rameses XXVI.

Mason, Morris

Longtime equipment manager at Kenan Fieldhouse. Mason served in that capacity from 1927 to 1973, an incredible 46-year period. It has been said that he came with the stadium since his first year on the job was also the initial season Kenan Stadium was used. Although he did not travel with the team in his first year, Mason saw every Tar Heel football game, home and away, for the next 45 seasons. In that period he became a friend and confidant to a multitude of Carolina players. When he passed away in 1992, Tar Heel players from the '20s to the present joined his family in mourning his loss.

Morehead Patterson Bell Tower

Located next to Kenan Stadium and generally referred to as simply the "Bell Tower." The 172-foot tower is built on a knoll and rises 200 feet above the campus. It contains a 10-bell carillon which calls students to class, provides twilight music and serenades football fans.

The Bell Tower was dedicated on November 26, 1932, just prior to the Carolina-Virginia football game. A replica of the famous West Point chime, the tower was the $100,000 gift of John Motley Morehead, then American ambassador to Sweden, and Rufus Lenoir Patterson II, a New York tobacco manufacturer. A concert, played entirely by hand, was heard 12 miles away in Durham. Students in the UNC Department of Music were bell ringers, playing the tower's carillon and presenting evening concerts and programs for special campus events until the late 1960s. Then an electronic control system for the chimes and a clock was installed.

The bells range in weight from 300 pounds to almost two tons. The bell tower has a four-faced clock and is crowned with a spire. The area surrounding the tower base was landscaped during the structure's construction and now is a small garden with pathways lined by boxwood hedges.

NCAA Champion

Although numerous Tar Heel players have ranked among the national statistical leaders over the years, the last NCAA statistical champion from Carolina was Don McCauley in 1970. McCauley led the nation in all-purpose running, averaging 183.7 yards a game. He also had the most total rushing yards (1,720) and points (126), but other players had better per-game averages in those categories.

NFL Degrees

Carolina players active in the National Football League in 1993 had a graduation rate of 78 percent (18 of 23). Overall, the NFL graduation rate is 33 percent.

THOMAS SMITH: Who played for the Buffalo Bills in last yeor's Super Bowl, is one of the 18 former Tar Heels in the NFL who have eorned their degrees. That 78 percent rote of graduation among pro players dwarfs the NFL's overage rate of 33 percent.

Old Well

The visual symbol of the University, the Old Well is pictured frequently on school literature, Christmas cards and student souvenirs. Originally the sole water supply for campus, the Old Well still serves as a popular water fountain with water supplied by the town of Chapel Hill.

Patterson Medal

Established in 1924, the Patterson Medal is awarded to a Carolina senior who has demonstrated general excellence in athletics throughout his or her college career. The award, first given by Dr. Joseph Patterson in memory of his brother, John Durand Patterson, is based on athletic accomplishment, sportsmanship, leadership and general conduct.

The 1992 winner was Dwight Hollier, the Tar Heels' two-time captain and All-Atlantic Coast Conference linebacker. Hollier concluded his career with a UNC-record 502 tackles and was awarded all-conference recognition for both football and academics.

Thirty football players have been awarded the Patterson Medal including six in the last 25 years. They include Don McCauley, Charles Waddell, Lawrence Taylor, David Drechsler, Ethan Horton and Hollier.

One father-son combination even won the Patterson Medal. Offensive guard Ray Farris took home the prize in 1930 and 32 years later the honor was accorded to Ray Jr, a quarterback.

Picture Day/Fan Appreciation Day

Scheduled for Sunday, August 21st. Fans are invited to meet the players, get autographs and take pictures on the field with the team.

Pines

These are the tall trees which so magnificently surround Kenan Stadium. There is an old story that when Mr. Kenan gave the stadium to the University, he did so on condition that the stadium never rise higher than the tops of the trees. That's why expansion of the stadium has been done gradually over the years as the trees have continued to grow. It's a great story, but it's not true.

Practice

North Carolina practices daily during the football season on Navy Field. This complex includes three complete football fields, one of them covered by artificial turf for special uses. Located on Ridge Road, Navy Field is just a short walk from Kenan Fieldhouse and the Tar Heel locker rooms.

Practices are open to the media and UNC students with the exception of the weeks prior to games against in-state rivals Duke, N.C. State and Wake Forest. Coach Mack Brown feels these games are especially important and believes closing practice to outsiders makes his players more cognizant of that fact.

Rankings

Carolina finished the 1993 season ranked 19th in the Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters and 21st in the USA TODAY/CNN poll of college coaches.

The initial poll of 1994 was by the Football Writers Association of America at the annual NCAA Football Forum. Despite losing 14 starters from last season, the Tar Heels were chosen as the nation's 18th best team in that rating.

Rathskeller

Better known as simply The Rat. Located in Amber Alley on Franklin Street, The Rat is a longtime favorite of Carolina students and alumni for food and drink. Established in 1946, The Rat serves sandwiches and pizza for lunch and complete dinners at night. In addition to food, you can also find out who's going to win Saturday's college football games, the name of the next heavyweight champion of the world and how far ahead of the opposition the Dodgers are in the National League West if your waiter happens to be Davis Blackwell. Like most of The Rat's waiters, Davis has been around so long the place wouldn't be the same without him.

Sacks

Last year Carolina had more of them than any other Atlantic Coast Conference team, recording 38 in 12 regular-season games. That's an average of 3.2 per contest. Georgia Tech was second with 33 in 11 games, a 3.0 average.

The Tar Heels' individual leader was preseason All-America lineman Marcus Jones. While splitting time with senior Austin Robbins at one tackle spot, he was credited with 8.5 sacks. That was the third-highest total in the ACC.

Smith

The most popular surname of Tar Heel football lettermen. There have been 22 lettermen named Smith since the first letter was given in the spring of 1889. That includes 19 players and three managers. The first was a manager, William Hopton Smith, in 1903. The first player was John Franklin Smith, a tackle, in 1932. The most recent were members of last year's team — defensive back Tim Smith and manager Van Smith.

The Carolina Smiths have been Bennie, Bill, Bob, Brian, Charles, Chip, Darryl, Dick, Foyell, Pennington, Jan, John Franklin, Mark, Mike, Moyer, Quinton, Robbie, Roger, Thomas, Tim, Van, Wade and William Hopton.

The second-most popular last name is Johnson with 15. Third is Jones with 14.

Team of a Million Backs

This was the great 1929 team which was so deep it fielded four entire backfields, all featuring top-notch performers. Carolina posted a 9-1 record under Coach Chuck Collins, scoring 346 points to rank second to Southern California in the nation in scoring. That average of 34.6 points per game for a season stood as a school record until it was broken by last year's team. The only loss was a 19-12 setback to Georgia when the Bulldogs scored twice in the fourth quarter to win. A fumble recovery set up the winning touchdown.

Among the famed "million backs" were Jimmy Ward, Pete Wyrick, Jim Magner, Jimmy Maus, Strud Nash, Phil Jackson, Chuck Erickson, Henry House, Pap Harden, Yank Spaulding, Johnny Branch and Rip Slusser. Jackson threw a 78-yard touchdown pass to Spaulding against Maryland that year which stood for 14 seasons as the longest pass play in school history and still ranks as the fifth-longest.

Thousand-Yard Backs

Carolina has produced more 1,000-yard rushers, 23, than any other school in the country. The latest Tar Heels to reach that figure were Curtis Johnson (1,034) and Leon Johnson (1,012) last season. Carolina's group of 13 different 1,000-yard rushers includes Don McCauley, who set an NCAA rushing record with 1,720 yards in 1970, and Amos Lawrence, one of only two major-college players in history to post four 1,000-yard seasons.

When Johnson and Johnson, alternating at tailback, each gained 1,000 yards in 1993, it marked the fourth time Carolina has had a pair of 1,000-yard rushers in the same season. Mike Voight and James Betterson accomplished that feat in 1974, Lawrence and Kelvin Bryant did it in 1980 and Ethan Horton and Tyrone Anthony both had 1,000 in 1983.

Unbeaten Season

Carolina's only perfect record was posted in 1898 when the Tar Heels were 9-0-0. Seven opponents were shut out–Guilford (18-0), North Carolina A&M (34-0), Greensboro Athletic Association (11-0), Oak Ridge (11-0), Davidson (11-0), Georgia (53-0) and Auburn (29-0). VPI fell, 28-6, and in the season finale on Thanksgiving Day, Virginia was beaten, 6-2. Will Reynolds was the Tar Heel coach and the team was captained by Frank Rogers.

The regular Carolina lineup included Herman Koehler (165 pounds) and Edwin Gregory (166) at end; Samuel Shull (175) and Frank Bennett (190) at tackle; R.S. Cromartie (155) and Ike Phifer (190) at guard; Mink Cunningham (148) at center; Rogers (150) at quarterback; Vernon Howell (138) and James MacRae (160) at halfback; and Ernest Graves (170) at fullback.

UNC

As the bumper sticker says, "University of National Champions." Carolina has won 20 national titles since 1981 — at least one national team championship in each of the last 13 school years. Leading the way is Anson Dorrance's amazing women's soccer program which has captured 12 national crowns. Lacrosse follows with an impressive four, while the men's basketball team has two and the field hockey team and women's basketball team has one each in that span.

Last year, the women's soccer team went 23-0 to claim its eighth consecutive NCAA crown and the women's basketball team won the national championship with a 33-2 record.

Victory Bell

The Victory Bell goes annually to the winner of the Carolina-Duke football game. A large bell on wheels, this prize to the winner of the big season finale was originated in the 1940s by Norm Sper, a Tar Heel cheerleader.

Wade, Jake

First fulltime sports information director at Carolina. A 1923 Tar Heel graduate, he returned to Chapel Hill in 1946 to handle sports publicity. Until that time the sports information work was done by the University News Bureau. Jake arrived back on campus just in time to help make Charlie Justice one of the most famous college football stars of all time. The Carolina Caravan columns he wrote in news releases were a big hit with fans and newspapermen alike.

Jake had been a highly successful newspaperman himself before taking the job at his alma mater. He worked on a number of newspapers, but probably gained his greatest fame as sports editor of The Charlotte Observer where he covered most of Joe Louis' championship fights and regularly staffed the World Series. However, his columns in the Observer, Sports Parade, often were intimate pieces that had nothing to do with sports. Some of those ranked as his best columns along with colorful essays on the Carolina-Duke football rivalry.

After Jake's death in 1962, he was honored by his fellow sports information directors. CoSIDA named one of its two most prestigious awards after him. The Jake Wade Award is presented annually to a member of the media who has made outstanding contributions to the field of intercollegiate athletics.

What It Was Was Football

The comedy single which launched the career of Andy Griffith. The story of a Saturday at Kenan Stadium was a national hit and Griffith, a Carolina Alumnus, went on to a sensational Hollywood career.

Carolina Athletics 1993-94

• Sears Cup Contenders. The Tar Heels won the first-ever Sears Cup trophy awarded to the overall top national athletic program. The award, which counts national finishes in 11 men's and women's programs, is sponsored by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics. Carolina compiled 806.5 points, 20 more than runner-up Stanford.

•A Record Number of ACC Championships. Carolina won a conference record 11 ACC titles in 1993-94. Carolina broke its own record of nine titles, set in the 1991-92 school year. While Carolina won 11 ACC titles in 1993-94, the rest of the league combined to win 12 championships. Duke finished second to Carolina in 1993-94 with three ACC titles. Carolina has now won a minimum of seven ACC championships each of the past seven school years.

Tar Heel Sports Network

Village Sports, Inc. of Chapel Hill produces all University of North Carolina football and basketball media entities, including television, radio and game program products.

Village Sports has produced the Tar Heel Sports Network play-by-play for the past 17 years, began producing the Carolina game programs two years ago and began producing other properties in 1993.

Woody Durham and Mick Mixon will again team up to bring Carolina fans the live radio coverage of every UNC game on the Tar Heel Sports Network. Durham and head coach Mack Brown will also give fans an opportunity to phone in and talk to the head coach every Thursday evening during the football season on the Mack Brown Call-In Show.

Durham will also visit with Coach Brown on the Mack Brown Drive Time Radio Show, a daily, five minute program featuring conversations with the Tar Heels' head coach. Each of these shows are heard on stations throughout North Carolina and beyond.

The Mack Brown Television Show, hosted by Durham, is a half-hour program seen each week on a network of six stations in North Carolina and on cable networks throughout much of the United States. The show features highlights of the previous game, interviews with current and present Tar Heel players and a preview of upcoming action.

Durham is beginning his 23rd year as the play-by-play voice of the Tar Heels. A native of Mebane, N.C., Durham grew up in Albemarle, N.C. and began his broadcasting career at age 16 at WZKY Radio. He graduated from UNC in 1963 with a degree in Radio, Television and Motion Pictures.

He was sports director at WFMY-TV in Greensboro for 14 years and then worked as director of sports and development at WPTF-TV in Raleigh for four years.

Woody Durham and Mick Mixon begin their sixh year together as the play-by-play and color analyst team covering every Carolina football game.

In 1981, Durham was named vice president and executive sports director of Village Sports, Inc. He has become a permenant fixture behind the microphone of Tar Heel football and basketball since taking over the play-by-play duties in September 1971. Durham has been named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year eight times.

Woody and his wife of 30 years, Jean, are parents to two sons, Wes and Taylor. Wes handles play-by-play for Vanderbilt University and Taylor is a sophomore at Elon College.

Mixon is in his sixth year as color analyst and production manager and his first as the local producer of the Mack Brown TV Show. A Chapel Hill native, Mixon graduated from UNC in 1980 with a degree in broadcast journalism.

Mixon came to the Tar Heel Sports Network in 1989 from Columbia, S.C. where he was sports director at WIS Radio. He has also served as play-by-play voice of the Maine Guides of the Class AAA International League and as sports director of WGSC Radio in Belmont, N.C. Mick also does play-by-play for UNC baseball.
